Grant Forms Now Available To Students

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant applications are now available to students in the Financial Aid office.

Anyone who has not been in a post-secondary school prior to April 1, 1973 is eligible to apply, according to Arnold D. Oliver.

The BEOG is a grant and, unlike a loan, does not have to be repaid. It is estimated that during the 1973-74 academic year the awards will range between $200 and $600.

To apply, a student should secure and complete an application for determination of eligibility. Your application will be processed free of charge.

Within four weeks a Student Eligibility Report (SER) will indicate the results of the application.

The SER should then be submitted to the student Financial Aid Office of the institution in which you plan to enroll, in order for the amount of the grant to be calculated.

Overstay stressed that students pick up their applications and apply now.

Peace And Quiet Request

While all the noise pollution sounds today you would think enough people would be fed up and complain so we could have a little peace and quiet in our dorms. Delusions is full in particular.

Recently, the noise level on the floor that I live has become tremendous. It has been almost impossible to sleep, especially if I try to go to bed before midnight. Why is it that everyone feels obligated to yell at each other all the time? It is just as easy to walk down to someone's room to see if they are there, instead of standing at the other end of the hall and yelling their lungs out. It's nice status on everyone else's ears.

I think it's about time we all start to think about keeping our volume down to a milder pitch so that other people in the dorm can study or sleep.

Mainly, all I ask is for a little consideration from those who are in that habit of screaming. Instead of taking it as a normal tone of voice.

Riot Squad

The other night while attending my first home basketball game, I noticed a group of characters clad in blue and gold Northeastern AK with their caps up in the upper level, and made life miserable for those universal villains, the referees. For instance, when a rebound made a questionable judgment against NEU, they chanted, "Elevator, Elevator, Elevator Shot." You see the elevator. You got the shot.

In these days of democratic participation and equality, a group of boisterous like this is very refreshing. So members of the Riot Squad hang in there!

NEO Advantages

NEO means many things to many people. For those just out of high school, it offers an opportunity for the student to either stay at home or be close to home. Counseling is provided to prepare the student for transferring to another college after two years of basic curricular.

Now two years courses are provided so that the student will graduate with a certificate that allows him to go directly into the job. Many other advantages of a junior college are, in particular, being listed.

I have heard another advantage of NEO that I was not aware until last fall. After many years of being out of school, I decided to renew my high school certificate. After checking with my advisor at OEO, I found that several of the hours I needed to fulfill my requirements could be taken here at our junior college and credit accepted at Ohio State.

Perhaps there are other adults in the community who would be interested in renewing an old certification or in some other way prepare themselves for a position of some sort.

This opportunity NEO offers is very meaningful to me because it is much less expensive and I do not have to be away from my family or move them to another part of the state.

Efforts Made To Pep Up NEO Spirit

Whenever you go to an NEO basketball game, you can always count on the pep band being there to bolster some spirit. But, after a while, you begin to notice that the crowd could care less if the band is there at all.

The band plays for twenty to thirty minutes before and after the game and during halftime, but you rarely hear any appreciation for the musicians after they finish. About the only time anyone ever stops with the band is when they play the fight song.

The twelve people who are in the pep band practice on their own time every Wednesday night, plus the night of each game. The band members enjoy playing and having a good time, but it's kind of depressing when the crowd does not show appreciation for the music.

These people were hand-picked by Dr. Robert Stockman, music director, for the sole purpose of bringing a little spirit into the games. If their music is not appreciated, then it is not really worth their time to play for you.

Faculty Members Designate Students For Who's Who

By Terry Chapman

Members of a Northeastern A&M Who's Who editorial board have chosen 22 students to represent the college in the 23rd edition of Who's Who Among Students in America's Junior Colleges.

Annually, each junior college is asked to select a limited number of students to be included in Who's Who. This year NIA&M was allowed 25 selections, but only 22 met the rigid qualifications established.

"To be included in Who's Who is an honored honor," commented James Carver, dean of student affairs.

It signifies that the students were among the best students in America and that their talents were numerous and diverse. It also serves as a permanent personal reference for those selected," he added.

The selection committee was comprised of Dr. Charles Anderson, dean of instruction; Walter Gibbons, chairman of the board; and Dr. J. R. Johnson, assistant professor of education. The committee's task was to select 22 students who had excelled academically.

Miss Trout was escorted by Tom Cook, a Grove sophomore. Tom Hendris, president of the student senate, crowned Miss Trout during the halftime activities. Themes for the homecoming activities were "Our Love Our Team." Some of Miss Trout's scholastic activities include president of the French club, vice-president of the debate club, vice-president of the French club, and member of the Student Senate. She is a member of the NIA&M chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, a member of the Student Senate, and a member of the NIA&M chapter of Phi Theta Kappa.

Students Choose To Donate Time To Miami Boys Club

Twelve NIA&M students have chosen to donate a portion of their time at the Miami Boys Club as a part of the Crime Prevention Program, a course, a course, a course, a course, a course.

The main purpose of the outside laboratory is to enable students to observe and analyze their environment and to become aware of the problems that prevail in delinquent behavior, according to Mr. Wofford, instructor of the course.

A total of 20 hours per semester will be spent by each student working with the boys under the supervision of Mr. Miller, Director of the Boys Club.

The group will help organize activities for the juvenile boys and will attempt to instill principles of self-discipline and character in the young people as they may develop a more positive attitude toward society.

Students will also attend the Miami Boys' Club Board of Directors meetings to observe the organization's structure and to learn the general functions of the Boys Club of America.

All students enrolled in the Crime Prevention class are also required to attend a session on social psychology or criminal justice majors and have taken sociology or criminal justice as a prerequisite course.
