Spring Excursion Draws Response

By Tina Leaver

A general information session for a Washington, D.C. trip will be held Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. in room 215. The trip, a $272 roundtrip, will be held Feb. 17 at 8 a.m. and return the following evening. The trip will be one of the few ever to be offered by the Student Travel Bureau, which is planning the event. The trip will be designed for students interested in history and politics.

The trip will include guided tours of the White House, the Harry S. Truman Library, and the National Museum of American History. The cost of the trip is $272 and includes airfare. The trip will be limited to 40 students and will depart from New York City. The trip will include a visit to the nation's capital, including tours of the White House and the Capital Building.

Visitation Survey Awaiting Decision

An informative meeting of the student senate was held last Tuesday to discuss the survey of residence halls. The meeting was held in the student center and the topic was discussed extensively. The survey will be conducted in May and June to determine the current condition of the residence halls. The survey will include questions about the condition of the halls, the comfort level of the students, and the level of maintenance.

Student Expense Sharing

By Debbie Schorrick

The Student Senate has approved a proposal to increase the student expense sharing program. The program currently provides $45 per student per year to cover the cost of textbooks, supplies, and other expenses. The proposal would increase the amount to $75 per student per year.

The Miami Student has selected Debbie Jackson to run as a candidate for the office of Student Body President. Jackson, a senior in the School of Business, will run against incumbent Brian Corbin for the position.

Jackson has been active in student affairs and has served on several committees. She is a member of the Miami Student editorial board and has been involved in numerous campus events. Jackson has also been involved in community service and has volunteered at local hospitals and schools.

Jackson's campaign slogan is "Jackson: The Future is Ours." She plans to focus on issues such as tuition, housing, and academic programs.

The election will be held on March 7, and the winner will be announced shortly after that date.

Miami's Own Soft-Spoken Artist Recognized Throughout Country

By Dana Evans

A long fight of stairs leads into the quiet studio of Oklahoma artist Charles Banks Wilson, where paintings, prints, and Indian objects are on display.

Few artists have become so identified with their state as Wilson. Painter, printmaker, magazine and book illustrator, teacher, and historian, his work has been shown in over 200 exhibitions in this country and throughout the world. The permanent collections of major museums and galleries contain Wilson's paintings and prints of Oklahoma life.

WILSON BEGAN DRAWING at the age of five on anything he could lay his hands on. Both of Wilson's parents were artists so he was surrounded by art as a part of his early childhood. Wilson received the National Scholastic Magazine and Art Awards at age 13.

His first exhibition was in 1944. He is a member of the Osage Tribe, the tribe that originally owned what is now Oklahoma. His daughter, an artist, is a former Miss Indian Oklahoma.

WILSON IS A self-taught artist. Wilson said, "I have been an artist since I can remember." He has been a professional artist since 1946.

WILSON'S art is highly acclaimed. His work is included in major museums throughout the world. He is a member of the Oklahoma Art Institute and the Tulsa Arts Council.

WILSON'S art is also highly valued. His work has been sold at auction for over $100,000.

WILSON'S art has been the subject of many exhibitions and publications. His work has been featured in numerous magazines, books, and newspapers.

A long list of honors have come to the quiet studio of Oklahoma artist Charles Banks Wilson where paintings, prints, and Indian objects are on display.

Few other artists have become so identified with their native state as Wilson. Painter, printmaker, magazine and book illustrator, teacher and historian, his work has been shown in over 200 exhibitions in this country and throughout the world. The permanent collections of major museums and galleries contain Wilson's paintings and sculptures of Oklahoma life.

WILSON BEGAN DRAWING at the age of five and never ceased. His work is his life and his life is his work. His parents were artistic and he grew up surrounded by art and culture. Wilson began his artistic education at the Kansas School of Art in Chicago, where he studied under some of the finest artists of his time.

Wilson received the Normal School Scholarship to the Kansas School of Fine Arts and was enrolled at the School of Art Institute in Chicago. "I have been working as an artist for over 60 years," he said. "I was a student there for a year and then I started my own studio." Wilson was later hired by the government to work on Indian art projects, which led him to work with Native American artists throughout the country.

Wilson has a personal interest in Indian life. He is a member of the Otoe Tribe, and his wife is a member of the Sac and Fox Tribe. He has always been fascinated by Indian culture and history, and his work reflects his deep appreciation for these traditions.

WILSON'S WORK is characterized by his use of vibrant colors and his ability to capture the unique beauty of Oklahoma's landscape. His paintings often feature the state's natural beauty and its diverse range of flora and fauna. Wilson's prints are also well-known for their innovative techniques and use of color.

Wilson is particularly known for his portrayals of Native American life and culture. His work has been exhibited in galleries across the country and has been featured in numerous publications, including Art in America, Art News, and The New York Times.

Wilson's accomplishments are recognized by his peers, and he has received numerous awards and honors throughout his career. Some of his most notable achievements include being named a Living Master of the American Indian Art Association, receiving the Indian Art Award from the National Museum of the American Indian, and being named a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Wilson's legacy continues to inspire and influence artists today. His work serves as a testament to his dedication to his craft and his passion for capturing the beauty of Oklahoma and its people.

Barnett Sacrifices

By Mark Mason

Beneath the crown of performance, the ultimate goal of the Nebraska wrestling team is to reach the NCAA championships. This year, the team's hopes lay in the hands of senior Jeremy Barnett.

Barnett, a three-time All-American, has been a key figure in the team's success. His dedication to the sport has earned him the respect of his peers and coaches alike.

"Barnett is a leader on and off the mat," said Coach Darrell Torkelson. "His work ethic and commitment to the sport have inspired the team to strive for excellence.""

Barnett's journey to the NCAA championships has been one of determination and sacrifice. His commitment to the sport has not gone unnoticed by his teammates, who look up to him as a role model.

"Barnett has always been the first to arrive at practice and the last to leave," said senior teammate Tom Williams. "His dedication to the sport is contagious and has motivated us all to work harder.""

Barnett's success on the mat has been overshadowed by his off-the-mat accomplishments. He has maintained a high GPA, has been a part of the Dean's List, and has volunteered at numerous community events.

"Barnett is a true example of what it means to be a student-athlete," said Coach Torkelson. "He has demonstrated that hard work and dedication can lead to success both on and off the mat.""

Barnett's plans for after graduation include pursuing a career in coaching. He has expressed his desire to give back to the sport that has given him so much.

"I want to be a coach," said Barnett. "I want to inspire young wrestlers to achieve their dreams and help them reach their full potential.""

Barnett's achievements have not gone unnoticed. He has been recognized with numerous awards, including the NCAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year award in 2018.

"Barnett is a true hero," said Coach Torkelson. "He has shown us what it means to be a true student-athlete and a true American University wrestler.""
Lady Norse Fall To Loop Leader

By Rick Leonard

Dollar Staggers To Rock Bottom

Can anyone remember when the dollar was worth a full-fledged dollar? It was back in April, 1945. According to the February, 1980 issue of Reader's Digest, that was the time when Eisenhower was our President. Did that mean that Roosevelt was the last President? Not necessarily. It simply means that the economy was holding its own and inflation wasn't the problem it is today.

In January, 1953, with President Truman, that same 1945 dollar was worth 67 cents. Prices rose at an annual rate of 5.3 percent during Truman's presidency.

Under Eisenhower's administration there was only a 1.4 percent annual increase, and thus in January of 1961, the value of the 1945 dollar was 60 cents.

Kennedy's administration allowed only a 1.2 percent annual increase in prices. In November of 1965, three years after the dollar was worth 60 cents in Eisenhower's presidency, it dropped only 2 cents, and that same 1945 dollar was worth 58 cents.

That 1945 dollar hit the 50 cent mark in January, 1969 during Johnson's term in office. Although the dollar's worth dropped another 8 cents, consumer prices during Johnson's presidency totaled an annual rate of 2.8 percent.

A large drop in value for the American dollar came during Richard Nixon's time in office. With a 6.3 percent annual price increase, the 1945 dollar was worth 36 cents in August of 1974.

When Ford took over the presidency, he also took over the deflating dollar and rising consumer prices. In January, 1977, that 1945 dollar had dropped another 6 cents and the average annual rate of consumer price went up another 4 percent making the dollar worth 30 cents and the annual rate of inflation 6.7 percent, respectively.

The inflation bug has certainly hit hard, and Jimmy Carter's administration has not been immune. According to Reader's Digest, such is the case, Carter has been hit by severe inflation than any other president since Roosevelt's administration. Carter took office in January of 1977, and since then, consumer prices have gone up an average of 9.5 percent and that poor old 1945 dollar is now worth a measly 24 cents.
