NEO Classes Elect Leaders

Mike Lemaster, sophomore, and Louise Collinsworth, freshman, were elected presidents of their respective classes in voting at Northeastern A&M yesterday.

Lemaster defeated Cy Ablon, sophomore, and Collinsworth triumphed over Glenn A. Clark, Gary Tenson and Bill Summers.

Other sophomore results showed Mike Cunningham over Darlene Davis for vice president; Jo Ann Wallop named secretary and Veda Hoover chosen treasurer. Seniors-at-large posts went to Jo Ann Myers and Jim Ruban over Ronnie Turley and Steve Miller.

Other freshmen leaders include Andy Klein over Paul Campbell for vice president; Janice Rive over Marlene Vogel and Cindy Baxter for secretory treasurer.

Catholic Students Will Meet Today

All Catholic students at Northeastern A&M will be permitted to leave classes today at 10:45 a.m. to attend a meeting in the Little Theatre. Father Weimer of the local Catholic Church will be in charge of the meeting.

OSU President Talks At Town-Gown Dinner

Dr. Robert Kamm, new president of Oklahoma State University, addressed approximately 200 persons attending the annual Town-Gown Dinner at Northeastern A&M. Friday, Sept. 27.

Improving human relations was the topic of Kamm's talk. The new head of OSU spoke of man's great advances in medicine and science, the limitations of education, and how reforms have been made in the realm of human's ability to do things through new space discoveries and the human's more advanced progress in construction projects on the campus.

Theodore Strikes NEO

Theodore struck swiftly to five Northeastern A&M students when they were killed instantly on the WII expressway. Theodore is an automobile accident shortly after midnight Thursday, September 3.

Theodore, a bobcat, was driving at high speed when it hit a tree and flipped over. The victims are: Charles M. G. Campbell, a junior in chemistry; and Joseph J. Miller, a senior in English.

Theodore has been a pest to the area and has been regularly shot and captured. It is believed that the bobcat died in the accident.

Robertson Is Moved

Dr. Robert Robertson, 80, has been moved from the intensive care ward of St. John's hospital in Tulsa to a private ward.

Robertson, who was admitted to the hospital after a heart attack moments before he was scheduled to operate against the football season opener, will be permitted to visit friends from now to three weeks. Hospital reports are that he is recovering nicely.

Theodore is in the hospital and is expected to make a full recovery.
EDITORIALS

Each and every freshman and sophomore who entered at NEO was issued a traffic regulations handbook. This handbook, both listed and outlined college regulations and rules governing traffic on the campus. It outlined student standards applicable to traffic on the campus, student responsibilities, fees for vehicle parking regulation, student responsibility for the enforcement of traffic regulations and most important, general parking regulations.

This handbook and its regulations were used to explain the rules governing traffic on the campus. It was distributed to all NEO students in the first 15 hours of activity. These students were called upon to be familiar with the rules and regulations governing traffic on the campus. The only exception was that students were not permitted to bring personal vehicles to the campus.

News in Brief

Sponsored by the Wesley Foundation of Northeastern State, the annual Christmas dinner committee has been announced. Wallace Experiences Woes of Inheritance

By RICK ROSSERSON

"We have a team that can win on any given date, and the depth to have a real good team," were the words of head football coach Jack Wallace in assessing the prospects for the 1966 Golden Norsemen.

Wallace inherited the NorthEastern A&M gridiron squad when Land Robertson was sidelined by a severe heart attack just before the season-opening game with OMAA. Robertson will be out for an indefinite period.

The new head coach made an impressive debut by guiding the Norse to the 50-0 conquest of O M A. The next encounter familiarized him with the woes of being head coach, however, as the Norsemen bowed to the Apaches of Tyler, Texas, 28-21.

When asked about the team's performance against the Cadets, Wallace said, "Each boy played to the maximum of his ability. This proved to me and to each player the capability he could play with if the desire and attitude are there."

Tyler Tops Norse

Tyler scored their first touchdowns with only 4:28 gone on the first stanza on a pass from the Tymer, T. Apache, 57, in a Sept. 17 game at Tyler.

The Norsemen were blasted until the 6:38 mark of the fourth quarter when halfback Richard Adams eluded a Tyrant, 15, play drive by skating through left tackles for 3 yards and the score. Adams also added the longest gain of the drive, a 22-yard scamper.

With only 54 seconds left in the contest, Adams displayed some versatility and alert running to chalk up his second touchdown of the evening. Adams gathered in a screen pass from QB Harold Penwood, cut back to the right at midfield, eluded would-be tacklers with some very adept stepping, and then ran-dizzled the Apaches secondary on a 46-yard TD ramp.

“SHOCKS—THEIR KNOTTED TRICKLE” was the most pleasant words of Ron Wyrick, Miami Sophomore, when the football team dedicated the OMA game to the war battlefront. Wyrick was inducted into the armed services Wednesday, Sept. 11.

Norsemen Fireworks Shoot Down Cadets

Exploiting four TDs in a four-minute span, the Golden Norsemen displayed awesome defense and amazing offense in stunning Oklahoma Military Academy, 31-0, Sept. 5 at Tulsa Webster stadium.

After fumbling through a scoreless first period, the Norse kicked off on a 31-yard punt from Harold Peacock to Don Gourley. A three-yard plunge by Richard Stancher followed by Wayne Dalby’s second successful PAT sent NEO to the driving room holding a 3-0 half time edge.

The roof caved in on the Cadets as the second half started with a bang. Touching off the scoring binge was an outstanding backfield from Peacock to Gourley, the play covering 27 yards. Following the ensuing kickoff, Cornerback Ron Wyrick snapped an OMA pass and returned it 48 yards for another six points. A stuff Norse defense bottled the Cadets into puntng and Danny Mills returned for 5 on yards to rack up the third quick score of the quarter.

On the kickoff return, OMA’s Allman was picked up by the NEO defense. Freeman editor David Scott followed the evasive Allman in mid-air and guided the 36 yards to the endzone.

Scoring at this point was the opening 18 yards of Jake Ranzer and Jack Stidwick. The OMA defense couldn’t maintain a proper “display” of enthusiasm following all the scores. Later a lack of supplies forced the two to retire to the stands.

The runaway third period started running 13 yards for another TD with 4:45 remaining in the quarter. Concluding the quarter scoring was Bob Peterson, who sprinted 67 yards with a blocked OMA punt in the first quarter. Carter hit on seven of eight tries for extra points.

Support the Golden Norsemen tomorrow night as the Villanovas encounter “Chico” wing from Tulsa University. Your local market can furnish admission to tonight’s exciting football game.

Norse To Test Tulsa U. Frosh

Launching the home season, the Golden Norsemen entertain the Tulsa University freshman tomorrow night with kickoff at 9 p.m. at Robertson Field.

This will be the first test of the season for the Golden Norse, according to head varsity coach Glenn Dodds of Tulsa, “the finest frosh unit in the history of the school.”

Tulsa’s reputation for passing attacks built around sharp-shooting quarterbacks protected by massive offensive linesman promises the fans a wide-open contest.

Five all-stars Master the TU froshmen crop. They are Bob Murphy, Midwest City quarterback; David Moore, Oklahoma, Tek., wingback; Tim Crow, Fair Park; Tom Lawn, Tek., endback; Bernard Bohmer, Milrose Park, IL, endback, and Paul Johnson, Roseland, IL, centerback.
