Yes, there are some, believe it or not. There are those that are just happy-go-lucky, and then there are those that need some encouragement to produce a smile. For some it's just being around friends or just going crazy and for some possibly doing homework? But for others it demands LIBERTY! Everybody is different in that it requires different situations to make them happy. That is the reason for our theme DIMENSIONS. The old saying is "No two people are alike" and that is the basis for our idea. College life and dealing with the Business Office may be nerve-wracking, but we take the attitude "Grin and Bear it".
The task of overcoming boredom at NEO was sometimes quite a chore, but with friends around to go crazy with it wasn’t too bad. Trying to make time go by faster was accomplished by playing cards, watching TV, or just hanging around. But the best solution to fighting boredom was usually found in the presence of friends.
... they are situations we have to choose between. We are all made up of many dimensions. Different aspects of our personalities require a certain amount of time with friends, but also time to ourselves. Most of us like to have friends around that we can laugh with, be ourselves with and party with. Then there are those that help us with the little things like coloring and making messes. Friends are important to do some things with, but time alone is needed to get some things done. Not much homework gets done when a good friend is around to distract you. There are many advantages to both sides and each have their drawbacks, but both are essential to survival. Each of us is unique within ourselves but together we make something special.
or ALONE
GO GO NEO! Our fight song expressed our pride in the Norsemen. We emphasized our enthusiasm through various happenings on campus, including the cookout at Tar Creek, cheering at the football games, and participating in the parade. However, the students were not the only ones to get into the act, the faculty made their appearance known. It took campus co-operation to achieve that NEO SPIRIT!
Shelly Mallett was selected as Commons Hall's homecoming queen candidate.

Dawn Burroughs, Vice-President; Tracy Blum, Treasurer and Kim Wils Secretary.

Shawn O'Brien was selected as Vann Hall's homecoming queen candidate.
But what is the style? Dancing is a popular pastime for bored college students at NEO, and many different styles were reflected at the numerous dances held, not only in dancing, but also in dress. The Harrill-Dobson lobby became a favorite spot to hold dances and they were almost always a huge success because of the friendly atmosphere. The All-School dances gave the students of NEO a chance to dress up, hide their inhibitions and "let it all hang out."

Kathy Kimbrell better watch out because Alan McElhan seems to be up to something!

Some of the original costumes were yet to be figured out.

Buster Glass attended the Masquarade dance as ???

The over-all cheerfulness at the Mash Bash was contagious.
The Beauty (Amy Capraro) and the Beasts.

The Mash Bash brought out its share of demented personalities.

Patty Roy and Angie Valentine attended the Mash Bash hawaiian style.

The cotton-eyed-joe was a popular dance at the country and western dance.

A variety of characters presented themselves at the Masquerade dance.
With the help of our new athletic director, Nancy Bishop, the women's intramural sports was rejuvenated, and the men's continued to go strong. This program provided an outlet for the excessive energy built up by the pressure of homework and exams.

Lisa Duncan doesn't quite get to the volleyball in time.

Tracy Jones is ready for anything that comes her way.

Men's flag football was one of the rougher sports.

A look of total concentration will assure a strike for Randy Blanden, or will it??

The women's softball games quite often lacked organization.
Dena Harding goes up for the spike, much to her opponent's dismay.

Ann Hudson tries to set up Tracy May for the return.

Ann Evans thinks that a pair of sunglasses would be nice.

Brett Shriver and Brenda Fugate were both members of the team "Go For It".

Diana Stokely makes returning the volleyball look relatively simple.

Bowling was a game taken seriously by some, and then there was Mickey . . .

Jenifer Mosier attempts a serve under the watchful eye of referee Arty Howard.
The Torch-Bearers

NEO Drama Productions: a work of ART

Acting is an art!? To the cast, crew and directors of NEO Productions it is very much an art, it is a way of life. It is a job and/or hobby that takes time and discipline to become involved in. For many the opportunities are endless and to others just hearing the laughter from the audience is reward enough.

Teddy Spearing (David Engle) and Mrs. Paula Ritter (Jennifer Collingsworth) obviously enjoy the art of acting.

Mrs. Pampinelli (Rita Bennett) tells Huxley Hossefrosse (Larry Grower) to speak up as Mr. Spinkler (Chris Willard) listens intently.

Mr. Spinkler (Chris Willard) and Nel Fell (Melissa Dill) scramble to get the script back together.

When the walls start to fall it becomes very chaotic back stage even when it is on stage.
Jack and the Beanstalk

The cast of the drama production "Jack and the Beanstalk".

Rafe Haywood (Ken Harrelson) demands the money for the cow from Jack's mother (Victoria Goff).

Rinhol (Andrew Caldwell) tells Jack (Chris Willard) of the magic in the wishing well.

Jack (Chris Willard) is startled by the Giant (Jon Robinson).

The cast greets area elementary school children back stage after the performance.
Meeting friends was part of being a queen candidate.

The band, of course, made an appearance at the parade.

The 2 P's, the pageant and the parade, were just part of NEO's homecoming festivities, and this year was no different. The pageant started the excitement Friday night with the traditional esposé of street clothes and formals. Then came the question-answer session where contestants were asked a question at random and were expected to answer it based on their own experiences. It was during this time that the homecoming queen was selected. The next big event of homecoming was Saturday morning. 10 a.m. is pretty early for anyone, but we woke up to generate spirit. The parade brought out both the beauties and the beasts but we were all there for one thing: to support our Norsemen.
Industrial Technologies Society's float was truly a "work of art."

M.C., Shirl White, interviews a former homecoming queen.

DeRhonda Roye rides in style.

NEO cheerleaders build up spirit for the game to come.

Melissa Dill rides in the Masquers Club float as their queen candidate.
The Norsemen defense makes sure their opponent is down.

Coach Patterson keeps the players "up" throughout the game.

The NEO cheerleaders and Norse Stars cheer the Norsemen on before the game.

The cheerleaders lead the fans in a cheer.
Debby Newman and escort Jon Laplante.

The game’s highlights started with the crowning of the queen. There was unmistakably one happy and surprised Kim Wilson when the announcement was finally made. Kim was crowned as queen, but she was not the only one to be recognized. Lisa Harris was selected as “Miss Norse Spirit.” She was chosen by all the candidates because of her friendliness, poise, and over-all personality. She also received 1st runner-up. Melissa Dill received 2nd runner-up and Debby Newman was selected as 3rd runner-up. To end the thrill of homecoming week, the Norsemen football squad had one of their many outstanding performances of the year. The Norsemen demolished the Iowa Panthers with a final score of 63-14.
"Don't laugh your daughter could be in here!" was the slogan Dyer Hall used for Parent's Day.

September 22, 1984. The day we set aside to show our parents around NEO's campus and to show off, just a little. Even with the rain it was a success. Our parents came to see their long lost offspring and in turn were told to buy sandwiches, chances, and kisses. Although Harrill Hall tried to make us believe they were "Lil' Angels," we knew better. And to top off the day, the Norsemen defeated North Iowa.

Mama's Lil' Angels was Harrill Hall's theme.

Faculty members greet a family while they treat themselves to refreshments.

Shelly Mallot and family pose in the Dobson-Harrill lobby for a picture before she shows them around campus.

The Butler family and friend relax in Russell lobby before they break out the umbrellas and brave the rain.
yer Hall's kissing booth even tempted Harrill Hall's dorm om.

Travis Brown was on the scene in Harrill Hall on Parent's Day.

John Hockett and parents stop by the Student Union for refreshments.

Cheri Ramsey and Brenda Fugate worked at the Dobson Deli on Parent's Day.

On September 22, 1984, Russell Hall welcomed parents to the NEO campus.

The Student Union recreation room was a popular place to find fathers and their sons playing pool, like Tony O'Bannon and his father.
STUDENT SENATE
CHRISTMAS PARTY

Warming the hearts of students and small "adopted" area youngsters, the Student Senate Christmas Party was a fantastic success. This traditional event (A quarter of a century as a part of Northeastern A&M's December) gives students an opportunity to play parent to some children who would otherwise would not receive much at the holiday season. They enjoy sharing the smiles of delighted youngsters ripping into brightly wrapped gifts. Students also learn they are perhaps not as well prepared to be "parents" as they thought — when the youngsters prove to be just children after all.

Many kids waited around the Christmas tree.

Kim Jones helps her adoptee cut her food.

This little boy couldn't decide what he wanted for Christmas from Santa.

Many presents were easier to play with on the floor.

Jeff Roye assembles his kids' fire truck.
Some of the "parents" took their "adoptees" to the NEO cafeteria.

The kids not only received presents from Santa, but also NEO sponsored packages were given.

The kids even brought out the fatherliness in these guys!

Becky Caldwell makes sure her child gets enough refreshments.

Seeing little children in the cafeteria was a nice change.
The children could not conceal their eagerness as they waited for their name to be called.

Trying to get into presents was kind of hard for over-anxious fingers.

Santa always managed to bring out a smile in the children.

John Hockett and Bruce West managed to keep their "adoptees" entertained throughout dinner.

The children seemed to appreciate the cafeteria food more than NEO's students.

The Christmas Party was a huge success again!
They have hit us all at one time or another. Whether you keep your room stocked, go to the Tom’s machine or visit “The Pit” your craving has to be satisfied. But be careful you never know when YOU might get bit.

Lisa Matthews and B.J. Johnson found the Student Union was a great place to grab a bite to eat and relax.

The Munchies can even attack late at night like they did for Robert Park.

Jimmy Sarasua knows the vending machine in Harrill Lobby can come in handy.

Mark Semkoff and Russ Pope picked up a "few" items from QT.
Working Hard for the money...

The long hours, usually spent alone, the hassles from Dorm Mom and more importantly the hassles from other students. All these comprise the difficult job of being a Proctor. Although they are students just like everybody else, they have a job to do also.

Proctoring has its bad side, but there are good sides and the best one has to be that it gives them a chance to meet people they probably wouldn't have met otherwise. Even though many may not think so, they worked hard for their money.

Cindy Christian keeps her homework close by to finish between visitors.

David Candioto finds that working with friends around makes time go by faster.
PROCTORS

Randy Barrett visits with Tanya Albin during her long hours of proctoring.

Lisa Duncan is "thrilled" at the idea of being a proctor.

Pat Renfroe tries to fit proctoring into his dating schedule.

Kurtis Kite finds proctoring a great time to catch up on homework.
Developing

"Insight" as well as seeing good photographic material, students in Bob Kilman's photography class produced some outstanding results with camera/enlarger. The following were selected for inclusion in the 1985 VIKING to show what NEO A&M students learned in one class.

Campus Jobs Provide Pastimes and Prevent Empty Pockets

Most work-study jobs are just that, JOBS. They are there to help us get through school or to give us a little spending money. But most of us tried to make the best of it by remembering that our graduation date comes all too soon.

Working in the LRC gives Lance Ipock a chance to keep up with the news.

Becky Saunder, Carl Mozingo and Randy Nickel work with lab equipment as part of their job of being lab assistants.

Helping other students with their homework is part of Brenda Harwick's job as an accounting tutor.

Nancy Harmon doesn't seem to mind her temporary job.

Carmelia Ball will be glad when she can pick her own job.

Working in the bookstore isn't so bad for Denise Littlefield with Grace Ann's help.
Though different in nationality, race, creed, language and religion, men and women the world over are still very, very much alike. We all share a common humanity and a desire to love and be loved, to befriend and be befriended.
CLASSES
FRESHMEN LEARN COLLEGE SURVIVAL

Some actually came for an education, but many came to PARTY or maybe just to get away from home. But survival was reserved only for the fittest.

Tina Bell was selected as the Freshmen Class's homecoming queen candidate.

Jeff Hartung, Laura Moore, Jimmie Sarasua and Russ Pope have to get comfortable in order to thoroughly enjoy watching television.

Sophomores set different Goals

That's Us, THE SOPHOMORES OF NEO. Some of us are Ag. majors, some are Business majors and some of us still don't have a major. Some of us will go on for two more years, some will finish here and some just don't care. Although we're all here for different reasons we do have a common goal, to graduate (hopefully).

Harold Meriweather jumps out of the reach of the opposition.

Evert Jackson cannot do much to help Allan Rouse get out of the clutches of the Ellsworth player.

Anthony Florance runs out wide to escape a Langston team member.

A very determined Allan Rouse has no problem dodging the Ellsworth opponent.
With a 6-2-1 record, the 1984 Norsemen failed to make a bowl trip, primarily because of injuries to key starters, however, three players made NJCAA All-American teams: James Lee, first team defense; Ed Fashaw, honorable mention defense, and Joey Howard, honorable mention offense.

In the home opener, NE battled to a 7-7 tie with Navarro, TX, as QB Ben Reed ramped 30 yards for the Norse's only TD. Reed sustained a shoulder bruise which kept him out of the next game a 7-0 loss to Tyler, TX, on the road.

Five straight home games saw the Norse rout Northern Iowa, 35-0, before a large Parents' Day crowd; crush Ellsworth, Iowa, 49-0 for Homecoming alumni; roll over Eastern Arizona 49-0; take a 37-1 decision over Ranger, TX, and destroy Langston University Junior Varsity 49-0.

Back on the road, the Norse were upset, 19-13, at Cisco, TX, on a soggy field suffering from a week of rain, but in the finale at Robertson Field, the Golden Norseman romped over the junior varsity from Oklahoma State University 50-0.

CAGERS hold competition

With two-thirds of the season over at Viking press time, the Golden Norsemen of Coach Larry Gipson had a 13-7 overall and a 3-2 Bi-State Conference record. In the friendly confines of the NEO fieldhouse, the Norse were 8-0 but 5-7 on the road.

Mark Niece with a 12.1 average led the scoring and also contributed 5.1 rebounds per contest. Charles Prater led in rebounding with a 6.1 average while hitting at a 10.6 clip. Fred Watson led in assists with 95 and in steals with 37 through the first 20 games.

Team averages included a .484 shooting mark from the field and .600 from the free throw line. NEO was averaging 68 points per contest while holding the opposition to an average of 64.

WINNING comes easy for LADY NORSE

Heading into the last part of a tough schedule, the Lady Norse held a 16-5 overall and 4-1 conference record. Scoring in double figures for the women who were unbeaten at home were Angela Hill with a 12.9 average, Quiana Johnson at 12.2 and Sue Thomas at 10.4.

Traci McGee was the leading rebounder with an 8.3 average while Johnson had 6.8 per contest. The women outscored opponents at a 61.6 to 51.5 clip as they had a .420 percentage on field goal shooting and a .535 from the charity stripe.

NEO Baseball a hit EVERYTIME

Coach Mike Clark's Norse Nine faced a 51-game schedule plus tournament action in four classics before entering the Region II Play-offs in Tulsa May 4-6. The District Play-offs on May 16-18 determine which baseball squad represents this area in the National Finals May 27 in Grand Junction, Colorado.

Opening the season February 21 at the McLennan Tournament in Waco, Texas, the Norse also had three home tournaments: March 1-3, NEO Snowball; March 14-17, NEO Mid-States Classic and March 23-24, NEO Baseball Festival.

Coached by Mario Saenz, the NEO Soccer Vikings compiled a 5-3 fall semester record. With this experience they looked forward to a challenging spring against top ranked competition.

Defender Brett Lyndsey clears the ball.

Leo Smidlein heads toward the goal.

NEO Softball Team schedule season

CHALLENGES

Hoping to go all the way to the National tournament, Coach John Kurtz's softballers scheduled 26 season games and four tournaments this spring. Crowder College of Neosho, MO slated two meets: March 29-30 and April 19-20. NEO's Invitational was April 5-6 and the Norse were to participate in the Johnson County Tournament on April 26-27. Their regular season games were all scheduled to be doubleheaders.
TENNIS

Team waits for snow to melt

Tennis team members faced early loss of practice time because of lingering snow in Miami, but Coach Carol Calcagno's netters remained optimistic about matches with area teams this spring. Concluding the season will be the Regional Tournament for both men and women April 25 on the NEO courts.

The schedule included:

March 20  Southwest MO (W) here
March 27  NSU at Tahlequah (M&W)
March 28  Independence, KS Tournament (M&W)
April 2    NSU here (M&W)
April 4    Connors here (M&W)
April 5    John Brown at Siloam Springs, AR (M&W)
April 8 or 12  Independence, KS here (M&W)
April 11   Garland County here (M&W)
April 15   Southwest MO there (M&W)
April 18   Connors at Warner (M&W)
April 22   John Brown here (M)

Men's Tennis squad members are front row (l-r) Alan McElhaney, Darrell Whiteside, Jon Wattenburger and Mike Garner.

Women's Tennis squad members are Lise Blevins, Felicia Perry, Debbie Fisher, Maureen Crowder, Kim McDonald and Darlene Steinbeck.
Coach Rod Kramer and his tracksters got things off to a running start with their first meet at Oklahoma City on Saturday, January 19. At major meets tracksters had a chance to qualify for the Indoor Nationals which were held March 1 and 2, at the University of Arkansas. They then turned their attention toward the Outdoor National Meet which is held in May at San Antonio, Texas.

Mike Wilson practices jumping hurdles in the hallway of the gym.

With showings such as the 141 to 105½ victory in NEO’s own tournament, the Norsemen tried to wrestle their way to the top. Toward the middle of the season the Norsemen were ranked sixth in the NJCAA weekly poll.

Dear Student,

Since Northeastern A&M is dedicated to serving the educational needs of individuals who come to this campus, the 1985 edition of the VIKING is designed to tell our story as it happened in pictures and words. Just as the college is for the people, the photographs are of people — learning in many ways, in classrooms, in labs, in various activities.

You will gain a great deal of pleasure in the years ahead as you look through this yearbook and reflect on your achievements here. We hope you recall the events with the fondest memories. Remember NEO A&M with a sense of pride and belonging to a continuing tradition of excellence in education . . . You are very important part of NORSE SPIRIT. Our great traditions and spirit will continue to live and grow as you pass on that pride to younger generations. Our best wishes go with you as you continue your education, either back here at NEO A&M or at a four-year college.

Sincerely,

Bobby R. Wright

A Cappella Choir selects American Music as theme

A Cappella Choir members are talented, hard working vocalists who reflect the enthusiasm and style of director Bill Hobbins. This year Hobbins selected American Music as a continuing theme, following the burst of patriotism produced by the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles. The choir performs for student assemblies, civic clubs, public schools and in public concerts. The educational goal of A Cappella is to educate the student member in the practice of choral singing and acquaint each with choral literature.

Members practice for an upcoming performance.

Norse Band Dedicates Time to NEO SPIRIT

Promoting school spirit through music is the function of the NORSE BAND, composed of regularly enrolled students. Active during both semesters, the band performs at pep rallies, football games, parades, and as accompanists for Norse Stars at times. Second semester is devoted to concerts and performing at area high school assemblies. Members earn P.E. credits, one semester hour each term, because the marching musicians truly put forth a great deal of physical energy. Director Tom Mangus also expects a great deal of dedication, time and school spirit. Historical half-time performers, the band adds color and sound to campus activities.

BSU designed for YOU

The Baptist Student Union is designed for you, the student. The BSU is to meet the spiritual and physical needs of the NEO student, and with much prayer, the BSU council and staff seek to do this. The BSU always has been and always will be for all students regardless of their church preference.

It is our sincere prayer that the NEO/BSU has touched your life in some positive way, if not, we apologize. We've tried many things, not all worked, many did; many were touched, many were not. We cannot be all things to all students, only Christ can, and it's in His name that we strive continuously to minister to your needs as a student.

Blessings,
Bob & Deb Lipscomb

Organized to give business majors of the college opportunities for academic and social activities pertaining to their specific interests, the Business Club promotes professional attitudes in members who are learning job skills in classes.

Active throughout the year, the club sold Homecoming Mums again this year and scheduled field trips and other activities.

Debbie Long was selected as Business Club's homecoming queen candidate.
NORSE CHEERLEADERS expend effort to SPREAD SPIRIT

Proud to spread a little of the contagious NORSE SPIRIT, the Cheerleaders promote all Norsemen athletic squads regardless of the weather or the sport. Following tryouts and aches and pains of practice, Cheerleaders expend effort and strain throats to whip up enthusiasm of the players, urging the crowd to add volume to their yells of encouragement.

Cheering at the basketball games can be fun for some.
The Wrestling Cheerleaders wait, anticipating the outcome of the match.

Promoting fan enthusiasm and encouraging the Norse wrestlers, these cheerleaders maintain a constant routine of yells and hand-clapping. Their work begins with the opening match for the NEO grapplers, continuing each time a new wrestler hits the mat for the Norse.

The cheerleaders keep the wrestlers up during the tournament at NEO.

The Wrestling Cheerleaders are (l-r) Tammy Karnes, Annette Willis, Lisa Vela, Karla Laster, Karla Edmondson, Laura Doyle and Karla Cypert.
Alyssa Clairbourne was selected as College Republicans' homecoming queen candidate.

COLLEGE REPUBLICANS CAMPAIGN in '84

To provide an outlet for political feeling, the College Republicans sponsor activities throughout the year. With the 1984 campaign attracting considerable attention locally, this year's members participated in a number of educational opportunities and worked in some local campaigns. The club is open to any student, regardless of political feeling, who wishes to join in order to learn more about the Republican Party and the operation of politics within our system of government.

Off-season Norse Band forms CONCERT BAND

Following the football season, the 'marching musicians' become NEO's Concert Band. For many students performing on stage is much easier than marching. The spring semester's activities are highlighted in the traditional college concert in the Fine Arts Center. They are directed by Tom Mangus.

Engineers Club Sponsors field trips

Members of the Engineers Club are familiarized with the various fields of engineering open to graduates by having field trips and guest speakers during the year. The organization also helps students to become better acquainted with the sponsors of the club and other members of the Sciences, Engineering, and Mathematics Division. Membership is open to all students enrolled in a minimum of three hours of mathematics, physical science or chemistry. Socials sponsored by the group are designed to promote a spirit of fellowship within the young pre-professionals.

Friendship International Club: discover a different way of life

Of the 2,400 students enrolled in college classes at NEO, nearly three per cent, or 100 students, are visitors from approximately twenty countries around the world. These young men and women are among the most intelligent and highly educated persons in their native lands. Many of them will be future world leaders. While these “Internationals” are in the United States primarily to further their education, they are also here to learn about the American people—our culture and our way of life.

Kerry Evans was selected as Inter-Dorm Council's homecoming queen candidate.

With representatives elected from each dormitory on campus, the Inter-Dorm Council serves as a communication link between resident students and college administration. The Council holds meetings to discuss concerns of residents and seek ways of providing activities which will improve campus life. Dances, movies and other types of participative entertainment are offered periodically. This year they sponsored the MASHBASH, a country and western dance and several other dances to help make dorm life not quite so boring.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA Keeps in TUNE

The Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College Orchestra, with its many different kinds of instruments, is in its fifth year of performing. Under the direction of Robert Swanson, the orchestra offers students the opportunity to perform a variety of music. The group plays symphony literature as well as popular selections. The orchestra performs for college musical activities and at high school assemblies.

Noell Richie was elected as Orchestra's homecoming queen candidate.
Livestock Judging Team

Continuing the fantastic winning tradition for Northeastern A&M Livestock Judging Teams, the 1984-85 judges swept several contests, including Louisville, KY; Fort Smith, AR; Wichita, KS; Kansas City, MO and Tulsa State Fair.

In a contest, a team consists of five individual students who compete also for high honors as well as for the team trophy. The purpose of livestock judging is to train students to evaluate livestock such as swine, sheep, beef cattle and horses. A typical contest consists of twelve classes of livestock accompanied by eight sets of oral reasons (explanations of why the animals were placed as they were). Students rank livestock from best to worst based on their own opinions; scores are then compared to an official's ranking and students are assigned scores from 0 to 50 depending on the closeness to the ranking of the official.

The Livestock Team show off what they won at Kansas City and Louisville.

The team continued their successful season with a win at the Tulsa State Fair.

Native American Student Association brings tribes together

The Native American Student Association is organized to promote appreciation and understanding of the American Indian culture and to provide social contacts for all students interested in the American Indians. The club brings together members of a number of tribes from throughout the United States through a variety of social activities including cookouts and Pow-Wows. "There was no blood quantum requirements, even if you are just part Indian you can still join," states Rose Wilkins, NASA Sponsor.

Native American Society Officers are (l-r) Sheri Miller, Vice-President; Eric Wensmeier, President and Lisa Vela, Secretary/Treasurer.

The Tradition Continues

The dance-drill team that became a tradition in the early 50's has come a long way to the Norse Stars of the 80's. Today they work out a minimum of seven hours a week, with early morning practices and also evening practices. They perform at all home football and basketball games, plus selected out of town games and parades. Although this is fun they are still graded on a demerit system of attendance and tardiness. These are just a few of the ways the Norse Stars of today show their ability to perform.

Rhonda Springer was selected as Norse Stars' homecoming queen candidate.
What many people do not realize is that the Norse Star Director does not teach the routines to the girls. The captain and her officers make up their own routines. They go to camp in Dallas, Texas during the summer to learn new routines to teach to the girls. Of course, the director is there to advise and correct but according to Mrs. Bishop, "It's mainly the girls."
hannan Kohler, DeRhonda Roye and Mechelle Crawford show their interest as TV Productions majors by taking their turn in front of the camera, behind the camera.

Rhonda Springer, Chrissie Ziegler, Christie Turner and Kipley Billingsley show that working out in the weight room isn't all hard work.

Liz Knight, Cindy Meador and Valerie Gilstrap visit together on campus.

The idea to do a Norse Star Calendar was something new the Norse Stars came up with to show that "Norse Stars isn't all work," states Nancy Bishop, Norse Star Director. This is Mrs. Bishop's first year to be the Norse Star Director at NEO. She also goes on to say that although it was her idea, "The girls thought it would be fun and they were excited about it. They chose their own groups, picked what they wanted to wear and decided where they would be. It was a fun way to make money."
Laura Jones was selected as Norse Wind’s homecoming queen candidate.

work together to produce paper

Striving to meet impending deadlines, often working against the clock, members of the Norse Wind Staff faced the reality of the journalism world. Working together, each member of the staff helped to produce thirty issues of the Norse Wind, ranging from four to eight pages, with a majority of which were six pages.

Providing news, campus features, sports and opinions, the Norse Wind worked to put out the best paper NEO has ever had. It was under the careful guidance of Advisor Monty Franks, an 11 year veteran, that they were able to meet deadlines and continue a quality award-winning newspaper.
Features Reporters and Editors are (l-r) Julie James, Donella Partridge, Cindy Dobbins and Kent Clemens.

Competition creates a challenge for Journalists

The Norse Wind attended the Oklahoma Collegiate Press Association Conferences which took place once in the fall and then again in the spring. While attending the fall conference, Ruth Virtue, Managing Editor, was appointed secretary of the OCPA. At the fall conference awards are given for all-around outstanding papers, but at the spring conference awards are given to individuals as well.

The Norse Wind was also critiqued by the University of Minnesota. Issues from the '83 fall semester were recognized as "All-American" in several areas. This was the first time the Norse Wind has been awarded such an honor.

PEOPLE INTERESTED IN CHILDREN encourages members to learn

Composed primarily of majors in Child Care and Development, PIC encourages members to work for greater knowledge and understanding of children under six years of age, both at school and at home. The purpose of the organization is to provide a number of opportunities for members to grow as individuals and to learn how to work for more cooperation among parents, teachers and interested citizens in other fields who are concerned with the welfare of children.

Dobson Presidential Scholars organize to form PHI DELTA SIGMA

Last year was the first year for the students of NEO to receive Dobson Presidential Scholarships and this year they organized themselves into a club. The new club is called Phi Delta Sigma for the Greek letters P.D.S. (Presidential Dobson Scholars). According to their constitution, “The purpose of the Phi Delta Sigma is to provide an organization, for those who are recipients of the Dobson Presidential Scholarship, through which to have official campus representation, to promote intellectual advancement, high achievement, and leadership.”

Phi Delta Sigma Officers are seated (l-r) Debby Newman, homecoming queen candidate; Dawn Burroughs, Student Senate Representative and Cindy Brown, Secretary/Treasurer. Standing: Missy Dill and Vonda Probst, Student Senate Rep. Alternates; Philip Palmer, Vice-president and Alan McElhaney, President.

Debby Newman was selected as Phi Delta Sigma’s homecoming queen candidate.
Some members were in awe of Bob Snyder's Trivial Pursuit expertise.

Dawn Burroughs was selected as Phi Theta Kappa's homecoming queen candidate.

PHI THETA KAPPA

geared for Excellence

PTK's Preamble to the Constitution: "That academic excellence among community/junior college students may be nurtured; that opportunity may be provided for leadership training; that an intellectual climate may be promoted for an interchange of ideas and ideals; and that scholars may be imbued with desire for continuing education, we dedicate ourselves as fellows of Phi Theta Kappa. Among us membership is a privilege earned by qualifications, honor, and service. In the conduct of our activities, truth shall be our quest, diligence our staff, and achievement our purpose."

Every organization sets goals for itself and Phi Theta Kappa was no exception. One of their major goals was to have a state officer and this they accomplished twice over. Bryan Smith was elected State PTK President and Maureen Crowder was elected State Parliamentarian at the State Convention at OSU. Some of their other goals were to have good attendance at the meetings and to hopefully win awards at the National Convention. They participated in many activities, like parties at Mrs. Snyder's house, with our friend Tang, and had fundraisers to raise money to go to National Convention.
Brenda Hocke was selected as Rodeo Club's homecoming queen candidate.

RODEO CLUB projects positive image

With members traveling to several area college rodeos on weekends, the NEO Rodeo Club projects a positive image of the institution and of the Agriculture division. The group provides recreation, competition and entertainment. Usually the Rodeo Club sponsors events locally as well as entering various events in the four-state area.

Rodeo Club Officers are Charlie Bowman, President; Angie Valentine, Treasurer and Gr Ash, Vice-President.

SONRISE works to “Spread The GOOD NEWS”

A group of students chosen by their willingness to serve the Lord with their ability and talent to sing. Sonrise is sponsored by the BSU. Their mission is to “Spread the Good News” with contemporary Christian music.
STUDENT SENATE sponsors special events

Representing the entire student body, the Student Senate is composed of officers elected in campus-wide balloting and members who represent each club recognized by the college. Members meet weekly to respond to concerns of the organizations, as expressed by the representatives. Highlighting the year are Homecoming activities, Religious Emphasis Week, Children's Christmas Party, and other special events. Throughout the year, Student Senate schedules parties, movies and other entertainment.

Second Semester STUDENT SENATE make plans for future

Student Senate officers are elected twice, fall and spring. The Second Semester Senate is in charge of such typical activities such as sponsoring movies and dances, but their major highlight is the Spring Formal held each year in the ballroom. These routine responsibilities were supplemented by new ideas introduced by incoming officers. Vice-President Joe Davis had an idea for an activity that the Student Senate considered, "I would like to see the student senate sponsor some Wednesday night activities especially."

Student Senate Officers are seated Ruth Virtue, Parliamentarian and Jill Campbell, Secretary. Standing: Joe Davis, Vice-President; David Engle, Treasurer; Lynn Bailey, President; Clint Allen, Senator-at-large and Rich McCasland, Senator-at-large.
Small in QUANTITY
But
Large in QUALITY

Though there were only a few of us, we worked hard and accomplished a lot. Working on a yearbook in college was much more demanding than working on one in high school because of a smaller staff and less time. In one way it was better because we set our own hours and we worked as much or as little as we wanted, and with the help of Dr. Woods supplying us with “food for thought” we were able to meet all of our deadlines.

Introduction

All the areas of study at NEO are broken down into seven basic divisions. The reason for these divisions are to divide NEO's courses into related areas of study. It is from these divisions that our organizations are formed, like the Rodeo Club in the Agricultural Division or the Masquer's Club in the Communications Division. The importance of these divisions led to our feature on the divisions.

Speed and accuracy are an important part of typing.

In the labs, students learn through doing.

The "staying in shape craze" had a lot of students enrolling in aerobics.
It takes many hours to perfect the sport of barrel racing. Observing the preservation of animals can be hazardous to your health.

Gary Tharp counts sheep!
Julie Vaughn and Kim Litle, business majors, work in the business office to gain on the job experience.

Stephanie Hays and Lori Russell practice their shorthand skills.

Lisa Proctor demonstrates to a friend how to get the correct answer in business machines.
Nick Calcagno observes one of his students' work art. Brent Clements works vigorously on his article for the Norse Wind's next addition.

Mrs. Snyder, English instructor, tells her students the proper procedure in writing a research paper.
Engineering, Science and Physical Education

Shelly Rutan shows her fellow lab mates the proper procedure in dissecting innocent animals.

Lance Sutton seeks help from the math tutor Mark Clift.

Student nurses learn valuable skills through practice.
Paying the harp is a great relaxer for Lisa Stoll.

Instructor DeMaris Gaines helps Rebecca Hardesty learn the basics of piano.

Jenifer Mosier and Rhett Warden practice their lines for the musical production of "Lil' Abner".
Les Hulke handcuffs George Weston as Leon Manning, instructor, tells the class the proper procedure.

Jill Campbell works on the computer in her Advanced Government class.

Mr. Maynard tells students the rules before handing out the test in his psychology class.
Technology

In class, Lauri Edmondson helps Kathy Kimbrell measure the hem on her dress.

Cleve Loy lets his trusting friend Allen Gross work on his car in Auto Mechanics.

Kelly Barger works on a time consuming project in Drafting and Design.

Jeffett Warden sands on a cedar chest as Woodworking instructor Dick observes.
DIMENSIONS

not being the same

Being Our Own Person

We are all individuals and we all try to just be ourselves...whether we're just clowning around and showing our true personalities...or whether we're revealing our more serious side by doing our homework. Any way we go about it we want people to realize that we are unique, in everything we do and in everything we try to achieve.
Fun and Friends. That's what some college students thought NEO was all about. This wasn't completely true, but it was a BIG and very important part of NEO. We all had our own definitions of fun. For some it was competing in intramurals sports . . . for many students the trip up north to Liberty or maybe Sergeant Peppers was their idea of a good time . . . for video fanatics, seeing how far a quarter could go was challenging . . . for people with plenty of bottled up energy, dances were perfect releasers . . . and with friends around making a fool out of yourself wasn't quite so bad. Under any circumstances friends and fun were usually synonymous. And when we leave we will always remember that one without the other wasn't quite the same.
And Wasting Time
In Our Own Way

We like to waste time... if it's just taking a quick nap... watching TV was also very popular... in the summer wasting time outside goofing off was great... in the winter snowball fights were always fun... and when you finally started your homework late at night, someone needed a pitch or spades partner... but whatever it may have been, we wasted time. Some of us even became experts at it. Procrastination was the name of our game, and we never realized that the time was gone until it was too late. But now we are forced to realize that the 1984-85 school year is gone and we'll never have this time back. It's always hard to say good-bye, but we the sophomores of NEO say good-bye and "good luck" to the freshmen, administration and faculty of Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College of Miami Oklahoma.
THANK YOU:
Doc — for EVERYTHING.
Frank — for nothing.
Ed Craig and Monty Franks — for supplying us with pictures.

Norse Wind Staff — for helping us identify pictures.

EDITOR’S NOTE

If there's one thing college students learn is that there is a reason for everything. The 1984-85 Viking is no exception. The reason for the theme DIMENSIONS comes from a very simple idea, the idea being we are not All alike. There are many different aspects to our personalities. Something I did learn in Mr. Jacks' Sociology course is that we all have roles we perform for many people, sort of like a coat of armor we take off and put on at any given time. This is the basic idea behind the '84-'85 Viking and I hope you understand our reasons for making the '84-'85 Viking’s theme DIMENSIONS.

For my own personal Thank-yous I want to say Thankx . . . to all the Staffers who had to work under their Terrible Editor . . . to Jimmy for being my Wednesday boyfriend . . . But most importantly to the lady who has never done a Yearbook before, you’re the best. You helped with everything from copy, to taking, developing and printing pictures. It is for this reason that the 1984-85 Viking is dedicated to Dr. Bobby Woods: Advisor, Helper and Friend.

Digital copies of The Viking, Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College's annual yearbook, are available in .pdf format on the NEO website for non-commercial purposes only. Scans were created using the best available editions; where stains, color-fading, and contributed marks (usually signatures) were visible on the original they also appear in the digital copy. The edge of some pages in oversized editions may be partially lost due to width limitations on the scanning bed. NEO yearbook editions that do not appear on the website are not part of the collection at present. If you would like to donate a yearbook, please contact the NEO Library.
