Election Shows Rate of Neglect

Election of class officers, held recently on the N EOS campus, showed an even larger percentage of non-involvement that was initially feared.

Class meetings, which included speeches by candidates, were held Wednesday, Sept. 3. Not even half of the freshmen or sophomore classes were represented in these meetings—students who were not chosen to attend class meetings. Elections were held the following day, Thursday, Sept. 4, by the election of class officers. Thirteen candidates ran for ten positions. Thirteen freshmen and sophomores voted. The major cause of this result is the lack of campaign time and the student's desire to get away from the usual work of college. The student body considers that it is too much work to spend time on such activities and that the candidates should have more time to campaign.

In general, the election showed that the problem is not one of the candidates' ability to win a campaign, but of the lack of interest in the activities of the student body. The candidates and the voters do not see the significance of the election in terms of the future of the student body. Tackled hard—Northeastern A&M runningback Willie Brooks threw a hard hit from behind the two-yard line last weekend. Brooks gained 2 yards on a carry as the Hornets won 32-6 in a game played recently at Robertson Field.

Third Quarter Surge Energizes Norsemen

Northeastern A&M’s Golden Norsemen turned around three touchdowns to defeat Highlands Community College, 56-0. The Norsemen came out of the first half with a 14-0 lead.

Neither team could move in the first quarter. Highlands outgained the Norsemen in total yards, 283 to 157. Highlands’ defense held the Norsemen to 127 yards in the first half.

In the second quarter, Hess was stopped on the two-yard line. Hess was tackled by Tailback Andre Harris with less than a minute left in the half. Highlands scored on a drive right to the half, 7-0.

In the third quarter, Hess was stopped again, and Highlands scored on a drive right to the half, 7-0.

The second half was anything but exciting for the Norsemen. Highlands scored on a drive right to the half, 7-0.

The third quarter was all Hess. Hess took the ball and ran it for 40 yards and scored his final touchdown of the game.

In the fourth quarter, Hess was stopped again, and Highlands scored on a drive right to the half, 7-0.

The game ended with Hess scoring his final touchdown of the game.

Speaking of Star Trek...Gene Roddenberry has given hints about the plot of the upcoming Star Trek movie. The story of the film may include a brief history of how the Federation of Planets got started (the film company argues the will show down the nation's young troubadours and other characters, and is led by an alien from planet Zor to warn the crew of the Enterprise about seven years after the events of the first film. Exposed to certain dangers that make them feel older, everything must be a little faster than usual, and yet very well done.

ALEX HOBBS AND ROSIE is a love story. It's only fair to warn you before you go see it. Although it's going to be an updated version of "American Graffiti," it's an adventure film full of wild cars and a romance. Who can say? It's a tragic love story about two people who are victims of circumstances. For the first time, they're running, they're in love; which is ultimately Wendy Allen has a flair for the words. In "TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN" he was a bumbling crook. In "BANANAS" he was a nifty revolutionary. Now, in his latest movie, "LOVE AND DEATH," he's an incompetent general. "BANANAS" was one of the best comedies of the year. If this movie is even better, it's a good, funny movie. If you like dirty jokes, you'll like it.

In October Universal Pictures will start production on the film version of Nicholas Meyer's novel, "THE SEVEN PERCENT SOLUTION." Director Mencken will play Sherlock Holmes, Laurence Olivier will play Professor Moriarty, and Alan Arkin will play Sigmund Freud. "Meyer's unusual screenplay" is said to be a very good film, if they take it directly from the book.

The Superman film has been entitled "SUPERMAN II," for the bicentennial.

Underground car dealer Vanya Bode, creator of Cheech W Andersen, was found dead in his home July 18. A small family service was held for him in his home. A group of his friends said they would be sorry to lose him. A small statue of Cheech Andersen was 35 years old.
