Rucker Chosen Teacher Of The Year

Jack Rucker, chairman of the English department, was chosen Teacher of the Year by fellow instructors at NEO.

A member of the college staff since 1964, Rucker holds degrees from Cameron College in Lawton and the University of Oklahoma. He is the tennis coach, student advisor, and serves on the Board of Directors of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

On campus, he has served as foreign exchange student advisor for 18 years and held the position of Faculty Advisor to the Communications Division. From 1957 to 1960, he served as the Student Body President. In 1960-61, he served as President of the National Junior College Athletic Association in addition to teaching duties.

Now a resident of Seminole, Okla., Rucker at one time was a member of the Miami Lions Club and served as President of the Jaycees. He organized the Miami Junior Chamber program, which now involves some 300 youth annually from the entire area.

NEO Instructors Honored As Outstanding Educators

Three instructors at Northeastern Junior College have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1974 to be featured in the National awards volume. They are:

1. Albert (Red) Robertson, mathematics chairman and recipient of the award two years ago.

2. James (Jim) Krieger, English chairman and recipient of the award.

3. Albert (Red) Robertson was honored for the honor by Dr. S. J. Good, mathematics chairman and recipient of the award two years ago. Robertson currently serves as dean of men and financial aid director, in addition to teaching mathematics.

Also honored was the Oklahoma Athletic Association, which is recognized as an Outstanding Educator. Wayne A. Tidwell, former coach of the Oklahoma State University basketball team, was honored for his contribution to education in the state.

Helping adjust Laura Lee Perez, Clarissmore, cap for the traditional Commencement Exercises is Helen Durham, English instructor.
Editorial...

This past semester quiet hours were set at 7:30 p.m. until 10 p.m. for students living in dorms. Very rarely were they as quiet as expected by residents and it was even rarer to see enforcing by proctors or dorm parents.

Students attending NEO for an education have to find a place to study. On many occasions the library closes twenty minutes before the listed closing time, and is open only three hours on the weekend, making it useless to stay in Miami to work on research papers or extra reports.

Girls living on first floor Vann are not allowed to stay in the hallway after 10:30 p.m. to study because the dorm mother turns off the overhead lights. If her roommate can't fall asleep with the lights on in the room, the student is unable to study for tests at all.

NEO students who need to make a certain grade point average to maintain a scholarship or just to please their parents find it harder and harder to study in the dorms because of all the noise.

Next semester a decision is going to have to be made by the administration, and especially by the students themselves, on what kind of a college we want this to be.

Extended Day Courses Offered In Fall '74

Extended Day Program at NEO offers numerous opportunities to acquire new skills or update current knowledge, even for adults who have completed degree requirements and who work full time.

Larry Dean, director of the program, announced that classes will be held in full stride during the college's session to meet the educational needs of the community.

Many of the courses offer hobby developments or improvements for job promotion to area residents. Currently enrolled students not planning to attend college full time next fall may find the Extended Day Program an opportunity to continue learning experiences.

Woods chooses New Editors

Major staff members for next year's Nore Wind have been announced, according to Bobby Woods, Journalism Instructor. Talented Junior Anderson will be Editor-in-Chief, with Linda Prichard, Jay and Connie Butcher, Tasia serving as Assistant Editors during the fall semester. Other positions will be filled soon after returning staff members and incoming freshmen.

Dear NEO Students, Faculty, and Staff:

It has been my very real privilege and pleasure to know you and to share this year with you at NEO. I think this has been a highly successful year even though we haven't been able to accomplish everything which we set out to do.

I hope that every sophomore will continue with plans for the upgrading of your skills. I know that you will be better able to achieve the goals which you have set for yourself if you will continue with your education and skill development.

I urge every freshman to re-enroll for the summer or fall semester at NEO. The opportunities for learning on this campus are second to none. We will assist you in any way that we can. Don't let yourself down - stay in school.

Best wishes to you all.

Sincerely,

D. D. Creech

NEO English Department
Receives "Tales" Magazine

"Tales" magazine will be published with the note purpose of having a periodic entirely devoted to the short story.

"Tales," a quality, mass mar- ket literary publication, will be printed four times a year starting in September, 1974.

Because the magazine depends upon serious readers and writers of fiction, 500 copies of "Tales" will be distributed at A.S.E. to NEO. These can be passed out to the students or used in class.

"Picture Midwest" was pub- lished last year to test the format. Distributed only in the Midwest, the magazine was highly acclaimed by English professors in more than 50 schools. A copy is in the English Dept. bulletin board in first floor Shirley.

"Tales" magazine will be sold nation-wide on newsstands but ex- pect to be supported mainly by advertising.

Editors Pat Enzwehr and Bucky Gannaway have been the exci- tement of the Associated Writing Program, a national, non-profit organization of writers and writing programs. Well-known authors and little- known writers will be included in the periodical.
