The President's Box...

THIRD风农 editor has asked me to write a column for each issue of this publication, so that I can provide you with an opportunity to discuss with students anything that may be of interest to you.

I'm sure that many students have noticed a change in the atmosphere on campus. The new building is now open, and everyone seems to be enjoying themselves. The new facilities are well-equipped, and the staff is very friendly.

I have also noticed that the student body is more diverse than ever before. This is a good thing, as it allows us to learn from each other and to develop a greater sense of community.

I hope that you will continue to support The Norse Wind and that you will continue to share your thoughts and ideas with us.

Mullendore Urges Ags To Frontier

C. E. Mullendore, president of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture, urged the agricultural students to consider the frontier as a career opportunity. He pointed out that there are many opportunities available in the new fields of agriculture, and that these fields will continue to grow as the population increases.

Mullendore emphasized that the agricultural student should be prepared to work hard and to be willing to make sacrifices. He stated that the agricultural student should be prepared to work long hours and to work under difficult conditions.

LIGGETT & MYERS
Tobacco Co. says...

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Currently, we and our chemists have analyzed, experiment with and evolved all kinds of tobaccos, especially Southern Red, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettel and competing brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny, including thousands of samples of millions of pounds of tobacco.

From all these thousands of analyses and other findings engendered in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the irritation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobacco today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensified larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested over of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country." (From Business Week Magazine) and eminent scientists from leading universities.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.
The Norsewind – the NEO A&M College Newspaper

Digital copies of The Norsewind, Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College’s student newspaper, are available in .pdf format on the NEO website for non-commercial purposes only. Scans were created using the best available editions through the assistance of the Oklahoma Higher Education Historical Society from microfilmed images. Where stains, color-fading, contributed marks or ripped pages were visible on the original, they also appear in the digital copy. NEO newspaper editions that do not appear on the website are not part of the collection at present.
