Mexico Trip
Plans Final

By MARILYN KENNEDY
Staff Reporter
Plans have been finalized for the spring break trip to Mexico City, March 14-24, according to Dr. Boyd Converse, dean of student services.

Leaving Northeastern A&M early in the morning on March 14, it is anticipated that the travelers will spend the first night at the La Quinta Hotel, in San Antonio, Tex. On the second day, after having breakfast, the group will head for Laredo, Tex., where they will cross over into Old Mexico.

The group will then travel along the Pan American Highway, passing through Monterrey and Saltillo, until reaching Mexico City. The second night will be spent in Mexico City at the La Quinta Hotel.

While in Mexico, the travelers will visit the bullfights and the Bull de Mexico, seven credit cards, as well as enjoying the food.

On the final day of the tour, the group will visit the famous bullfighting arena, the La Quinta Hotel.

The trip is designed to give students the opportunity to see the sights and experience the culture of old Mexico.

Additional information will be available soon, and those interested in going should contact Dr. Converse in Room 311 of the Administration Building.

Regents Warn
Beware ‘Diploma Mills’

The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education have designated 124 programs as diploma mills.

In a letter written at the Regent’s discretion to college and school officials throughout the state Chancellor C. E. Dunn said that the State Regents had discovered such institutions operating illegally in Oklahoma.

He noted that some of the institutions are accredited in their own states, but not in Oklahoma.

Others are simply diploma mills seeking to “prey on the gullible.”

The usual method of diploma mill operation is to offer college course work or degrees, including the Ph. D. degree, at tuition rates and in a short amount of time.

A total of 124 programs were identified as diploma mills.

Motorcycle Designated

“Three parking areas for motorcycles have been designated,” according to Dr. Boyd Converse, dean of student services at Northeastern A&M.

Areas available for motorcycle parking are on the east side of the campus ontbl 12 Street and the east side of 11th Street.

The parking areas will be marked by signs, and motorists are asked to park their motorcycles in these designated areas.

The lighting of the campus will be improved in these areas.

The Matchmaker... is a scene from the dramatic production of "Pillar on the Dust" by the Drama Department of the University of Oklahoma. The play is directed by Dr. Charles W. Stiles. The cast includes several students from the University of Oklahoma. The play is scheduled for opening night on November 20th.
CLEANING PROBLEMS—Strong evidence supporting the fact that Nurse's Editor, Dave Kinder, has discovered the maintenance problem on campus is the classroom located on the first floor of Cooper Hall. This classroom has approximately 25 students and appears to be the classroom with the most problems.

Spirited of Christmas Relies On Greediness

The true spirit of the season is not to be found in the excesses of the holiday season. The true spirit of Christmas is found in the simple acts of kindness and generosity. The true spirit of Christmas is found in the joy of giving and receiving. The true spirit of Christmas is found in the love and warmth of family and friends. The true spirit of Christmas is found in the peace and tranquility of the holiday season.

Girls Dorm Unsanitary

The dorms on campus are unsanitary. The halls are dirty, the rooms are cluttered, and the overall atmosphere is uninviting. The students who live in these dorms are constantly exposed to health hazards. The lack of proper cleaning and maintenance is putting the health and safety of the students at risk.

Yuletide Farewell

With the yuletide rapidly approaching, the staff of The Westside is preparing to return home and celebrate yet another Christmas. Good luck with your plans, and we hope to see you all in the New Year. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

The Way It Is

Was President Ford's trip to China necessary, or was it just another "deterrence your enemies" maneuver? Quite obvious in the fact that it is relations with China aren't the test. China has openly displayed their anger, even actual hostility toward America in many areas of international affairs. The "Third World" has been beaten by China against most American positions in the United Nations. Two-way trade between the two nations has double from about $1 billion a year to less than half that amount this year.

Americans who are given visas to visit China must be selected to fit a pattern of the kind of American we want. Since few people will believe the U.S. has put itself in the position of paying a price to get more Americans into China, it is quite evident that, in taking such a trip, President Ford deliberately brainwashed the friendship with the U.S. share of Taiwan. Taiwan is built on everything America believes in and the President's travels overseas to have tax with the Communist Chinese.

If the reason for going is China to try and improve diplomatic relations, then President Ford dramatically violated diplomatic proprieties with Taiwan in an effort to improve conditions with a country which has already denounced the U.S. Line.

Braving thunderstorms and tornadoes, I devoted to Tulsa Dec. 1 to attend WINTER” TV at the Sheraton Skyline East. This was my first live experience, and it was by all means not my last. STAR TREK BLOOPERS

The movie was somewhat altered. Among the changes were the original PLANET OF THE APES with Charlton Heston, THE LONE RANGER AND THE LOST CITY OF GOLDS, with Clayton Moore and Jay Silverheels, and a WYALritic THE DRUIDS OF PU MANCHU. They also showed several STAR TREK TV shows, and an extra trip they had the Star Trek BLOOPERS.

The program really gives an insight into what went on behind the scenes at Star Trek. They show why the stars left the series as much as they did, partly because producer Roddenberry left them away from having enough money or having too little. Some scenes in which Spock cracks up and falls on the floor laughing is worth any price of admission.

On hand to give a talk on the comic book business was Mar- vel’s Archie Goodman. Hearing someone inside the business talk about it was fascinating. He gave him a question, and he asked, “Oh, I was talking to Stan. ‘Lew about that just last week.‘ At that moment in the audience about to be hit by the floor. Also there were articles by William V. Journo, Bruce Jones, and Bernie Wrightson. Gallard Sarken came on Saturday: I went up to him and asked him, “Can I have your signature?” and he said, “No.” (He finally did.)

Norsewomen Defeat Coffeyville Team

Going into the season, the Norsewomen were looking to improve upon their previous year's performance. Despite being a young team, they started strong by defeating the Coffeyville Lady Redhawks on the road. The Norsewomen's defense was solid, limiting Coffeyville's scoring opportunities, while their offense was efficient, scoring strategically and maintaining possession.

Women Lose To Tifftanettes

The Norsewomen faced tough competition against the Tifftanettes, who were known for their strong defensive play. The game was closely contested throughout, with both teams demonstrating resilience and determination. Despite a valiant effort, the Norsewomen fell just short in this particular encounter.

In Brothers Footsteps

The Norsemen continued their tradition of excellence, following in the footsteps of their predecessors. Their performance was characterized by teamwork and a strong work ethic. The coaching staff emphasized the importance of learning from past experiences and building on that legacy.

Little Sister Follows

The Norsemen's success story inspired the younger sister to follow in their footsteps. This new recruit brought a fresh perspective to the team, contributing to its growing strength.

Four Box In Tournament

The Norsemen secured a spot in the four-box-in tournament, showcasing their ability to handle pressure situations and make strategic decisions under the spotlight.

Claremore Pins NEO Wrestlers

Claremore's wrestling team put in a strong performance, leveraging their training and experience to secure victory over the NEO Wrestlers. Their coaching strategies and individual skills were evident in the matches.

Claremore's Intramural Wins

Claremore's Intramural team demonstrated their versatility and skill across various sports, achieving consistent success in different categories.

Norsemen Beat Coffeyville Team

The Norsemen defeated Coffeyville in a hard-fought battle, exemplifying their resilience and tactical prowess. The victory was a testament to their team spirit and dedication.

Northeastern AM&N's Golden Norse: Nixon

The Golden Norse of Northeastern AM&N recorded a notable victory against the Coffeyville Lady Redhawks. Their success was attributed to a strong defensive line and effective offensive strategies.

The story of the Norsewomen's triumph against Coffeyville and the Norsemen's competitive spirit was covered in detail, highlighting the determination and skill that characterized their performances.

In conclusion, the Norsemen and Norsewomen continued to make strides in their respective sports, demonstrating the value of perseverance, teamwork, and strategic planning. Each victory brought them closer to achieving their goals, setting the stage for even greater achievements in the future.
Houston's Ball Bouncing for Norisman Offense

By STEVE BUZZARD
Sports Editor

It's been rumored that down in Texas, athletes are the next best natural resource, second of course, to oil and gas.

A glance at the roster of the 1975-76 Northeastern A&M basketball squad reveals that head coach Clitus Green inherited hardly the abundant resource.

The roster shows eight from the black star state, included 6'4" sophomore Sam Ball from Houston. Ball, hailing from Houston's Milby High School has been a mainstay with the Houston northsiders, emerging this season as a hard-hitting and leader of a predominantly freshman team.

Last season, Ball and the A&M team as a whole, was in disarray. In 37 games, the team was 15-22. The 1975-76 season was a 17-17 full.

Ball's strong season, however, was in rebounding. His 13.6 average was the best average since 1967-68.

Ball's true strength, however, is his one-on-one skills. Last year we were probably the best team in the nation. This year, we're not as good as we were, but we've got a lot of good players and we've got a lot of depth.

Ball has had to adjust to a new role this year.

"I've had a little problem getting used to playing center. I'm not used to that role, but I've been doing better. I'm able to handle it now."

The season is far from over, but Ball is the leading scorer on a team that has a chance to make the NCAA tournament.

Ball has been averaging 21 point per game, which is the 10th best in the country.

Ball has been the key to the team's success. He is a catalyst for the team's success. He is a leader on and off the court. His presence has been instrumental in the team's success.

Santa Visits NEO Party

December 16 has been set as the date for the annual Faculty Children’s Christmas party to be held at 3:00 p.m. in the Carter student union lounge.

All faculty and student members children under 13 are invited. A few of the children will provide the entertainment. Those performing are: 8-year-old Adam Smith singing, 5-year-old Debbie Prevost and 8-year-old Julie Copley playing the piano, 8-year-old Jamie Maxwell and 4-year-old Sharla Misofski doing a dance routine, 8-year-old David Amstutz singing, 5-year-old Mary Ann Holland performing a rendition and playing the piano, 9-year-old Ramona Dallas playing the piano and 5-year-old Analysa Berry playing the piano.

Master of ceremonies for the party will be Joel White, accompanied by Ken Wilson dressed as Santa Claus.

Gifts will be presented to the children by Santa Claus with coffee and cookies provided for the parents.

Combined Concert Stated For Center

Combining the talents of the Northeastern A&M Chorus and Musetitangas a concert will be held Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Finney Auditorium. The chorus, conducted by David Niven, will join the Musetitangas, conducted by Clark Dugger, in presenting various choral music.

“A collection of festive songs by Brahms and Reiner in the Latin by Benjamin Britten will be among the selections,” commented Clark Dugger, Musetitangas director.

“We usually give two concerts for the student body. Along with this performance we will hold a Pop concert April 8. We are keeping busy doing many civic performances,” said Dugger.

The concert will be open to the entire student body, faculty, and the public at no charge.
