Jeff Glass, a sophomore from Buckey, Ohio, was injured in a motorcycle accident at 11:10 a.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 6, near the Student Center. Glass hit a telephone pole and was thrown into the air, landing on the ground near the Student Center.

Glass was taken to the hospital and is currently in stable condition. He is expected to make a full recovery.

Speaker Relates Legislative Roles

Explaining the role of legislation in Oklahoma, while recent changes in Albany were discussed by Dean Draper, speaker of the house of representatives.

Draper explained that he was an "individual elected by the people to initiate state programs to protect the interests of students." He then went on to explain that the state government is in charge of the education of the state's citizens.

One of the main goals of a state legislator is to protect the interests of the state's citizens. This is done by working with other legislators to pass laws that will benefit the citizens of the state. For example, Draper explained that he worked with other legislators to pass a law that would provide funding for education programs.

Another goal of a state legislator is to represent the interests of their constituents. Draper explained that he represents the interests of the citizens of his district by working to pass laws that will benefit them. For example, he explained that he worked to pass a law that would provide funding for road and bridge construction in his district.

Draper also explained that one of the main goals of a state legislator is to work with other legislators to pass laws that will benefit the state as a whole. He explained that he worked with other legislators to pass a law that would provide funding for road and bridge construction throughout the state.

Actors Re-create Famed Production

Bringing the characters of the musical "South Pacific" to the stage is the drama department, which has re-created the award-winning production last December. 7:30 p.m.

"South Pacific" is one of the largest productions performed by the music and drama department. This year is an opportunity for students to perform in the musical and experience what it's like to be a part of a professional production. There are 22 people in the cast, and they are directed by White, a student in the drama department. The music is directed by Dr. Robert Swanson, chairman of instrumental music.

In February, the theatre department will be performing another musical called "Sugar" from the play "Some Like It Hot."

"EXTREME CAUTION SHOULDS be used when jackets and head gear is being worn. Also avoid wearing other hats or using their combs, this leaves the chance of spreading," emphasized Barnett. Normally, the house is open in 24 hours, but is open from human hair combs.

Beyond not wearing other clothes, using other people’s combs or brushes, the practice of good personal hygiene is the only way to lessen the chance of coming in contact with lice.

Pediculosis Spreads Across State

By Tina Luster News Editor

Recent breaks in head lice control across the state have caused concern on campus, since how the lice are spread by direct contact. Many lice are found in dormitories, fraternity halls, and student housing areas.

"Some students have come in and have been checked for head lice, but to be honest there is a lot of false alarm," said a student in the present time.

According to Weisblum, director of the house (malignant and of lice) means, "any of the small, brown or grey, usually flattened insect that are parasitic on warm-blooded ani-

Pediculosis (Lice) are increasing, and is spread through the interchanging of clothing. To detect the parasites, check the hair shaft close to the scalp for a tiny, shiny white nits (egg) attached to the hair shaft. The nit usually attaches itself about a fourth of an inch away from the scalp.

HEAD LICE is highly contagious and is spread by direct contact. Many lice are found in dormitories, fraternity halls, and student housing areas. They are found in the head lice hair, which is called "nits".

If lice is suspected, contact the name or your advisor immediately to reduce the chance of spreading. The school nurse recommends using one percent gamma benzylidenemalononitrile (Kwell, brand name) for treatment.

Kwell is a four-minute shampoo followed by fine tooth combing. This procedure should be repeated within 24 hours. Reinfestation can be avoided by washing all clothing and bedding in hot soapy water.

Campus Clutter

Thanksgiving vacation will begin at 12:00 noon Wednesday, Nov. 30, and all afternoon classes dismissed at this time.

Classes will resume Monday morning at 9:00 a.m. "Students wanting to stay up here over the break must sign up in the business office," commented Dr. Boyd Converse, dean of student affairs. One man's dorm and one woman's dorm will remain open; the cafeteria will be closed.

Activities by the Norse Campus Ministry for faculty have been scheduled for the remainder of this semester.

The film "I Am Also a You" will be shown Dec. 3. This film is a film exploration of human values which juxtaposes scenes of contemporary life with human experiences which span different cultures, religions, age groups, and centers.

The film "Bill Cosby on Projects" will be presented Dec. 10. In one long joining monologue, any of the social film technique, Bill Cosby portrays America's composite light.

Pilgrims Originate Feasting Tradition

By Jean York

Turkeys are the featured attraction on Thanksgiving meals. Many people are including these birds in their menus for this holiday. However, the Pilgrims had many other foods on their Thanksgiving tables.

Many people eat turkey at Thanksgiving. Do you know where you got this idea from? One theory is that the Pilgrims started the tradition of eating turkey for Thanksgiving. They were the first Europeans to introduce the bird to the Native Americans, who had never seen it before.

Many people believe that the Pilgrims ate only turkey on Thanksgiving. This is not true. The Pilgrims also ate other foods such as corn, beans, and squash. They even had a feast for 10 weeks before the Thanksgiving holiday.

The Pilgrims were thankful for their harvest and the food they had. They celebrated with a three-day feast that included dancing, singing, and storytelling. The feast was a way to show their gratitude for all they had been given. It also served as a way to strengthen the bonds of community and to celebrate the success of their first year in America.

Many families still continue this tradition of giving thanks and enjoying a special meal with family and friends. Thanksgiving is a time to reflect on the blessings of the past year and to look forward to a new one.

Advisory Jobs Require Much Responsibility

"One of the toughest jobs of being a college teacher is being an advisor to the college student," said Charles Angle, dean of instruction.

Our college consists of eight academic divisions, each with a chairman of each one. The chairman then chooses the most qualified and suitable ones for advisors of that field," commented Dr. Angle.

"There are many advisors and each with the number of advisors is according to how many teachers or students are in the division. Advisers and chairs are available at any campus, and the chairs are here to help make all the decisions, help pre-enroll, check the progress of students, and make sure the student is ready for college and one's choice of a major college."

Their jobs consist of finding the correct number of hours for each individual. This is a big responsibility of finding out how they work, play sports, and if so much of their time is spent on this particular activity or any other they may be involved in," Dr. Angle added.

Time spent for such course enrollees in has a lot to do with this schedule planned for them. Some courses may take up a lot of time while others are strictly in class activities. The schedule could vary from 15 to 20 hours depending on the individual schedule.

SECTIONING OF ENGLISH, math, and some chemistry courses are based on the ACT scores or the high school transcript. This helps the advisors know just what the student is ready for.

A junior college advisor has different areas to work with, such as the three types of students enrolled. There are the undeclared students, with no idea of what they want to do. Then there is the student with everything planned out for his future. But there is also an in-between who things he may like one area but he's not sure

Wife of Coach Relates Role Challenges

By Jean York

The role of a coach’s wife is one that many people would find daunting. The job demands skills and abilities that are not easily discernible from the outside. But for many, the role is fulfilling and rewarding.

Elaine York, wife of head basketball coach Greg York, has accepted the challenge. Elaine has managed to maintain her role as a mother and a wife, while still holding down a demanding job.

Elaine started out as a student at the University of Oklahoma, where she met Greg. She later attended Oklahoma State University, where she earned a degree in education.

Elaine has been involved in many activities, including volunteering at the local hospital and serving on the school board. She has also been involved in the community, serving on the board of the local chamber of commerce.

Elaine has always been supportive of Greg, and she has made many sacrifices to support his career. She has been a constant source of strength and encouragement for him.

Allen County Falls Prey
Ladies Coast to Opening Victories

By Nick Lemonick

Placing two women in double figures and limiting 83 percent from the free throw line, the Lady Norse netted 70-50 and 72-50 wins over the Lady Norse of Allen County (Nebraska) Community College Saturday night.

Tuesday night, the Lady Norse opened the 1982-83 season at home against the Red Devils and utilized an 18-point performance by freshman forward Tina Conder to overwhelm Allen County by the score of 70-50.

NEO WILL TRAVEL to Newton, Kans., Tuesday night to take on rival Lady Bluejays of Cowley County Community College.

Last night, the Lady Norse took their two-game winning streak into a contest with Labette Community College of Parsons, Kans.

Jumping out to a quick 10-2 lead in the first quarter, the Lady Norse began to place dominance early in the game. Allen County increased the lead to 12-9 on a basket by Brenda Evans at the 5:53 mark of the first half. NEO then netted 11 consecutive points. Conder, Marilyn Underdown, Sharron Stover, and Debbie Endicott took a commanding 33-20 lead.

After back-to-back baskets by the Red Devils and free throws from Underdown, both teams exchanged baskets. SIU sophomore guard Joan Peppler connected on a free throw at 3:05 left in the half.

PEPPLER ADDED ANOTHER shot from the field and as Barry added two free throws to close-out the Lady Norse scoring in the first half. Allen County’s Juan Porter ended the Red Devils’ scoring making the halftime mark 35-19 in favor of NEO.

Starting the second half, Conder nailed the first four points to give the Lady Norse a 20-point advantage, 56-39, with 1:05 into the new half. Allen County responded with a 9-2 run to keep the Lady Norse from doubling the Lady Norse in the game.

Nancy VanZuilen was then called for a technical foul late in the game. Both teams continued to exchange baskets as the Golden Norse Place Fourth In Competition

The Golden Norse women’s basketball team placed fourth out of 12 collegiate teams Saturday at a Lake Down Tournament.

According to head coach Bill Yocum, “We didn’t do as well as I expected, due to our lack of experience and conditioning.”

“The sophomores are showing commanding leadership and encouragement, and are setting a good example by winning,” Yocum stressed.

“The freshmen are showing great enthusiasm, but are lacking in experience of collegiate wrestling,” explained Yocum.

Due to the exigencies of the season and my inability to work with them because of the bowl game, their conditioning hasn’t been good, they’re techniques aren’t as good as they could be,” Yocum stated.

“The overall attitude of the team is good and we’re adding a lot of experience that will be concluded this year.”

Erich Segal
Releases Newest Creation

By Vicky C. Gougeon

Creating a different type of a love story, Erich Segal maintains his expertise in his new novel "Man, Woman, and Child.

Segal presents this book which is sure to follow the success of his previous bestsellers "Love Story" and "Oliver's Story." The difference in his latest release is the plot center around a man and a child even though a man-woman relationship is involved.

"Man, Woman, and Child" is about a man, Robert, who finds out his 30 year old son, Jean-Claude, from a short and meaningless affair.

Robert had the perfect marriage with his wife, Sheila. They had two beautiful daughters, Jessica and Paula, and everyone thought they would always be happy, and they were until Robert got the phone call from Paris.

He was told that Dr. Nicholas Conlin, with whom he had an affair, had been killed in a car wreck and his son Jean-Claude had no other family. Robert was asked if he would take in Jean-Claude. The only person he could talk to about it was his wife.

He told her about the boy and tried to explain that the short-lived affair only lasted three days and that neither Nicole or the boy meant anything to him. The only reason he told her was because he felt responsible for the boy and didn't know what to do.

Sheila was extremely upset which is understandable when a woman finds out her husband had an affair.

They tried to keep the real truth about Jean-Claude from the girls by telling them that he was the son of a friend. They didn't care because they were excited just at the fact he was from France. Eventually they did find out from a family friend. They refused to talk to their father.

When this happened, he decided to send Jean-Claude back to Europe. On the way to the airport, Robert told the boy that he was his father.

THE FAMILY THEN decided that he should stay for the rest of the summer. Sheila also told Robert that she wanted Jean-Claude to live with them because she was still afraid of losing Robert.

Everyone agreed to this arrangement except Jean-Claude. He wanted to go to boarding school that his mother wanted him to attend and become a doctor. Robert invited him to come back to the man knowing that he never would.

Segal handled the problems of each individual pertaining to this situation extremely well. "Man, Woman, and Child" is an excellent book that I recommend everyone read.

Letter

Dear Editor,

It is apparent that we present more sentiment yet do very little about creating it. I have observed the ladies who work at the check counter in the Student Union handle items, prepare the food without wiping their hands and then serve it to us customers.

If you would like to see them wash their hands after handling the money or have one handle the money and another prepare the food. Your health and my health are a contribution to society.

To your good health,

Thank you,
A Student

The following students were asked their response to this question: "Do you think sexual control should be enforced when caught vandalizing?"

Julie Balleito, Tulsa freshman, Van: "I do because I would stop people from thinking they got away with it. I think if they have preventive measures it wouldn't happen as much."

Sam Wells, Miami freshman, Harris: "There has been a lot of damage vandalism in my dorm like destroying bathrooms. I think when people are trying to sleep it's distracting. If there were stricter laws it wouldn't be so bad."

Deanne Landrum, Ketchum freshman, Kahre: "Yes I do because when the rules are not strictly enforced then they think the punishment wasn't bad enough and they do it again."

Rory Hall, Jay freshman, Dyer: "Yes, I think so. I think people vandalizing are running it for everybody else. If people start screwing things up it will hurt us because about the only limit the administration has is on us. We sign a contract. If they want to get in the vandal they'll cut our reservation. Remember last year they only allowed it two nights a week."

Peggy McGuire, Visalia freshman, Van: "Yes, if they're going to have rules they should enforce them or they won't do any good."

Billy Gibson, Drumright freshman, Dyer: "I think they ought to catch people who are doing it and give them a fine. The fine should be in reason with the amount of the vandalism."

Holiday Thoughts

Turn to Family

With Thanksgiving right around the corner most people automatically think of food. Sure, there is an awfully large spread of food placed before most of us, but that is not all that Thanksgiving is about.

It is a time to look at what you have and be thankful for all of it. Not everybody everywhere has what you have. Some have more and then there are those who have less.

There are those who can't go to college and further their education because of personal problems. So far this school year, each and every college student has had something to be grateful for. They have met new friends and gotten to know some old ones better.

They have experienced what college life is all about. Most of the student body has been awarded independence, something that most of them have been yearning for a long time.

Most of the co-eds will be going home to their families. What about those who aren't? Those students that live in Boston or Iowa are going to have to make due with what they will have on campus. Sounds like a real honey straw for the. Those who do go home just can't wait to sink their teeth into Grandma's homemade pies. Have you ever thought that they just might not be here next year.

Almost everyone takes advantage of Thanksgiving. Its true meaning isn't even thought about, but by few. Though we don't think about being thankful there is no better feeling than when the family gets together and gorge their stomachs with the wonderful feast that has been prepared. Those great feelings were felt by this nation's ancestors. The feeling to togetherness, happiness, gratefulness, and love. These moments should be cherished by everyone. They are like the left over turkey. It seems like they never disappear.
