Campus Hosts Annual Religious Emphasis Week

BY CENTRAL SOUTHERN

“Seeking Truth through Science and Religion” is the theme of Religious Emphasis Week, according to Mr. Frank Cunningham, faculty committee member for the activity. The three-day program, which begins on March 18, will feature Dr. George K. Schenck, professor of chemistry and science at the University of Tennessee.

Schenck has visited more than 20 colleges and universities across the country, and his research is featured in the fields of inorganic chemistry and nuclear chemistry on the campuses of Tennessee's science and engineering colleges. He has a Ph.D. in inorganic chemistry from the University of Illinois and is a member of the National Science Foundation.

Schenck will be in residence at the Colseman Theater Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The public is invited to hear the discussion at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday evening.

The address will be free of charge.

The three-day program will begin Wednesday morning with an address by Dr. Schenck. The day will feature two discussion groups and an assembly at 9 a.m. Thursday. The day will feature two discussion groups and an assembly at 9 a.m. Thursday. Schenck will be featured at this assembly and at others at 10 a.m. Thursday and 11 a.m. Friday. Ministers will lead class at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The Reverend Philip Crow will lead devotions from 12:30 to 1:00 Wednesday in the Little Theater. Rev. Garland Spurges will lead devotions from 1:00 to 1:30 Wednesday in the Little Theater. Rev. Garland Spurges will lead devotions from 1:00 to 1:30 Wednesday in the Little Theater. Charles Russell, who presented the message before the group, said, “The Student Council is a service to students and Student Council members are very high school study.

Council To Senate

The Student Council of NEO will have the same meeting as the Student Senate. The members voted unanimously Tuesday, February 19, to change the name. Charles Russell, who presented the motion before the group, said, “The Student Council is needed by all clubs of the Oklahoma State Student Council and has been known as the Student Senate. The Student Council has been known as the Student Senate and Student Council members are very high school.

Ten Boys, Six Girls On Who’s Who List

BY DAVE SIEGLE

Sixteen NEO students have been listed in Who’s Who for 1964-65. Outstanding leadership, high scholastic achievement, club membership, and good citizenship are among the deciding factors for the selection. The list also includes a number of female students.

David S. McMillan, president of the Student Senate, has been selected for the list. He is a member of the Student Council and was the president of the class of 1965.

Terry Nichols, who is a member of the Student Senate, has been selected for the list. He is a member of the Student Council and was the president of the class of 1965.

BARRY REYNOLDS, arts and science member of the Military Reserve and the yearbook staff.

DONNA TURNER, business major from Sand Springs, is the NEO football quarterback, a member of the Student Council, Dean’s Honor Roll, and annual staff.

SHARON O’NEILL, English major from Tulsa, is an NEO’s head cheerleader, a member of Phi Theta Kappa, and works on the yearbook staff.

LINDA WALLACE, home economics major from Los Angeles, is a member of the Student Council, Dean’s Honor Roll, and Track Queen.

SANDRA WILLIAMS, home economics major from Punderson, is a member of the Student Council, Dean’s Honor Roll, and Track Queen.

JEANNE THOMAS, business major from Alva, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Home Economics Club, and the Dean’s Honor Roll.

DIXIE HICKMAN, home economics major from McCurtain, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Home Economics Club, and the Dean’s Honor Roll.

Rule of No Card Playing Should Be Obeyed By All

Any student frequenting the student union this year has probably noticed a large brown sign stating "No card playing before 3:00 p.m. on weekends." Students, who can remember the "good old days" of last year, have been especially upset with the rule. However, since this regulation is evidently here to stay, we students should try to abide by it. Playing cards under the table and other such devices means prove nothing except the immaturity of the players and possibly cause resentment among students selecting the games.

The rule was made for the good of all, and, although it's hard to admit, many of us sophomore probably did spend too much of our time and class time playing cards last year. In the future, let's all try to support and obey our school regulations in every way, even if this means losing a few of our "card shark" reputations.

Library Is Red Tape

Headquarters At NEO

If you happen to see one of your classmates walking down the hall with his arm in a ring, don't be alarmed. He has just returned from the library and has a serious case of writer's cramp. You see, our library has a new system that is supposed to make things much easier. However, go to check out two or more books at one time and see just how easy it is.

First you pick out your books, get a separate I.B.M. card for each one, and start writing. There's the book call number, your I.D. number, the name of the author, your name, your address, your phone number, and finally, after having done first grade printing for the preceding, you get to sign your name in your own handwriting on the last blank line.

Yes, the good old days when you signed your name on the card and got it stamped are gone. Before you know it, the library is going to need a new system to organize their new system!

Editors Invete Letters

The editors and staff members of the Norse Wind invite any student or teacher wishing to comment on any phase of campus or school life to write his opinions in the form of a letter to the editor and deliver it to the Norse Wind office, room 10 in the Administration Building. The only qualifications for these letters are that they be signed and that they do not contain seditious, personal attacks or pet grievances.

The staff hopes that by participating in this way, students will think of the Norse Wind as their paper and take a more active interest in it.

Heart Drive Is Hugh Success

The Northeastern Oklahoma A&M campus Heart Fund Drive, held Feb. 17 through Feb. 19, was a great success this year. Collections totaled $181.82 of which $180 was from the class cosmetics for the week of $100, and $1.82 from the dance held Wednesday, Feb. 29. The student union ballrooms were filled with music provided by the Lawrence, Miss. Sigma Boul, representatives for the International Club.

The drive was crowned "Queen of Hearts," as a result of receiving more "phony" votes from the students on campus.

Crowning this year's "Queen of Hearts" was John Breden, president of the Intercollegiate Orchestra, the club which sponsored the heart fund drive on the NEOMC campus. The Heart Fund Organization presented Betty with a gold necklace engraved with her title. Raymond Waite, served the I.K.'s as chairman of the Heart Fund Drive on the NEOMC campus.

Thespian Present Double Bill Of Religious Plays

BY JANICE CLAY

The two one-act plays presented by the speech and drama department of Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, "The Strange Love" by Joe Dixon, and "The Mound" by Charles Glancy, were well received by the audience. The first play, "The Strange Love," was a story of two young people in love, who had a religious theme that the audience could relate to.

Music Rings On Campus

The sound of music has covered the NEOMC campus during the last two weeks. Over 1,000 students have been enjoying the vespers from music, to participate in the devotional music festival. The music competition was conducted last Friday and Saturday with 22 teams entering contests. The three winners were picked by the judges to be featured in a recital on Sunday, March 9. Mr. Doug Mayes, chairman.

A piano concert by one of the judges, Mr. Digby Bell, was presented on Thursday preceding the contest. Mr. Bell is president of the University of Oklahoma. The vocal section, with Kenneth Richards as chairman, was conducted Tuesday with more than 35 voices participating in the division of the school's, choirs, groups, choirs, choruses, and ensembles. A one-hour period of NEOMC traveled from Ponce City to enjoy their contest. The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Louis Hartman, music instructor. The well-known boys choir of Norman also competed.

The instrumental group with Dr. Robert Brown, music chairman, competed Thursday with 25 voices entering the division of concert bands, woodwinds, percussion, and woodwinds.

Honors Taken By Debaters At Tourney

Speech and debate competitors from NEO won a share of the honors at the Southeastern State College Forensic tournaments in Dublin, Friday and Saturday. They competed against 38 teams from junior and senior colleges from five states.

The students directed by John Haston placed second in the junior division sweepstakes and third in the senior division.

The placements were earned by first place junior division debaters Joanne Burger and Charisse Burwell, who defeated teams from the University of Rhode Island, North Texas State College, and Kansas State College. Deb Bethell is senior men's poetry; and Joanne Burger is senior women's oratory. Burwell, who placed third in senior men's oratory, and Joanne, placing third in senior women's poetry, earned additional sweepstakes points. Miss Burger and Bethell are Tulane. Burwell is from Muskogee.

Northeastern had two debate teams enter in the tournament both of which entered the final with records of four victories and one defeat. Cindy Wann, Miami, and Clyde Faulkner, Wells, were members of the second team which finished as one of the top teams in the tournament.

ROTC Ball Planned

The ROTC department has set the date for their annual Military Ball, which is always one of the biggest events of the year. It is second only to the Homecoming.

All cadets attending will be required to wear a white shirt, a black tie, and their class "A" uniform. All cadets are encouraged to come and bring their dates. This event will be held on May 1, 1964 in the Civic Center.

STATE SENATOR VISITS NEO—State senator Dewey Bartlett (left), of Tulsa, is welcomed to Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College by Dean Cecil Ferree. Senator Bartlett was the first in a series of guest lecturers before Ferree's newly-organized state government class.

Oklahoma State Senator Addresses Gov. Students

BY GARY GORTON

Some classes center around the academic theory of a subject, while others are based on a practical application of the subject matter.

In the case of Dean Cecil Ferree's state government class, the curriculum has become a skillful blending of the two approaches to learning. For part of the three-hour course, students follow the text to gain a working knowledge of the functions and structure of state government.

As a second aspect, the students, who are allowed to enter the class on the basis of their scholastic standing, are given the opportunity to hear guest lecturers from all phases of our state and local government.

Dean Ferree feels that this method of conducting the class is best geared to the caliber of students who are interested in taking this course. "The responsibility for carrying out the program of study rests on the shoulders of the initiative of the students," Ferree stated. "This class is the same as any other government course in the material that it covers, but differs only in the method with which the material is handled."

One recent guest lecturer in the scheduled series of speakers for the course was State Senator Republican Dewey Bartlett, from Tulsa, who represents Tulsa county in our state legislature.

Senator Bartlett stressed the growing trend in Oklahoma toward a two-party system of government, with the election of a Republican governor and with the appointment of many more popular political candidates such as Our Watson. During his stay on campus, the senator also commented on the need for greater attention by the state legislature to the problem of reapportionment in Oklahoma.

Dean Ferree has stressed the need for such speakers as Senator Bartlett, to round out the class curricula with a practical view of the academic theory learned by the students. "We hope to have two or three speakers from the state legislature and others from executive and judicial branches of the state government, as well as representatives of the various state organizations such as the highway commissions or the Paduto and Fowler Board," Ferree said. "We would also like to have some members of the municipal government speak to our class if possible."

The course, which has been in effect for some five years now, is designed as an honors course and is slated toward political science or government majors who can meet the scholastic requirements.
Men On Campus Are More Clothes Conscious

BY TERRY FISHER

The NDD "typical of American college campuses" was a fair question.
Let's take a look around for a moment and explore a topic which is related to the appearance of every college campus. The look of its students - makeup, hair, and clothes - is constantly changing.

Teenage boys, once considered

BRUCE RENT, freshman from Lotus Grove, Norfolk, Ohio, left, was named Most Individual over all other athletes who participated in the track team at the State Fair Farm Show in Houston, Tex., Feb. 1.

mitting best place entries in writing and second place quarter horse trophy. The team won 2,832

Beetles' Hair-Do Greatest Enemy To Their Popularity

BY ANN MOCHA

The Beatles hit hard but not their hair, "seems to be the general conclusion of most NDD students when asked about their opinions of the singers. Most all thought the vocal group was a passing fad.
What do you think?
The Beatles all hail from Liverpool, a port city which becaus of its selling men bring their least hit songs from America; it is the biggest music port in England. They wear "poodle girls' hairstyles that date back to ancient Egypt.

Looking at the situation over, you may come to the same conclusion that several of your colleagues have in answering a recent poll on the Beaters. They voiced their opinions on the Beatles "hair-do," and if they think their popularity will last very long.

Tom Collins, from New York says they are nothing out of the ordinary. As far as their hair gets to say, "I look bad but not like that." Too many public apppearances seems to be the Beater's reason for the Beatles gradual decrease in popularity.

Donna Lewis, from Tulsa, likes the Beatles because they're a great sound. Their hair, however, seems goofy and uncomfortable. As in their popularity, she thinks they will not last long.

"They're just a fad.

JANET KERGER, commonly known as Chico, says "I'm not entirely like them. They sing well, but look queer!" Chicago thinks their popularity will not last long because they will eventually have to retire.

John Carter, from Miami, likes their music because it's good to dance to. John doesn't think much of their hair, but he says, "their popularity will stay if they continue to turn out records like they have been. It may gradually decrease in the future though.

Rodeo Planned By Agriculture Society

Set For Mid-April

Aggie society will sponsor a rodeo to be held April 19 and 20 at the Miami Fairgrounds. Robert Rich, Jim Patrick, and Bill Willis of the Deason Adcoats are members of the rodeo which is being held to help pay the expenses of Aggie Days.

It has already been decided that this rodeo, the first ever ap-nounced by college students in this area, will be limited to contest-ts to only junior college boys and to Miami high school boys.

Rodeo planned.

base about 4:50 p.m.

Upon arrival at the base, the cadets were checked in at the Bachelors Officers Quarters and then takes to a hangar. The rest of the evening was "free time" for the boys in few countries

The following day tours of the barracks were scheduled which included a tour of the radar installations and the flight line along with others. Departure time was set for 3 p.m. via G7, had due to inclement weather in Tulsa and Miami the plane could not take off. With existing conditions they were the cadets elected to return by bus which made the returning time in Miami about 9:30 P.M. All of the trip was very interesting and enjoyable especially to those who had never been close to an air base before.

Science Fair Beginning

Over two hundred science students converging on the N.E.O. campus under the aegis of the Fourth Annual Science Fair directed by Wayman Gibson, head of the biological sciences department.

Projects for the fair will be divided into junior and senior high divisions in the biological, physical science, mathematics, chemistry and physics categories. Winners in the senior high division may win in the annual science fair in Baltimore, Md., with all expenses paid.

Thirty awards will be given, including certification, and a tuition scholarship to N.E.O., plus cash awards and science books. Exhibits will be open to the public from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday and from 2 to 9 p.m. on Sunday.

Tour buses have been scheduled for Friday afternoon for students attending the fair to the B. F. Goodrich plant, Lakeside-Petroleum laboratories, Naval custody and processing plant, General Electric Air Force aluminum, and the International Manufacturing Company, Bucharest, B.I.M. Data Processing company and Westerly Pottery Manufacturing Company.

Another special feature of the fair will be a Hound Dog Mistletoe, the pet of John L. Dean, Jr., who will be on display in the N.E.O. campus during the fair.

Pianists Opens Music Week

Daghy Bell, nationally known pianist with the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra, presented a recital March 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the thirty-fourth annual Ohio A.M.E. College auditorium.

Mr. Bell is a faculty member of the University of Oklahoma and is a frequent soloist on numerous occasions. The recital was the second concert conducted on the N.E.O. campus.

The recital marked the beginning of the 1962-63 music season which Mr. Bell made during the week on the campus.

The recital was open to the public. There was no admission charge.

Coeds Seek Glamour Title

Seven lucky girls from Northeast Ohio A.M.A will represent the college at the National Best Dressed Coed Contest, sponsored by Glamour Magazine. The winning girl will be picked from ten candidates and receive $20, donated by Dr. Carter. The winner will be chosen on the basis of appearance and dress. Pictures of the winner will be sent to the national contest to compete for numerous prizes and other opportunities. The ten candidates include Diane Olmos, Diane McKenna, Phyllis Henderson, Donna Turner, Judy Washington, Kendal Hartwell, Glenda Quinn, Nancy Kelley, Carol Armstrong and Sharon Hunter.

Class Backs Safety Bells

A safety class at N.E.O. has decided to put "something practical into practice.

Members have decided to install automobile and bicycle safety devices for safety at work and home. The class has launched a project to install phones at home without charge.

April 11 will mark the date of the 1962 Annual Press Day to be held on the N.E.O. campus. Registration will be held in the lobby of the student union from 9 a.m. to 3. An assembly will be held at 9:15 a.m. in the Little Theater with an introductory speech by Jack Rucker, a welcome from Dr. Carter, and a general address by Frances Gray, editor of the "Ohio Journal."

The assembly will be followed by a luncheon which will be held throughout the day in the student union and the hall. Guest speakers will be present. An exhibit of student work will be held in the student union.

The exhibits will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

Mildred Carter Named To "Who's Who"

By Dave Egeoma

Mildred G. Carter, business manager of N.O. is among the entries of the latest edition of "Who's Who in American Women," which can be found in the N.E.O. library.

Mildred Carter has been active in various civic and community activities, starting as secretary to the county Engineers Office in Columbus, Ohio, from 1941-45. During that period, she was employed by the Miami plant of B. F. Goodrich.

In 1945, Mildred Carter began work at N.E.O. as a clerk until 1960. At that time she took over the job of business manager of N.E.O. and presently holds that position.

Students Honored At Banquet for Dean's Honor Roll

Seventy-five N.E.O. students were honored at a banquet held Feb. 21, in the B. F. Goodrich Student Union.

The program for the banquet, emceed by John Halston, included a welcome by Dr. C. C. Perman, and the main address given by Dr. Bruce G. Carter.

The students were honored for their being listed in the Dean's Honor Roll. The Presi- dent's Honor Roll was included for the first time. A grade point of 3.8 or better is required for the honor.
Snow Battle Rages

The first snowfall in March brought out many Northeastern Oklahomans who participated in a snowball fight which lasted for two hours. Brush passes were blanketed with snow, and the temperature was below freezing, making it a perfect day for snowball fight. The snow was deep, and the participants had a great time. This event was also the first snowball fight of the season in Northeastern Oklahoma.

Cook's Corner

BY TERRY COOK

A truck and baseball game are names known to the Northeastern Oklahomans, but little trouble is expected in disposing of the last of the snow. The Northeastern Oklahomans decided to make the most of the weather and hold a snowball fight. The participants had a great time, and the weather was perfect for such an event.

Mexico Jaunt Begins Soon

A two-week, easy-going trip to Mexico is planned for the spring semester, with the baseball team as the primary focus. The team will travel to Mexico City, where they will stay at the Regis Hotel. After a day of sightseeing, they will travel to Tuxpan, which is 100 miles southeast of the city, and then proceed to Cuernavaca, midway between Mexico City and Tepozetlan. The team will take a day off to relax and enjoy the local culture.

NEO Upset No. 1 Ravens

The Northeastern Oklahomans pulled off the biggest upset in junior college basketball when they outscored the No. 1 Ravens by a score of 84-76. The game was played in the Aggie Coliseum, and the Oklahomans used a fast-paced, high-scoring offense to defeat their opponents. This was a historic win for the Northeastern Oklahomans and a setback for the No. 1 Ravens.

Aggie Day is Slated To Be Biggest Ever

April 11 has been set for "one of the biggest Aggie Days ever," announced Harry Fryer, head of the Agricultural Department. This day will feature a parade and F.F.A. contests in the four state areas. The Aggies are expecting over 120 guests, and the contestants are expected to participate in the event. This is the first time that the Aggies have been involved in such a tourism event.
