Here is the start of this book.
It all shows the unusual; to think
That this is a common book is wrong.
Do not expect the traditional style and ideas.
But something totally different (as everyone is.)
The year's already with us passing quickly by.
The people move more slowly, all but one or two,
with their smiles ever present; under the blue sky appears,
this land of friends.
Here's to all the simple things,
The Dear "all-in-a-day's-work" things,
The smile-and-face-your-troubles" things,
Trust God to put them right!
The "done-and-then-forgotten" things,
The "can't-you-see-I-love-you" things,
The hearty "I-am-with-you" things
That make life worth the fight

On Northeastern’s Campus the wind blows
Down the walks, dorm by dorm,
To chill our bones; and up above
The sun, still bravely shines,
Scare felt by the ones below.

Mrs. Payne:
I have never thought of you as a “little old lady” even though I used the phrase. You are youngest in heart of anyone and in my heart you are #1. The friendship you have given me is the best thing that has happened to me at NEO. Thanks so much for making me a better student by giving of yourself. I will love you always.

The many hobbies
Of people
Vary in style and appeal for each
Person alive
Since they range from the most unusual, egg splats,
To the most common, just plain eating,
There should be a hobby to suit
Everyone here on campus.
Daily confronted by new experiences we dare to pass each off in fun;
And though we may be broke with roses in our rooms,
The dawn rises all our hopes again.
Several thousand people,
No two are quite the same.
Each building a foundation
For their dreams and goals.
Come on, turn the page,
And discover who they are.

What do you think during all the days and hours
That are spent inside and outside
Of the college buildings?
See for yourself, as this section unfolds,
The beautiful buildings
You take for granted.
Think and put to memory
All the happy times spent among them.
Under the bright and clear sky
Stands the Fine Arts Center
Tall and Proud
Surrounded by it's loyal subject,
the fountain.
These buildings yield memories of time spent,
In lines for enrollment and payment of fees,
On trips to the mailbox for hopeful fan mail
For studying and doing extensive research
Going to classes and gathering around for Pep assemblies.
In years to come,
These memories will bring
A laugh or a moan,
But never the less
These cherished memories are your own.
The Dawn sits looking over Ables hall, almost like a sentry guard who sees all is well, and then, moves on.
Isn't it strange
This is upside down,
But when you think
Of Shipley Hall,
And happenings there
As on Third Floor
Don't you feel confused?
Although few people appear here,
The beauty of the campus is captured.
Don't be upset to see people nowhere,
Just open the doors and go inside.
There you will find all the people.
The Student Union,
A memory to all,
serves you meals,
improves your games.
To whom doesn’t this place bring memories?
It is a strange, unexplainable place
That Shipley Hall.
The teachers are all enigmas,
and third floor contains "The Crazy Zoo."
College students hesitate
To call their dorm home,
But "What makes a home?"
Long ago I learned that
Home may be near, home may be far
But it is anywhere
That love
And a few plain lifetime treasures are.
Share your love,
Cherish your belongings
And make yourself a home
Away from home.
Amid the towering trees
The Child Development stand;
The site, a very alluring one,
Would captivate even the coldest heart.

NEO yearbook editions that do not appear on the website are not part of the collection at present. If you would like to donate a yearbook, please contact the NEO Library.
