Quality unaffected by reducing budget

Although spending in state agencies and colleges has been reduced by Oklahoma governor George Nigh, the budget reduction will have no direct effect on the instructional quality at NEO, according to Dr. Bolivia R. Wright, college president.

By reducing spending by 5 percent the campus's budget will be reduced for a three-month period by $1,217. "But it will not take away from the quality of the classroom," said Dr. Wright.

Carter says payroll check rumor false

Midland Carter, business manager, says that the rumor about students not receiving their November work study checks until January is 'absurd.'

"The payroll will arrive no later than Dec. 15," says Carter. To insure its arrival, it was sent on time. She hopes that the business office will send the checks by Monday, "but I don't think we will."

There are 990 students depending on the November payroll to pay their housing, get them over the holidays, and aid them in buying Christmas gifts.

"The payroll is presently in Oklahoma City at the state treasury office," explains Carter. "From there they send the checks to us and we give them to the students.

"Carter knows no problems with the paychecks arriving on time. And even though the Christmas rush is on, she says the payroll people are ready.

The only problems could arise with the checks being lost in the mail, or the computers in Oklahoma City breaking down.

Final exams scheduled for next week

With the end of the year drawing near, students must begin to worry about this semester's exams, which will occur on Dec. 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The first semester 1982-83 timetable in effect as follows:

Three to four at times assigned. If a vacation is necessary, please secure written approval from instructor. Daniel Wright, Dean of Instruction.

Horticultural club gathers

The Horticulture Science Club meets every first and third Thursday of every month at 7:00 p.m. in Cunningham Hall, room 111, according to James Ryan, club sponsor.

Members recently participated in an all-state competition, in which they visited the students in the Care Nursing Home. Club members took plants that they had grown themselves and delivered them throughout the home. Proceeding this event was a Christmas party at the Ryan's home.

"We would love to have more students join our club. If someone was interested in horticulture, we would love to have them be a part of our club," says Ryan.

NMC uncovers Christmas

All interested people are invited to see the Christmas movie which uncovers the true meaning of Christmas. There will be no charge for admission.

Reselling of books offered

Last week the NMC Bookstore made an error in the number concerning the selling of books at the end of the semester. We would like to correct the error and apologize to the personnel in the bookstore for any inconvenience caused by the error.

The story indicated that students should turn their books into the bookstore Dec. 12 with their name attached. This procedure pertains only to the faculty and does not involve students.

"Persons with books to resell must have their 12/12 cards turned in before the end of the semester," says Walton.

"Resellers may purchase books for the second semester beginning Jan. 3.

Ginn, bookstore manager

Book reselling will begin at 8 a.m. Dec. 13 and continue through Dec. 15.

The bookstore will close during the lunch hour and remain open 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

The bookstore will close at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 15 for Christmas vacation and reopen again on Mon., Jan. 3, at 9 a.m.

Students may purchase books for the second semester beginning Jan. 3. There will be no charge for reselling of books, traffic tickets and fines paid prior to the reselling of books, or books taken care of in any manner prior to the reselling period.

Messiah production slated

The production of the Messiah, music composed and written by G.F. Handel, will be presented Sun., Dec. 12, in the Fine Arts Building at 2 p.m.

Also performing in the Messiah is: the Studio Chorus, Miami freshmen, Paris Elias, Sophomore sophomore.

The Messiah, a Christmas work, will be performed in the NEO Acapella Choir as an encore.

"The cost for admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students and NEO students admitted free with identification and also pre-school children are admitted free," according to Bill Roby, music instructor and director of "The Messiah."

Editor’s Note

The following is the 15th in a series of articles commemorating Oklahoma’s Diamond Jubilee “Through the history of NEO.”

In the remaining years, between 1970 and 1980, there were a great many changes made on campus, not the least of which was the installation of the new dormitory by D. D. Creyer, after 11 and a half years of having been the president of the college.

During the 1979-80 school year, changes made included the addition of three new programs. Those were the horticulture program, the air-conditioning program and the food and nutrition management program.

At this time, interns were purchased and installed in the offices of Hurst and Dyer Halls. These interns cost $1,876.

Also added was a new club, Collegians for Christ. Enrollment this year started the previous year, and was opened to 2,593.

The fall enrollment was 2,753, which was at the time the highest in the history of the college.

Again this year, a new club was formed, the Cincinnati Club.

The college’s greenhouse was built this year. It was built for the benefit of all the students, and was operated by Dan Johnson, who was the Horticultural instructor this year.

The 1979-80 school year was the first year in which the students were involved in the construction of the greenhouse. Enrollment started in the fall at 1,730.

After enrollment this year, the decision was made to offer bachelor’s degrees in business administration and the sciences.

Also included this year was the first time the students were involved in the construction of the greenhouse.

The 1979-80 school year was the first year in which the students were involved in the construction of the greenhouse.

There were also three new art programs offered in that year. These were commercial art, marketing, and secretarial art.

It was this year that the Dimenion II southwest, which is currently being used on campus, was installed.

The college archives were also opened to the public.

Enrollment at this time was 2,780.

In the 1980-81 school year, two new clubs were formed. These two clubs were the Geology Club and La Boyana, the Latin Club.

There were 12 new video carts for the classrooms purchased at this time. Also, 13 new pop machines were installed at the front campus buildings this time.

Christmas celebrated on wrong date

By Sandy Wilson

Christmas is a celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ and the circumstances surrounding that event. We celebrate Christmas in December, but scholars approximate the month of the birth of Jesus Christ as being in April or May. The date often referred to Christmas being celebrated on the date of December 25 appeared in the Anacostia in the middle of the second century.

Since the Christian Church was a persecuted minority, no official settlement was made until the fourth century, when Constantine ordered that Christmas be celebrated on December 25.

The date of December 25 was chosen by Pope Julius 1. In 339, the Emperor Constantine made the date of the civic holiday, thereby prohibiting any work on that day.

Watson notes views on librarian ethics

By Monica Neff

Watson, Melena Watson, head of reference and special services in the Learning Resources Center, has a lot to say about the ethics of her peers and what she perceives as unprofessional behavior in her profession.

Watson believes that there are many reasons why the ethical behavior of librarians is not always up to par. She explains that there are two main reasons why she believes this.

First, Watson feels that there is a lack of training for new librarians. She believes that this is because most librarians are not adequately prepared to deal with ethical dilemmas.

Secondly, Watson feels that there is a lack of supervision by administrators. She believes that this is because most administrators are not adequately prepared to deal with ethical dilemmas.

It seems as though time has been flowing like a river to the sea, and like the first semester, they've both gone forever.

So many things this year that we learned didn't seem so long ago that we learned. It doesn't seem so long ago that we learned things. It doesn't seem so long ago that we learned... things... that we learned... things... that we learned... things... that we learned.

The first week of school was spent finding our way to class, meeting new people and instructors. We also had the filling for freshman and sophomore class officers and the homecoming council had their first meeting.

Things seemed to settle down a little the second week and there wasn't much happening. But during the third week, it started to pick up with the first annual intramural football league which was held Sept. 11. The contestants represented the six dorms with Harrill-Dobson winning the overall competition. The Golden Norsemen began their season by defeating the Tritons of Iowa Central Community College the same day, and Phi Theta Kappa had their initiation the following Sunday. There was also an ad of a weekend that weekend by persons unknown who tried to fill the fountain with bricks from a planter, it didn't work.

All was quiet the fourth week, except for the fact that the Norsemen lost to the Apaches of Tyler, Texas by a score of 7-0. Well, everyone has their bad days and it was lucky for the Apaches that we had one them.

The fifth week kicked off the 17th Annual Parent's Day activities and we also learned that NEO had reached a milestone in the 63 year history of the college by surpassing the 5,000 student enrollment mark (5,041 to be exact). The week came to an end with the Norsemen defeating the Conquistadors of Dodge City (Kan.) Community College by a score of 50-9 on Sept. 25.

There wasn't much going on the sixth week of school, the Norsemen had the week off and most of us went home. But things got started again the seventh week with Miami Maye Bill Hirsch proclaiming the week of Oct. 2-9 as Northeastern Oklahoma Week in Miami. The Norsemen also demolished the Broncos of Garden City Community College by a score of 41-7, and a week later the Norsemen scored a 57-0 victory over Ranger, Texas.

The next week brought things really got busy, it was time for mid-terms and it was also time to choose a homecoming theme, with "Norseforce" being chosen by the seniors, the world's fastest hypersonic, Gil Eagles, appeared in the Fine Arts Auditorium. The Norsemen bounded the Pirates of Independence, Kan. 39-13.

The tenth week was all football related with the school celebrating homecoming weekend with a parade that included floats, bands and queen contestants. The football teams of 1992 and 1997 were honored at halftime and Mary Sue Kraut, a Miami sophomore, was crowned queen. The Norse rose to the occasion by defeating Pratt, Kan. 43-14, which moved the Norsemen into ninth place in the top ten college football poll.

During the eleventh week the Livestock judging team placed first in the ten-team Junior College Pro Division and placed second in the 30-team Jaco Novice Division at the Louisiana State Fair in Shreveport.

Around the twelfth week the Norsemen defeated another team from Texas, the Wranglers from Cisco, by a score of 24-9. A few days later it was learned that the Norsemen had accepted a bowl bid and would appear in Garland, Texas on Dec. 4. That was also the week that some vandals barged into the electronic games in the Student Union. It won't be long afterward that we began registering for the second semester and the Norsemen defeated the number one team in the country, the Red Ravens of Coffeyville, Kan., by a score of 58-21. And to begin the Thanksgiving holiday.

Coming back from the holiday refreshed, we began the final countdown to the end of the semester. It seemed that things had settled down for good, but the Norsemen soon proved that it still was not over by defeating Kilgore, Tex. 13-0 in the Texas Junior College Bowl, in Garland, Texas.

Since then our thoughts have turned back to the problems at hand, which consist of studying for finals and making the grades everyone expects of us. There won't be any second chances because as was stated earlier, it's gone forever.

The Norse Wind staffers wish each and everyone of you the best for the future and continued success in whatever you decide to do.
