Spotlight Turned On Art Student

The Art Department spotlight this week is on Gordon Prentiss, sophomore from Joplin, Mo. His original portfolio of ten original oil paintings includes his first attempt at painting with a palette knife. He began his work, "Painting with a Knife," during the summer, and the project was selected as the most outstanding for a portfolio. The exhibition of Prentiss' work will be held in the University Art Gallery.

Veteran Gives Opinion On Age-Old Question

By R. E. SAMUEL

Ever since George granted the vote in the 18th century in 1841, the question of 18 years voting has been tossed back and forth without much having been done about it. The issue was raised back into the spotlight in 1932 when the then-presidential candidate Franklin Roosevelt came out in favor of 18-year voting.

There are 4,230,000 eligible voters in the age group 18-20, of which 3,200,000 are boys who are subject to the draft for military service, which makes the topmost argument for granting the 18 year vote.

The argument is: "If they are old enough to fight, they are old enough to vote." Should a parent's voting responsibilities be based on the ability to carry a gun and put up a fight?
