Senate Children’s Christmas Party
Provides Enjoyment To Needy Kids

Plans are now being made for the Annual Student Senate Children’s Christmas Party. December 3. When this event started in 1950 the party included 50 children; last year it included approximately 300.

This event will be held in the new gym beginning at 6:30 p.m.
The Student Senate Children’s Christmas Party is an event that enables the students of NEO to get in the spirit of giving by adopting underprivileged children. They adopt children ranging from 2 to 12 years, purchase gifts for them, and also send a letter to them in the form of a letter to Santa. The children attended the ceremony for dinner and then to the party, where Santa Claus will pay an “expected” visit to distribute the gifts.

Scheduled events for this speci-nal night will include the opening of the gifts, games and singing Christmas carols with the help of the Musicians.

Students wishing to adopt children may do so in the Carter
Student Union or by contacting Terry Walker, student coordinator for the event, or by registering at Judy Walker’s office.

A child’s adoption is based on the equality of their lives, so students will need to contact Mrs. Walker or Mrs. Harvey to learn more about the process.

Student Senate members are working hard to make this party
a success so that these children will have a good Christmas. These students include: Judy Walker, chairman of all party committees, Bonnie Conley, and Michelle Mehringer, who are in charge of the decorations. Darla Daniels, adoption registration, Carol Perkins and the children for adoption, Karen Snow, publicity, and Debbie Wilcox, secretary of all functions of the program.

"Involved" Drama Major Planning Theatre Career

by Lee Brown

With a twinkle in her eyes and a smile on her lips, she actively participates in all activities of the drama department. Probably best known for her role as Vita Louise Simmons in "Harvey," Tuba Mission Joanne Perryman is planning for a career in drama.

A graduate of Tuba Central High School, Joanne began her career with roles in "The Curious Savage," "Auntie Mame," "Carnival," and "Brigadoon." I loved it from the beginning," she exclaimed, "By the time I finished high school, I knew that drama was for me.

Joanne doesn't limit herself to the acting side of theatre. She is currently enrolled in costume and technical theatre classes at NEO as well as an acting class. In her spare time, Joanne relies on reading, playing cards, and making rag dolls for children. She is also involved in Masquer, NEO's drama club.

Attracted to plans for the future, Miss Perryman explained that she hopes to get her degree at OU. "After that, I would like to become a professional actress or teach drama."

Many-sided and cheerful, Joanne is enthusiastic about the drama department at NEO. "I think that NEO's drama program is one of the best in the state," she commented, "I love the instructors and facilities all help me make it that way."

Joanne's latest acting endeavor can be seen in the upcoming production of "The King and I" to be presented Dec. 19.

DECA Students Attend Conference

Laboratory work moved outside.

Albia High School's DECA club took part in a national conference last week. The conference was held in New York City.

Featuring 14 automotive students, the project of Phi Beta and Phi Beta Sigma, both of Albia, and several other students from various schools, the conference lasted for almost two days.

On the second day, a series of lectures on the subject of business and management were given. Students were allowed to attend these lectures and could choose which ones they wanted to attend.

The conference was a great success and all students who attended were very pleased with the experience.

Poetry Corner... Being Black (Everyday)

It must v to be amusing to be just ordinary man.
When everything is at your feet or placed upon your hand.
When life is made so easy and your hands bear no scar
I'd imagine you'd say to yourself: "Just what am I living for?"
Being a black man with rocks placed in your way
You've got a struggle, a challenge everyday
A challenge to prove what's right.
A challenge to prove there's no difference between yellow, black or white.
I'm proud to be black I work with my head up high
I'm glad to have these challenges, and there's nothing I have to hide.
I know it won't be easy, but I'm willing to run the race
I'm glad I've got the challenge and show it all over my face.

Black children will live each other rights from the very start
Black children will gain victory with no malice in their hearts.
I will win my battle with my trials, never to raise my hand.

The world will respect me as a clean and upright woman.

Sooner black children as well as youth and adults will be able to stand and realize that being black is something to cherish, to admire.

When I think of my foreparents and the things they went thru Get it together brothers! Sisters! Think about it!
Get those boastful and malice attitudes out of your heart get it together for a new and different start.

Se I'm proud to be black how about you?'

Distance Runners
Train Individually

Cross country at NEO is a full track training program according to Sam Wells, manager. Rod Kramer, regular track season coach also coaches the cross country team.

Members of the team for NEO
this fall are Tim Quinn, Chicago;
D. Mike Jarrey, Owasso; Mike
Jaggers, Bartlesville; Richard Williams, Bartlesville, and Marshall Kemp, Tulsa.

Training is a complete individual effort for the team because of the daily routine of running from five to ten miles. Most of the races that they will compete in however, are only from three to six miles.

NEO is running a very reduced schedule this fall with only three meets scheduled, and Bartlesville as the only regularly scheduled meet this season. The team placed third at the Wilburton Regional 12 Championship where they competed against Eastern Oklahoma
Oscar Rose and St. Gregory’s.

The team competed Nov. 11
in the National Junior Cross Country Championship in Oklahoma City.
