Fashion board instituted

Beginning activities on campus is a newly formed organization, the Fashion Board, which is made up of students who are electing to model in a modeling class or have been modeling for a while.

Members of the group will participate in numerous formal fashion shows for Miami merchants at the Miami Mall and at the Miami Mall in the Miami Hotel. Also, area stores providing fashion merchandise for the season will be named by the Fashion Board.

The Fashion Board will also model in a formal fashion show for Miami Hospital Auxiliary Benefit Fashion Show, April 19. The board will meet weekly to prepare for these events.

Late breakfast trial offered

A late breakfast has been added to the cafeteria’s menu. The breakfast will serve eggs, hash browns, bacon, toast, coffee, and orange juice. The breakfast will be served from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

The late breakfast is a trial to see if enough people will participate and if the cooks will have enough time to get the lunch out on time,” said Lloyd Ogle, food service director. Students will be offered twice, so

Contest winners announced

“We hope to make the Daily Norse a fun event and to make it bigger,” said Student Activities Director Linda Biven. “We are expecting to get a lot of good entries and we would like to see them.”

Dr. Bobby W. Wright, college president, was at the contest Monday night. The contest was held in the Student Center, 10th floor, on the main floor.

The first prize winner was Mattie Brown, a freshman from Tempe, Arizona. She won a $50 gift certificate to the Student Store.

The second prize winner was Todd Johnson, a sophomore from Surprise, Arizona. He won a $30 gift certificate to the Student Store.

The third prize winner was Karen Egan, a junior from Apache Junction, Arizona. She won a $20 gift certificate to the Student Store.

The fourth prize winner was David Miller, a senior from Coolidge, Arizona. He won a $10 gift certificate to the Student Store.

The fifth prize winner was Juan Cortes, a senior from Nogales, Arizona. He won a $5 gift certificate to the Student Store.

The winning entry was a design for the Student Center’s annual fashion show.

Winners of the design contest will be invited to the design for the Student Center’s annual fashion show.

School prayer proposals debated

Religious and prayer in America's public schools is a hotly debated topic these days; one that can no longer be ignored by those of us who care about the future of our country. The issue of state-sponsored school prayer is nothing new. The Supreme Court barred public-school-sponsored prayer in 1962, and since then 38 states have enacted laws allowing periods of silent prayer or meditation for students wishing to participate. Federal judges have struck down three state "moments of silence" laws and have upheld one.

Oklahoma is the only state in the nation with a law allowing voluntary prayer in the classrooms. This law states: "...boards of education of each school district shall permit their students and teachers who wish to do so to participate in voluntary prayer." Educators say the heart of the issue is how school prayer is defined; they see a clear distinction between school-organized, prescribed prayer required of students at a certain time of day, and silent prayer by individuals when they feel the need.

The perpetyuity is that the term "school prayer" has many interpretations by both supporters and opponents.

Since the Supreme Court decision, school prayer supporters have fought in courts to ensure their beliefs are protected. It's the religious leaders vs. the liberals, the younger vs. the older, the school system vs. the church. This nation's citizens must toughen up and shoulder the responsibilities they have long since shirked in favor of the men who once did them, namely, the government, do the job. If we allow our government to decide whom to support, and how we shall pray, it can only lead to further decay of our democracy.

Americans have always prized their freedom and individuality above all and the controversy of prayer in our public schools should be no exception. If governmental control and interference into our everyday lives is permitted to continue, it is only a matter of time until we lose our precious freedoms, one by one.

Pandora's Box

Because of the tremendous amount of favorable response to my last column concerning underclasses, this week's column will be devoted to the topic of unification. I had no idea how relevant the topic of unification is today. I've been reading a lot about the idea of making a national holiday, which is a great idea. It's time we all come together as one nation.

The idea of a national holiday is a great way to bring people together. It's a great opportunity to celebrate our country and our history. I think it's important that we all come together and join in this celebration.

In conclusion, I believe that a national holiday is a great idea. It's a way to bring people together and celebrate our country. I hope that we can all come together and make this a reality.

Date imminent for aid packets

Linda Lowe

"The time is now for financial aid packets to envelop students in the Miami School of Mines. This school, like many others, is struggling to meet the financial needs of its students. The Student Aid Office is working tirelessly to ensure that all students have the opportunity to continue their education. As college costs continue to rise, it is more important than ever for students to understand their financial aid options.

The Miami School of Mines offers various types of financial aid, including scholarships, grants, and loans. Students should apply for financial aid as soon as possible to ensure they receive the necessary assistance. The Office of Student Financial Aid is available to answer any questions students may have regarding the financial aid process. It is crucial for students to be proactive in securing financial aid to ensure their success in pursuing higher education.

Alumnus strolls memory lane

Sandy Wilson

"The Miami School of Mines has a rich history, and its alumni are an integral part of its legacy. Alumnus Sandy Wilson shares a story about his time at the school.

Sandy Wilson was a part of the Miami School of Mines during the 1970s. He remembers the camaraderie and sense of community among the students. "The Miami School of Mines was more than just a place to learn; it was a community where we supported each other," he said.

Sandy Wilson graduated from the Miami School of Mines and went on to have a successful career in the mining industry. He credits his time at the school for the foundation it provided for his professional success.

"As often people don’t understand the Catholic religion, the Newman Club is for faith fulle people who share a belief that we all have to be united in our faith. This is a way to help others and to have fun at the same time," said Kim

Walls, president of the club. For the past two years, the club has grown from about 15 to 45 members.

The Newman Club has a variety of activities such as ice cream socials, prayer parties and different speakers at meetings, explained Walls.

"There is also a club pool at 3 p.m. on Tuesdays in the Newman Center, where we can all have fun," said Walls.

One of the goals of the club is to get all people involved in it. "We have different people who are interested in different things." The club tries to help people find their place in the church.

Instructor maintains interest

"The job of being a panel member is to suggest how much funding will go to each group," she explained.

There is a special category of the financial assistance program. This is a group that is between 1,000 and 1,999. This group is only one of the ten thousand dollars in total financial assistance. The panel consists of ten students who are second year and third year students.

The group is also a cottage industry. They meet on Wednesday nights to discuss the entities that are in line for funding. One of the entities is a new cottage industry.

"We are trying to get more students involved," said Dr. Woods.

She also emphasized the fact that all the final decisions rest with the 13 members of the panel.

"It is rewarding for me to see students make up the plan and go on with their education," the director said.

"I have seen students become successful. I always wonder if there was something I did that helped them achieve their goals,

Viking soccer squad destroys Roughriders in season opener

Last Thursday, the Vikings opened the spring campaign with a 10-2 win over Crowder College as Mahamoud Al-Rahman scored the first three goals of the game. Strikeout Nate Harrell also collected three goals in the contest.

Al-Rahman scored just 35 seconds into the match as he took a pass from Brian Johnstone and carried it down the right side of the field, showing some of the vision range. The Viking scored his second goal at the 14:17 mark when Al-Rahman beat the keeper on a shot from the box. The Viking’s third goal of the game came at the 19:08 mark as he hit a full volley from the 30-yard line.

The Vikings made it 4-0 on a penalty kick by Tony Minors at 24:09. The penalty was called as a result of Minors being taken down in the penalty area by the Crowder goalkeeper. Defenders Mike Hoye and Sam Leathers scored the final goal of the first half for the Vikings as they defeated the ball off a Roughrider defender for the goal at the 26:30 mark.

Crowder got its first goal at the 6:09 mark of the second half as their goalkeeper Clay Baker scored back-to-back goals at 7:56 and 11:45 to increase the Viking lead.

During the first half, the Norse were taking on Northern Iowa and were leading 2-0. The Norse eventually won the game 3-0. The Norse are now 2-1 on the season.
Baseballers sweep week-long series

After winning seven games last season, the surefire Golden Norse baseball squad will face Madison Junior College, Madison, at the college field on Tuesday, April 1. The Norse will then journey to Emporia State College as they begin play in the BCAC Eastern Division. The Norse will face Emporia Junior College in a doubleheader on Monday, March 28, for a pair of games with Madison on Tuesday, March 29.

The Norse hosted Sioux Empire, Sioux City, Iowa, in a single game on Thursday. The Norse scored a 6-0 shutout, the lowest scoring game the Norse have scored in four years. The winning pitcher was Norse starter Jim Brown, who held the Saints to two singles and one walk. The Norse finished with a 3-0 lead after three innings, and never looked back. Brown gave up four hits, walked none, and struck out nine in the shutout.

Final basketball stats complete

Allen Bond

The Golden Norse and Lady Norse basketball teams ended their 1983-84 season with losses in the semi-finals of the Oklahoma Junior College Basketball Tournament, Feb. 24, in Shawnee.

The Colfax Norse dropped a third game to eventual winner Haskell Junior College 74-66, while the Lady Norse lost a one-point game to St. Gregory's College.

The losing score for the Golden Norse season on the season was Kevin Russell. Russell averaged 16.1 points per game, which was in 15th place in Region II. Russell's season was 196 and free throws hitting 196 of 444 for 53.3 percent from the free throw line.

Patrick Edings averaged 6.8 points per game shooting 42 percent from the field and 51 percent from the free throw line.

All-conference Honorable Mention: Mike Harris averaged 12 points per game, compiled 64 assists and shooting 52 percent from the field and 60 percent from the free throw line. As a team, the Norse shot 54 percent from the field scoring 67.9 points per contest while allowing the opponents 66.8 points per contest.

The Norse finished the season with a record of 13 and nine in the standings in the Eastern Division of the BCAC.

The losing score for the Lady Norse was freshman Angela Gill, averaging 12.5 points per game, with sophomores Lisa Hanger and Lisa Masse, who averaged 12.5 points per game in just 10 games.

Hailer shot 44 percent from the field and 41.3 percent from the free throw line, while leading the team in rebounding with 7.6 rebounds per game.

Hiller shot 42 percent from the field, connecting on 76 of 127 attempts, shooting 14.4 percent from the free throw line, while leading the team in stolen bases.
