Senate Party Livens Kids' Christmas

By Ruby Cavins

"Every child who adopted a child had a warm feeling inside, knowing that he or she had made a child happy," commented Linda Bosenwell, student council chairman for the annual Children's Christmas Party, held Monday night.

Over 172 children were adopted by NEO students, and were treated to dinner either on campus or downtown. The children were then ushered to the new gymnasium, where they saw a puppet show presented by the drama department, received presents, and got to meet Santa.

Senate Party Livens Kids' Christmas

By Ruby Cavins

"The number of children adopted was average considering the sparsity among the students during the adoption, and the lack of biddings we received," said Bosenwell. "Even so, I think the party was a success, those students who enjoyed the party and it unshouldsly be the high point of their Christmas."

"As of yet the stress has no plans for a party next year. Whether or not there will be one will be voted on by next year's senate. Data is being compiled so that next year's senate will have some information to go by."

Silmon Uses Thumping Style

In Playing Bass for Singers

Have you ever wanted something so bad that you could hardly wait for that special moment to arrive? This sentiment describes Tulsa freshman Keith Silmon's wish. Silmon plays bass guitar for the Messengers.

"I was interested in playing the guitar in high school, so he made a vow to himself to play. "I had to practice a lot," explained Silmon. "It will really pay off in the long run."

In high school Silmon was a member of the stage band and the chorus.

Silmon plans a career in music. Silmon has been involved in music all of his life, but has only been playing the bass for four years. Before coming to NEO, the energetic freshman played in a group called the Smokey and People Incorporated. These groups joined for many different organizations to gain the needed exposure involved in this kind of business. Paying for concerts, dances, parties, and night clubs.

Faculty Sponsors Christmas Party

The annual Faculty Children's Christmas Party is going to be held in the cafeteria Monday, Dec. 11, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The annual party is held every year for the faculty and staff and their families. "It's one of the nicest occasions for the faculty and staff to be together," stated Carolyn Dullan, president-elect of the Faculty Club.

The faculty will be serving as the barmen for the evening. Although all entertainment will be presented by the children of the faculty and staff, as a special presentation, a Venezuelan student and his family will give ideas on their Christmas customs and traditions. Also Don Nichols, moderator for the evening will be aboard the crew a pop concert. And how we can forget Santa Claus will arrive bringing gifts for the 111 children who will be attending.

The annual party is a school sponsored activity.

Thanks Santa

Juan Reidel displays the hat he received during the Christmas Party held last Monday.

Winter Car Care Tips for Students

Silmon's Notes: This is the fifth in a series of a four-part series which will hopefully give the students of NEO a better knowledge on winter car care.

Now that we have explored some of the most common issues - car care problems during the winter months, let's take a look at some of the things you, the driver need to watch out for on the road.

In some white powdery stuff that makes the streets a delight for skiers, makes driving hazardous on company different types of weather, and driving on snow and ice can be one of the worst experience a driver can encounter.

A FEW OF THE THINGS TO WATCH OUT FOR ARE: starting and accelerating, icy snow and icy road can cause your car to slide, slowing down and stopping require extra distance, or you might find yourself sliding through a low speed.

If you happen to be pulling a trailer, watch out! They seem to be inclined to try and get ahead of the vehicle towing it. During slowdowns and stops (accelerating).

Fort Scott Tourney
Matmen Triumph

By Curtis McMains
Sports Editor

Finishing second out of seven teams, the Norse of NRD's victory wrestling squad competed in the annual Fort Scott Junior College Wrestling Invitational at Fort Scott, Kan. in an unscheduled tournament.

Coach Bill Yocom's squad fell just four points short of taking the tournament crown by finishing with 59 points while Bourbon County of Parsons, Kan. finished with 62.6. Fort Scott placed third with 444; Coffeyville, 23; Labette County junior varsity, 20; Central Kansas University, 19; and William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo., 4.

The Norse went on to meet other junior colleges in the National Junior College Tournament at Crowder Community College, Saturday, Dec. 9, and Monday, Dec. 11. The Norse traveled to Wichita City to face Ocean State JC in a dual match.

Forward Mabins Displays Talents

By Jeff Goodbody

One of the most valuable assets a basketball team can have is a player who excels in defense and free throw shooting. NRD's Martin Mabins, 6-foot forward from Gary, Ind., has been the Greek God of defense for the Norse. Mabins has the nickname of "The Greek God of Defense." Mabins is a starter last year's starters in free throws, leading the Norse in that category this year, finishing this year on 14-for-14. Last season, Mabins finished with a 74.4 average of 58.

"He's not only fulfilling the role of a starter, but also the offensive and defensive player," said coach Dan Green.

The graduate of Horace Mann High School in Gary earned All-State and All-City honors his senior year. Martin Mabins has been a constant force on defense for the Norse.

When Mabins is on the court, he prefers to go against his opponent who can provide a challenge for him. "I like to see the other team pace games," he said.

"I feel I need improvement on my shooting," he said.

"I've been shooting for a long time," he said. "I've practiced and studied the courts and found ways to improve my shooting.

"I think I've developed a lot over time and I've become more consistent with my shooting."

"I also practice a lot and play with different teams," he said.

"I've been a part of a lot of teams," he said. "I've had the opportunity to play against different types of opponents."

NEO Maintenance Department Criticized by Student Attitudes

Dear Editor,

In a recent article that appeared in the Student, an issue was presented that I feel might be of interest to all students. It is the problem of the NEO Maintenance Department, faulted for being careless, uncooperative, and inefficient. I feel that this particular key would be the most important one for the replacement of the locks on our dorms. It is the direct target for their actions, for this key is the one that is the only way we could ever get into our dorms, since the only place we could go was the dorm itself. And we were both happy and kind, but to wait and see the problem of that key was not amusing to us.

To be informed that the key would be replaced was totally responsible for us and the maintenance department. The key was going to be replaced by a new one, and that key would be placed in the dorm. We would get our keys back, and we were both happy and kind, but to wait and see the problem of the key was not amusing to us. It was actually paid out and paid by the students themselves. It should result in better efficiency applied maintenance. The keys are taken out on, as well as paid for, by the students.

As a resident of the dorms at NEO, I have not been able to find a room to suit my needs. Earlier this year I lost my key to the door (along with a keychain) that I would like to find, but it has been reported to me that the dorm parent was instructed to tell maintenance that a new key had been lost. So, I wrote the letter by hand and delivered it to the maintenance.

With all due respect, the problem seemed to be solved. I agreed that the dorm parent was instructed to tell maintenance that a new key had been lost. So, I wrote the letter by hand and delivered it to the maintenance.

Until recently, I have been working toward the goal of increasing the efficiency of the maintenance department. I have been told by maintenance that it was not possible to get the keys back until the next time a key was needed. I was aware that maintenance would do it as soon as possible.

Finally the lock was fixed. During the process, though, I was awakened at 7:45 a.m. for two consecutive mornings and finally the whole door-and-window lock was removed. It was to be replaced because they said nothing was stolen. We had a really good report on the new keys returned.

Since all of this, I have moved into a different room. I had been in this room almost two days before I saw what was going on. It is very ugly and also hard to keep in the room now. We were told by maintenance that it wasn’t fixed over the Christmas holidays, but it probably wouldn’t be fixed until next winter. A rip-off for $125.50 a month.

The key that had been left earlier was brought to my attention full-force the first day. I had no key to the door and my roommate’s key was no use. No keys were available at the time, either, so I was forced to contend with the “lock.” I was forced to get in my room.

I learned as she described it that my previously lost key was being used by some unknown individual to enter other people’s rooms and the old key was never returned. I had no idea who the individual was or what they were doing. I was unaware that maintenance had been informed. It was to be replaced because they said nothing was stolen. We had a really good report on the new keys returned.

Junior College Admission Requirements Standards Need Improved

Admission into a junior college can be achieved by anyone. The requirements set for admission into a junior college will vary from one college to another. The student needs to fulfill these requirements and get into a junior college. The GED test can be taken and act as equivalent to a high school diploma.

The purpose of a junior college is for those graduating from high school or obtaining a GED. The test will be used in placement in certain classes.

Graduation from high school or obtaining a GED is required for admission to any junior college. No certain score must be made on the GED test. The test will be used in placement in certain classes.

The ACT test is a must in obtaining the requirements for admission to any junior college. The ACT test must be made up on a certain date and the student must pass the ACT test in order to be admitted into a junior college.
