Parade features many attractions

Homecoming activities begin full force with the homecoming queen pageant at 7 p.m. this evening. Miss Homecoming will be announced at 8 p.m. in the Alpha Tau Omega Auditorium and will be free to members of the homecoming court. The parade will be at 9 p.m. on Main Street. Guest judges will be Mrs. Lane Oglesby, president of the University of Oklahoma Alumni Association; Miss Rosemary Barkley, a student at Oklahoma State University; and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bell. The parade will begin in the Oklahoma Avenue area and proceed to the Student Union. For more information, contact Miss Mary Ann K. Thompson, president of the Student Union.

Parade marshal will be Miss Homecoming Queen. The homecoming court will be announced at 8 p.m. in the Alpha Tau Omega Auditorium. The parade will feature floats, bands, and marching units. The parade will be preceded by the homecoming queen and a number of former homecoming queens.

Leading the official march will be the color guard of the homecoming parade, followed by the homecoming court, and the homecoming queen. The parade will end at the Student Union.

Norsemen quest for the best during homecoming

"Norsemen Quest for the Best," is the theme for this year's homecoming and this is our time to show that Norse Spirit is a "quest for the best."

There are a number of different events taking place during this, homecoming week. We get started by holding a bonfire and pep rally, which all of our campus community should attend.

This is only one of the events that will take place in our Norsemen Quest for the Best" homecoming week.

On Friday night, the fine arts assembly is the setting for, considered by some, the most important "quest for the best" event. The homecoming queen candidates will be in the public eye, as the pageant takes place. This is the time when one girl will be chosen as the homecoming queen.

The next day at 3:00 p.m., the ever popular homecoming parade will take place. This offers an opportunity to see the homecoming queen candidates one last time, before the official announcement of the queen.

The pageant and parade display a display of art, when the best display of "Norsemen Quest for the Best," is a float. As a chance to view area bands, among which the Golden Norse Marching Band will be leading off. Also, there will be area drill teams, with the Norse Stars preceding them all.

The parade is always a big hit, but the most important and exciting event of all the homecoming week is when the Golden Norse football team will win the homecoming football game. At halftime, it is time for the Norsemen to get ready for the announcement of the surprise "Norsemen Spirit," just before the queen's announcement.

After the game, the homecoming isn't over. We all get to enjoy the homecoming dance. It should prove to be the night of nights of homecoming week.

In conclusion, I feel we should all come help the Norsemen quest for the best, because we are the best.

Go Golden Norsemen, break right through that line, with our colors flying, we will cheer you all the time. NEE! Go Golden Norsemen for victory, spread our fame, of our fair name. Golden Norsemen win that game. Go-Go NEE! Go-Go NEE! Hit 'em hard. Hit 'em low, Golden Norsemen, Go!!!

Play Review

The lighting was good, the sets were excellent, and the direction was great, but the acting, by most of that, was not comparable to the technical side, during the NEE theater production of "Arritic and Old Lady." John Sabinos played one of the best Teddy Geiger's I've ever seen. He was a delight from act one, scene one until the finale. He held the immaturity of Teddy known through-out the entire show.

Victor Goff, also played a good Abbie Breiter, considering this was her first leading role in her acting career. She had the normal mistakes of a first-time lead, rushing lines, running over punch lines without giving the audience time to laugh. Overall she gave a good performance.

This was not the case for most of the cast. The police in the show, with the exception of Officer O'Hara played by Allen Lay, was weak. The staid roles were not handled well enough to make any type of impression on the audience. This particular role requires a strong cast because of its unsubstantiated comedy. The cast was comprised of some strong one-person roles, such as Sabinos and Goff, but its also had some action not very strong enough. The subdued comedy wasn't there with much of the cast.

But it isn't the fault of the cast, it was the fault of the audience that attended it. However, it was the fault of the cast, when the up for it audience were not rowdy for the next time.

Nevertheless, the stage, at a technical level was not as terrible. Jerold Graham has put out more than just terrible. Graham has put out more than just terrible. His professionalism showed through, even with only four weeks to produce it, too.

Maria Nicholas also done an outstanding job with the costumes. She did everything from formal, early-american dress to an up-to-date short evening gowns.

Bryan Hauch has done a terrific job with keeping the entire stage up. A particular period light change was in Act two when it was bedtime and the stage-house lights went out.

Another area of excellence was the program. Everything from the silver serving to the laughs, that Teddy played was there.

All in all, this production of "Arritic and Old Lady" was one of the most enjoyable ones I've ever seen. It keeps me waiting to see the remaining three shows to be presented this year.

Responses

These students were asked to respond to the following question:

What do you think/feel about Homecoming? Why?

Tricia Riets

I like homecoming because you find out how much school spirit the school really has and I think NEE has the spirit to carry us through the homecoming season, as well as, through the rest of the school year.

Jack Nelson

Homecoming is a great chance to show your school spirit. I love homecoming. See you at the game.

Laungo Hillard

I feel that homecoming gives clubs a chance to compete. Although, it's hard to sell tickets for the Business and the Phi Theta Kappa sold more for Parents' Day. Homecoming week is a chance to boost our spirits and I think we should go at least one day of NEE's Homecoming.

Committee examines study

Accreditation is an important issue for junior college students planning to transfer after two years. Currently the college fields accreditation through a number of agencies including North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

This fall a coming committee has been selected to work on the self-study which will be submitted prior to an accreditation in March, 1987. Directing the work of the group is Dr. Charles Angel, vice president for academic affairs.

Members of the group, by various faculty and staff members, are examining different aspects of the college. Students selected for the committee are Ingrid Aamodt, Tanya Combs, and Sheri Walker. They are to represent the student viewpoint in discussions of self-study criteria which includes missions of the college, human, financial and physical resources, strength or how will it be ready to submit to North Central officials.

By next September the final draft will be completed and sent to the college. In March of 1987 at which time the institution should receive a new period of accreditation. The last time NEO received a new period of accreditation was in 1971. The self-study, and the work on the committee will be an important step in this direction.

New director named

Kathy Hilton

"The development department is in need of a new director," said Kathy Hilton, new director.

"Because of the decrease in state and federal funds the development department has become necessary in order to keep the programs going," she added.

Some of the funds will be used for scholarships and will be paid to the students. Others will be used for student activities and other funding agencies.

"Good people can be hired who are interested in the development of our institution," she said.

Hilton, who started work on Monday, Oct. 14, said she is working to raise money for the college and the development department.

Robinson joins staff

Henry Hoffman

Assuming current nursing duties in the Health Science Department is Henry Hoffman. He joined the college staff in January of 1985, as nurse in the medical/surgical field.

Robinson was born to a nurse and a second year student takes a number of trips to many area hospitals where they give direct patient care as a requirement for the class. The second year students must have 16 hours a week but first year students are only required to have 10 hours per week.

Bowling takes citizenship oath

"I was a career first, everything else must come later," said Yaddy Bowing, a 22-year-old sophomore from Columbus, South Carolina who will become an American citizen next week in the United States. When she was attending college here she asked to come and take care of her child. Yaddy has returned home to visit her relatives but has found a home in the United States.

Yaddy, who intends to become a computer science major, is married and has a little girl. She is three and a half. Yaddy lives near the campus and came to attend this college on the recommendation of her sister who vouched for her and now lives in Venezuela.

"I like the system of government and the way of life here," Yaddy said. "Everybody here is friendly and everybody deserves an explanation no matter what they are," added Yaddy.

Yaddy, like most foreigners, had trouble with American slang but thinks the variety of life here is great. Yaddy passed her citizenship test last week and will take her citizenship next week.

Opening the 1965 football season, 20 players, coach Harry Pinson guided the injury-ridden Nurse team to a 4-4-1 season.

Cooke Pinson's squad will observe the fact that the Nurse football team has been recognized for the 50th anniversary, Saturday night, as part of the Homecoming activities at Northeastern A&M. The surviving members will be recognized prior to the kickoff of the NEC vs. Thomas Edison High School game.

Playing for the first time in what has become Bolling Field, the 1965 edition of the Nursemen opened the season before a large crowd on Sept. 25 against the Chickasaw Business College. Quarterback Woodrow Busy opened the scoring in a 1-0 victory by the Nursemen.

Making a team that not only exceeded the expectations, 230 to 123, the 1960 Golden Norse finished with an 8-2 season record. The Norsemen won their last two games, going on to win a four-state conference title.

Serving as members of the coaches' staff were Dewey Lee, backfield coach; Raymond Reed, line coach and current associate head coach at the University of Tennessee; and Allen Bonner, assistant coach and former head coach.

Opening the season at home with the traditional Alumni game, the Norse defeated the Mountaineers 37-21. The Norsemen scored a hard-fought 12-13 victory in the first quarter.

Three member of the Nebraska Western Alamo rodeo team placed in competition this past weekend at Proct (Kan.) Community College. Keith Whitmore, Sanjuh Boswell, won the first go-round in calf roping, topping a field of 46 entries with 11.7 seconds. He also placed third in the short go-round (13.0) and his combined total on two head was good enough to qualify in the average with former NCC calf roping regional champion Greg Asp of Miami and current Southwestern Oklahoma State University at Weatherford.

Also placing in the average of the calf roping was Ty Phillips, Loco freshman, who qualified Sunday afternoon 11.4 seconds. In the short go-round in the first round, he tied in first place with 3.7 seconds and turned to win the average with 3.9 seconds

Barback rider Ken Been, a freshman from Springdale, Ark., placed seventh in the first go-round top 10 to qualify for the short go-round with a 68 score. Been came back to finish third in the short with a 79 and was fourth in the average out of a field of 11 college and university representatives from throughout the central plains region (Kansas and Oklahoma) at the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association sanctioned rodeo.

INES will participate at 10 rodeos throughout the year with points awarded to the top four individuals in each go-round and average in each event per rodeo.

At the end of the year, the top two individuals in each event, plus the top two teams from each region, will qualify for the College National Finals to be held in June, 1986, in Roswell, N.M.

INO's top competitors will be Michael 22.24 at Kansas State University.

The Golden Norse will take on the Henderson County Junior College from Ashland, Texas in a 7:30 homecoming game Saturday night.

Last week the Norse were getting upset by the Kilgore Rangers 14-7 while the Cardinals defeated Roselle, Texas 2-0. Henderson County Athlete Association president Tommy Legg's team improved their record to 3-2. The Norse have a tough test in the Cardinals on Saturday.

Henderson County is a top team in the nation, and they are no weaker than any other team in the league, said Coachrogate Wolfe.

Henderson County is led by quarterback Scott Williams (6-2, 180) with 78 completions in 158 attempts for 883 yards and four touchdowns. Tailback Terry McCoy (5-11, 165) has gained 364 yards in 41 carries.

The defense totals 21 tackles and five sacks.

Cardinals are coming in at 11-10, but the Norse will put up a good fight.

Defensive end Keith Riggs and the squad with eight other tacklers, six sacks and one quarterback sack for a 3-2 record.

Celebrating its 35th season, the 1975 Golden Norse football squad opposed another season in Harmonie stadium on Aug 30. Coach Mike Berry, the 1975 Norsemen, succeeded in the 5-2-1 season record which included one crown on the road.

Opening the season on Aug 30, the Norsemen traveled to Independence, Kan. The Golden Norse had been ranked number one in the pre-season National Junior College Athletic Association poll, out a 10-1 upset by the Pirates quickly plummeted the Norse from the top spot.

Returning home to face Houghton, Kan., the next week, the Norse scored their record with a 21-7 win over the Blue Dragons. Running back Willie Burrow tallied the Golden Norse with 68 yards rushing and 23 yards receiving on 12 carries including a 23-yard TD run.

Remaining at Robertson Field the following week, the Golden Norse overcame a scoreless first half to earn a 23-7 victory over Highlands, Kan. Sophomore fullback Mike Vasalik scored both touchdowns on runs of five and eight yards. Tailback Carey Clark led the Norse ground game with 10 yards on 10 carries.

Huntington State College came to Robertson Field the following week and the Norse outscored the Indians, 75-7. The Golden Norse amassed 560 yards in total offense while scoring 14 points of the four quarter, 21 in the second quarter alone.
