Campus Parking Poses Problems

By Terry Robinson

Traffic. We all know what a problem it has become. Fighting for a parking space is nobody's idea of a good time.

Hubert Bone, traffic officer, recently disclosed a few of the problems encountered during the year. "Parking in business and faculty sections and over the yellow lines presents the biggest problems," stated Bone. "Especially when someone parks wrong and therefore causes someone else to get a ticket by parking wrong."

Bone went on to say that the basic rules to follow are the ones given to you in the handbook you received when you got your parking sticker. All students who park in the student lot without a permit or who pay $5 for all-day parking are considered delinquent and cannot be appealed. If a student refuses to pay the ticket, grades and transcripts will be withheld and the student would not be able to re-enroll because of this.

A permanent record of traffic violations is kept in the business office, but are only for NEOU use. They are not given to the county or state officials.

"There is one parking lot which is not used by students," said Bone. "A few parking lots have been added in the past year but two kids don't want to walk very far to get to their classes.

We have a real good group of students last year and I think we'll have even more this year. New lines have been added and students should have sufficient parking space if they park where they are supposed to, according to Bone."

Two Week Orientation

Library Skills Reviewed

All students enrolled in English 1113 will be required to attend the annual library orientation program, which is tentatively set for Sept. 19. The almost two-week program will cover the workings and the materials available in the library. Basic library skills and the variety of materials will be emphasized in the audio-visual presentations. Orientation will be conducted by the library staff, working in conjunction with English teachers. Two freshman classes per hour will tour each of the library areas and become familiar with its workings. Staff members will be using video monitors to help instruct the students.

The orientation is designed to help students locate and use all of the resources available in the library. Students will be provided with a handbook that describes the various aspects of the library. Students may confer with librarians, the exercises are administered at the end of each section and appear in the form of quizzes. So paying careful attention is a must.

Tom Ban, Learning Resources Center director, stresses the fact that library personnel are always available to point students in the right direction.

Our library has a wealth of materials which can help students immerses in their studies. It is my hope that during this year our faculty and students will be utilized to their fullest.

Electronic Scanner Reduces Resources Center Losses

The continuing problem of disappearing library materials prompted Tom Ban, Learning Resources Center director, to authorize the installation of a Checkpoint MK 2 in the library. "Checkpoint," a walk-through electronic detection system, is designed to prevent unauthorized removal of materials from the library. Students entering the LRC are checked manually by a turnstile guard. Presently, this is done subject to inspection. Many students do not have personal items checked by library employees. Tom Ban feels that removing the素质 of a "ticking will improve public relations, which before were not good.

New students are able to enter the library at their own pace; rather than waiting in line to be searched. Since Checkpoint is designed to pick up a signal from a device placed within the books, that hasn't been properly deactivated, it is more accurate than a turnstile guard.

Sophomore Coed Exhibits Hobby

Janet Sharman, Tulsa sophomore, has one of the unique oddities found on campus—she keeps bees! It all started when she became interested in rag rug making. While watching her sister's husband working on his beekeeping hobby, Janet Sharman learned the basics of beekeeping. She was hooked and decided to pursue the hobby herself. Janet Sharman now has several hives in her backyard and spends much of her spare time tending to the bees and their needs.

Although no design of the Norcross was available, the shoemaker's volunteer toiled night and day on the Norcross. He worked on the design for the Norcross, the committee was satisfied with his work and the Norcross was completed in time for the grand opening.

The Norcross is a work of art and a testament to the skill of the shoemaker. It is a wonderful example of the craftsmanship that goes into creating such a beautiful piece of furniture. The Norcross is a true masterpiece and a testament to the dedication and hard work of the shoemaker who created it.

School Activities Ease Boredom

Feeling bored? You say there is nothing to do? Well, you haven't checked out many activities available on and off the campus of NEO. When was the last time you attended a school football game or any other sport activity? NEO sponsors a wide variety of sports ranging from intramural to intercollegiate competition.

CHEERLEADERS, BAND AND Norse Stars promote school spirit and supply entertainment for spectators.

If sports and their surroundings don't appeal to you then maybe clubs and organizations are more your game. NEO provides 30 clubs and organizations for every field of interest from honor societies to the home economics club.

STUDENT SENATE GIVES students the chance to lead and learn how the system of politics is run. Students involved with the senate organize special activities such as dances and various movies that are shown throughout the year.

Most of the students' time is based on school activities. Believe it or not, in between all the studying and these school activities there is time to spare. So, what now? There are plenty of things to do with your spare time right here on campus: how about jogging, are you out of shape? If so, I'll give you a whole routine that you can do right here on campus: After you get through jogging go relax your tired muscles in one of the sauna baths located in the new gym. If you're not into heat maybe a plunge into the pool will be your alley or how about a game of tennis?

To slow the pace down a little bit try a nice quiet game of card with some friends or spend some time with your hobby.

MIAMI IS OFTEN referred to as a boring town, but it doesn't have to be. All you have to do is look and you'll be able to find plenty to do. Some theaters serve us with one of the most popular sources of entertainment in the Miami area.

A list of other attractions in Miami is as follows: Playland Lanes (where you can bowl, shoot pool, play pinball, watch other people bowl, etc.) There is a Roller Rink, if you want to bring back old memories of your long lost roller skating career. You might want to check out the airport, shopping areas, parks miniature golf course, tennis courts, drive in, and various activities at the Civic Center.

The Spook Light located between Seneca and Jopl in provides thrill and amazement to all it's viewers. The eerie light appears every night and can be seen from a distance.

Now I hope you have a brighter outlook.

And never feel bored again.

Senator Welcome

Dear Students:

The Senator welcomes you to the 1978 Fall Semester at NEO. As Senator Presdient, I must invite you to take part in activities sponsored by your Student Senate. I say your student senate because it is your student senate. Your student Senate's primary function is to serve and represent you, the student body, of this campus.

Several activities are sponsored by the Senate each year. They range from dances after sports events, to movies, homecoming events and talent shows. We invite you to participate with us, for it is suggested you try the suggestion box or voice your ideas. The office is located in the Career Student Union building.

Personally speaking, my goal is to see each of you take an active part in your Senate and make NEO a campus that not only can be proud of but the people of the community can take pride in.

Sincerely,
