Campbell Photos Exhibited

"Objects and Atmotheses" photographs by the traveling group Campbell will be on exhibit Nov. 4-8 in the Frank and Carole C. Miller Room of the Graduate Union at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College.

As a fine-art photographer from Washington D.C., Campbell has gathered sixty photographs of exhibits, structures, dancing furnishings, and the decoration and artifacts that lie hidden in a stately clearance project into a commentary on the state of American life. These photos were taken in our nation's capital.

The photographs create a poignant impression of the hassles of people who lived, worked, and socialized in the environment. Campbell's observation and poetic expression lends a series of transformative photographs of immediate objects into a fine art medium.

"Each month I try to select exhibits with a certain art class in mind. This show should be of interest to students taking photography," commented Mrs. Page, Art Department chairman.

"Sometimes we have to wait two or three years for certain exhibits. One would like students to see what is going on in relation to the rest of the country. It's not the same consuming but much more a way to move into the future."}

Workshops Debate "Death And Dying"

Two separate workshops covering the topic of death and dying will be presented, Friday and Saturday, in the Fine Arts Auditorium and the educational building of the First Presbyterian Church in Miami. Both workshops will be held on campus.

Established by a grant of the Program of Progressive Funds from the Oklahoma Public Library and the Art Library, both workshops will concentrate on the general topic of Conflict in Death with a Land's End's Death.

Spokesmen for the Friday workshop are the Nurse Campus Ministry, Northeastern A&M nursing department, and the Tennessee Club. Hearing the Nurse Campus Ministry as spokesmen for Saturday's workshop are First Presbyterian Church Miami Baptist Hospital, Newman club, Heritage House nursing home, Okeen County Mental Health Association.

"The workshops will deal with the question of death from the perspectives of modern medicine, law and philosophy and will raise the ethical issues of death and dying," commented Reverend Dan Fullerton, director of the Nurse Campus Ministry.

Both workshops are free and the general public is encouraged to attend.
Handicap Students
Face Many Problems

The buildings on the NED campus are not the safest places for a person confined to a wheelchair to move around in.

Not one building on campus is constructed to facilitate handicapped people. While there are not that many students on campus with this problem, it is very frustrating for those few who must deal with it.

At enrollment time, a handicapped student has first priority for the enrollment center and if the enrollment center is not already accommodating then the student stays there for as long as he needs assistance. In the case of the NED building, the student enters the building, gets on the elevator and then goes down four or five steps to the ground floor. In the end he will end up at the front door.

The administration is another obstacle. In one known case here on campus, the individual must go to the back door of the cafeteria and then walk up steps to get to the front door to sit in before he can eat. The reason for this is that he cannot get through the turnstiles at the front of the cafeteria.

There are only a few of the problems that exist for the handicapped students. Undoubtedly, there are many more neglected by us.

The administration is currently undertaking steps to correct some of these problems. According to Dr. Charles Angle, Dean of Instruction, ramps are being planned for the streets and the sidewalks are being dealt with. Other ramps will be built as soon as possible with the first ones constructed at the facilities which are used the most.

We only hope that "as soon as possible" is soon enough.

New NoSmokingLaw
"Old Hat" at College

Everyone is griping about the new no smoking law.

The law refers to us in the one stating that no smoking is allowed in classrooms. The reason for this new state law, NoSmokers.

If you're a smoker, cigarette smoke obviously doesn't bother you. If you're a non-smoker it might not bother you. On either hand, cigarette smoke is very annoying to some who do not smoke. Inhabitants of the small classrooms filled with smoke can be very uncomplimentary and distracting. If you don't believe us, ask some non-smokers.

When you are on the table at the same time, it's not that hard to handle. When you can't go in a room without a cigarette, and have a bad smell, in fact, it's controlled by a little nicotine wrapped in some paper with a filter stuck on the end.

For years the non-smokers have not been aware that there are other people living in their area. Just now, in the classrooms at least, they don't have to contend with it. These people have one of Oklahoma's new state laws to thank for that.

The funny thing about the "new" law, is that, according to Dr. Charles Angle, Dean of Instruction, it's been a standard policy at NED for over twenty years.

Five Years of Improvement

The first full-time counselor hired at NED, Joe T. "Pap" Hulstede, who retired in 1975 after 31 years of educational work in northeastern Oklahoma. Coming to the college in 1944, Hulstede held the position of counselor for one year before becoming housing director. He then held the position of counselor for one year before becoming housing director. He then held the position of counselor for one year before becoming housing director.

Renovation of campus buildings took place at Cunningham Hall, Shipley Hall, Oak Hall, the Wood Shop, the Machine Shop, and the old gym received improvements. The most extensive phase of this project was the "Remodel" of Cunningham Hall. A new stairway was added, an elevator was installed, and complete re-decorating made the building almost unrecognizable, on the inside anyway.

Four hundred and eleven sophomores participated in the 1973 graduation exercises at Robertson Field as Congressman Ted Runyan delivered the commencement address.

Campus Thefts Continue

NEO Security Inadequate

Northeastern A&M is currently experiencing one of the worst rash of thefts in its history, confirming this semester’s record enrollment and the fact that thefts have tripled in number from last year.

The most notable case, close to $2000 worth of cash and merchandise have been stolen from NEO students, from a 31 yr old student at Rialto Hall to a $900 thousand employee of Dyer Hall.

According to the student affairs office, Dyer is leading the other dorms in the number of thefts.

"We need two security guards on at all times and we don’t have that now," says Roy Converse, dean of student affairs. "We don’t have any guards on duty during the day.

When a delay is committed, security makes out a detailed report and sends it to the Miami police department. If, after 45 minutes, no report is filed, the police come up with a complaint description. A national program called "Shanghaied," is telephoned to the police department with this information. After the thefts have been reported, students are asked if they have a "safe" out of the building.

"We have received quite a bit of help from students," says Student Converse. "The police are working with us to help us make things safer.

Many of the thefts have been on Thursday mornings, when students are leaving the dorms for the weekend, according to Converse.

Gary Anderson of the Miami police and administration of the Neosho Police Department Friday and Saturday nights are the most active.

"We don’t have a regular and stationed at the college," says Gary Anderson, "but we work right along with security." Converse agrees. "We work real close with the sheriff’s office and the police department, so the district attorney’s office is always there.

According to the police, when an object is stolen, three things happen: the thief can sell it or give it to a friend, or try to sell it. If the case is later, complainants will not be able to recover.

The security of personal items is a concern. The police say that if you keep your things safe, they will not be stolen. Even though the police have a record of who has stolen items, they cannot find them because they have stolen.

Interviews with students and security guards suggest that if a thief might be in either Joplin or Tulsa, he may steal something. The police are trying to keep an eye on such areas.

"I really don’t think that there are any students who are not being watched," said Converse. "A lot of people use the library enough for the right purpose. Some use it as a meeting place and there are students who are trying to study," said Converse.

Fourth Quarter Barrage Leads Pratt Over Norse

Dan Rodie's four yard touchdown plunge with 31 seconds left in the game clinched a 13 point victory over the Norse in the first game at Pratt Community College as the Pratt Community College floundered at 30-19 during the second annual game played in the visitors' nest.

The Norse held NEO to 30 total yards, 30 yards rushing and 11 passing. Pratt used ball control in the first quarter, driving to the Norse 15 before turning the ball over. NEO scored first, as Thomas Gittings found a 3 yard touchdown pass to Norse Miller for the Norse lead of 6-0. Pratt added a field goal by Rich Crocheron with 28 seconds left in the half. Pratt scored as the Norse managed to pass 11 seconds left in the half. Pratt could not drive and was held to Norse. On the second play John Luttrell stopped in front of a Miller pass at midfield and went 43 yards before python the ball out of bounds. Three plays later Rodie went to the nose to the point and the score.

Halftime statistics showed Pratt out from with 116 yards rushing to NEOs 81. The Norse led in passing 15 yards to none, and last but one humble to Pratt's name. Rodie was the leading total carrier picking up 14 yards in 20 carries.

John Ziegler opened up the fourth quarter, getting 10 yards on the opening kickoff. Five plays later Rich Crocheron scored from the one yard line as a goof keeper. The big play on the drive was a 39 yard pass from Johnson to Crocheron, that gave the Norse the lead of 13-6. NEO capitalized on a Norse mistake and drove 30 yards, Crocheron over from one. The kick was no good and at the end of the third quarter NEO led 6-3.

Pratt started the scoring in the fourth quarter as Andy Howard kicked a 28 yard field goal to cut the lead to 3-3. With 11:30 left in the game defensive and Wise Thompson intercepted a Norse pass on the Norse 4. Few players. Rodie scored his second touchdown on a five yard run. Pratt went for the two point conversion as Ron Young passed to Greg Hanes and cut NEO's lead to 3-3.

Rode scored his third TD of the game with less than a minute on a four yard run, with the conversion good to make the final score 36-6.

Rode led all rushers, gaining 132 yards on 32 carries. Pratt had a total of 211 yards rushing on 42 carries. NEO's only drive was in the second quarter, 16 yards in 38. The Norse lost two fumbles for a total of 34 turnovers to Pratt's three.
