A Child Shall Lead Them

The story tells of a little boy who was born to a poor family in a small village. His parents were simple farmers who worked hard to provide for their family. One day, as the boy was helping his father in the fields, a group of angels appeared before him. The angels told him that he was chosen by God to bring a message of peace to the world.

The boy, whose name was John, was filled with joy and excitement. He knew that he had been given a great responsibility, but he was determined to fulfill it. He set out on a journey to spread the word of peace and love to all people.

As John traveled from village to village, he was met with resistance and opposition. Some people were afraid of his message, while others were angry and resentful. But John remained steadfast in his mission, relying on the support of the angels who watched over him.

Finally, after many months of travel, John arrived in the great city of Rome. There, he was greeted by the Emperor himself, who was impressed by his courage and dedication. The Emperor granted John permission to spread his message throughout the land.

And so, John began his work of spreading peace and love. He traveled from city to city, village to village, sharing his message with all who would listen. And as he did so, he saw the world slowly begin to change, as people began to understand the true meaning of love and compassion.

In the end, John was hailed as a hero, his message of peace and love becoming the foundation for a new way of life. And so it is that a child shall lead them, showing the world that even the simplest of hearts can bring about great change.

Week Before Christmas

And in the end, as the clock strikes midnight on Christmas Eve, the world is bathed in the light of the Christmas spirit, spreading love and joy to all.
