Science Fair Plans Revealed
By Donna Carroll
Associate News Editor

The annual Science Fair sponsored by the Northwest Arkansas M & M College will be held on March 19, according to Dorothy Cates, director of the event.

"The purpose of the science fair is to bring students to the Northwest Arkansas campus and to increase their interest in science among high school and junior high students," said Cates.

"We are expecting approximately 150 entries with around 400 people attending the event." Carroll said.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. on Friday, March 19 and run to 11:30 a.m. on Bennett Hall. Other activities scheduled for Friday include the reading of weather papers on Room 106. Thursday, March 18 will be the day for exhibits of the public from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., with a general assembly at 10:00 a.m. on the campus auditorium.

"The Northeastern A M will be the key sponsors of the event because it has been successful in the past. We have grown our program and we look forward to the fair, and we feel it is worthwhile," said Cates.

Group Tours Dallas

"Understanding Your Own Sexuality" is the topic for a new Campus Ministry workshop to be held on March 19 at the Methodist Church. According to Rev. Bob Cates, sponsor of the Campus Ministry, supported workshop will be in charge of the activities which will be open to the students.

Worship and discussion meetings will be held on March 19 and March 22. Discussion groups will be held concerning matters of interest to students.

Financial Aid Workshop To Be Held On Campus

Admissions and Financial Aid workshops will be held at Northeastern College, M & M College, March 19, April 2, and April 19. Students are encouraged to attend the workshops to gain an understanding of financial aid opportunities available to students.

The workshops are designed to help students and their families make informed decisions about college funding. Information about available aid programs will be provided. Financial aid representatives will be available to answer questions about the aid process.

Proctor's Error Summons Police

What began as an innocent joke was followed by a fear of reprisals when a student party raid on Daltech on the night of February 17 became an all-out, all-night police battle. After about an hour or so of group of 10 other girls, we were going down street and the two girls on the street were arrested at 11:30 p.m. This plan was ruled when someone from us flung the discusort the ground.

A new line of attack was developed. The girls from Daltech decided to ring through fire hose. A man, dressed as a man, was found in the time, the man was seen to be taking a rest and was then rushed to a police station.

One of the police officers saw people gathering outside and told a police to call security," remarked Yvonne Young, Northeastern A M secretary director.

New Melodrama Tryouts Planned

Troywood for "Dark of the Moon," the next production of the Northeastern A&M drama department, will be held March 1, at room 209 at the Fine Arts Center, according to Dean Nichols, play director. The play, which is a musical but contains a lot of singing, is based on the Greek legend of Barabbas Allen. The story concerns a man who was forced to become a criminal through the love of Barabbas.

Service Offices Change Sites

Plans to centralize the student service offices and the audio-visual shop and print shop have been announced by Dr. D. D. Goff, Northeastern A&M President.

The plan includes moving the Financial Aid Office from Statley Hall and Vocational Rehabilitation office from the basement of the Library Administration Building, and relocating the offices on the second floor of the Library Administration Building.

Office space for the relocated offices will be made by rezoning the Saunders andおかの, which is located across from the Student Services Center.

The Audio Visual Shop and Print Shop will be expanded into the office space in the Library Administration Building vacated by the Vocational Rehabilitation office. Printing equipment will be moved into a storage area across the hall from the present print shop location.

Compendious Aids College Publications

College publications are taking on a new look due to the addition of a Compendious Aids College print shop, located in the basement of the Library Administration Building.

The machine, which can produce approximately 25,000 items per day, is a new development in the printing field. The new machine, called the "Compendious Aids," is designed to produce a variety of printed materials quickly and efficiently.

The new machine is being used by the college to produce a variety of printed materials, including catalogs, brochures, and other marketing materials. The machine is able to produce these materials at a much faster rate than traditional printing methods, allowing the college to produce more materials in less time.

The machine uses a combination of digital and offset printing processes to produce the materials. The digital process allows for quick and easy changes to the design of the materials, while the offset process allows for high-quality printing of a large number of copies.

The new machine has also helped to reduce the cost of producing these materials. By reducing the time it takes to produce the materials, the college is able to save money on labor costs.

Spring break practice at Northwestern ADM concluded last week with the annual Blue-Gold scrimmage on Robinson Field.

Head Coach Bob Berry conducted the early drills with 25 returning lettermen and six newcomers among the 59 players who participate.

The Golden Norse are looking forward to next fall and the new football season with confidence, and high hopes of improving on last year's 5-9 record.

"We assume some real quality lettermen, with excellent transfers to go along with them," said Berry.

Coach who has training and transfers with a good core of returnees is the number of players for a successful football season at NED in 1976.

"Our team is a good one, with a lot of high school all-stars," said Berry about the recruiting year. "We've signed some outstanding people for the second year in a row, and I think we can do it for us all.

NU defense proved very good in a semi-final game, and with a new maturing experience, the Norse defenders could be ranked hard in '76.

The defense is a bit more of a question mark because there are a few new men in it.

There are few people to fill their shoes, but several who can express Tad White, who can fill the considerable acting in the NU backfield next fall.

At quarterback it appears as if the high pressure will be at that position in the first half of the season. In fact, the 120th class can't be too bad, but he has more than adequate capabilities as a signal caller.

"Overall, we're very strong on offense," said Buzzard.

Northwestern ADM has put together a strong defensive line and is ready to tackle the big schedule for the 1975 season.

Now how the season ends is the question. The Norse will report to the north for a few days of maturing practice and will then return to the north for

Following the Independence game, the Norse will receive an early test from the 120th class and will be challenged by one of the best.

The first unit in the game was a 4-1-5 Joe Martin, Scott 5-2.

Another Northwestern ADM game will be played in the 118B class, losing by the score, to Blaine, using the 118B class to push the ball across the goal line.

The Norse defeated the improvement with a 4-1-5 Joe Martin, Scott 5-2.

In the first half of the game, the Norsemen scored two touchdowns and a field goal.

Both Malcolm and Szyma scored the first half touchdowns, and Malcolm was picked in the 118B class.

Northwestern ADM women's teams played a highly successful regular season, being eliminated in the semi-finals of the Regional Tournament by Northern Ohio College. To battle, the Lady Norse won 74-64.

In this game, the leading scorer in the Regional Tournament was Gail Doty, who scored 19 points, followed closely by Bonnie Young, who scored 18 points.

Five returning lettermen add to the depth of the Northeastern A&M track team, and Coach D. Bruce Berry said his squad is ready to make another strong showing this year.

Berry said his team has a solid line-up in sprints, hurdles, middle-distance running and distance.

The Norse are expected to have a good showing in the 440-yard dash, with returners David White, John White, and Bernardie Butler. Butler is expected to be the top performer in the 1-mile run.

Berry also said the Norse will have strong performers in the 800-yard, 1,600-yard, and 3,200-yard races.

Northeastern A&M's track team will compete in the Kansas Relays this weekend, and Berry said he is confident his team can do well.

He said he is particularly excited about the performance of returning athlete David White, who he believes has the potential to be a top performer in the 440-yard dash.

Berry also praised the contributions of returning athletes John White and Bernardie Butler, who he said have shown great improvement in their respective events.

He added that the Norse will also have strong performances in the middle-distance and distance races, with returners expected to do well in the 800-yard, 1,600-yard, and 3,200-yard races.

Registrar Urges Spring Graduate Check Credits

Students who expect to graduate in May 1976, must submit the required forms, according to James Boone, director of admissions and registrar.

"We are working with the list of students who, in the time of enrollment, marked they expected to graduate. We have heard that many of these students are short hours," explained Boone. "Students meeting hours can get these hours by community services we set up with the college."

There are also those who marked that they did not expect to graduate but have the required hours to graduate. We want students to step by step as soon as possible, so the graduations can be confirmed and the diploma can be ordered," explained Boone.

Students must have 60 hours of college credit plus two hours in physical education to graduate. All students who want to graduate check with the registrar to have their two credits.

McDonald Co., Inc. owned by Robert Baker, Jay, and Phil Sangu, operated a check point at the Fine Americans' food and beer venture.

The breakfast stand will travel next to the Houston, Tex. March 9th.
