Ratings defy constitution

In this fast paced world, there is little or no concern about music but even the little bit of concern there is, there is no need for ratings on records.

If a record feels a certain song is not suitable for their children to listen to, then it should be banned only in that particular house hold.

A few people should not be allowed to decide what age group of people can listen to a particular song. No one, that I know of, left them to distinguish what songs are good for any given age group.

The "Purple Rain" album, for instance, was said to be a suggestive album. If, the people saying that, would get their own minds out of the gutter then they would find that it is not that suggestive.

People should be allowed to make their own musical decisions, no group of people who only knows what is best suitable for themselves.

There are no two people who are exactly alike. Therefore, it is difficult to understand how they choose the ratings on songs to be heard by all who choose them.

It seems that these record ratings are becoming another "book ban" type era. It is the right of the individual to decide what they want to read or listen to.

We have the freedom of speech and religion, so it's only fitting that we, as Americans, have the right to listen to whatever music we see fit. For younger children it should only be the decision of that child's parent to decide what music is suitable for them to listen to. And lastly, there should be no one to rate music, because it is not what's best for all, just them.

Mystery of the Viking Yearbook

This year, I, along with many others, have been working diligently on the annual yearbook. It has been an exciting and challenging project, requiring hard work and dedication. The yearbook is a reflection of our school spirit and achievements.

As we prepare for the launch of the yearbook, I would like to express my gratitude to the staff for their contributions and commitment. Their hard work has made this yearbook possible.

The yearbook will be distributed to all students and families, providing a keepsake of our school community. We hope everyone will enjoy the yearbook and appreciate the efforts of the staff.

Thank you for your support and cooperation throughout this process. We look forward to sharing this special publication with you.

Divisions makes special effort for student success

Susan Rice

A fund that the deans in this division have created, some special events which are real need, in the department," says Eugene Rice, Division Chairman for Engineering, Science, and Physical Education.

The division creates events on campus, physical education classes, and athletics. Each division creates a separate budget and is responsible for the division's needs.

"We feel that the faculty members will do everything we can to help students succeed," said Rice. "We are offering various classes and half-credit classes to help the demands of the students.

The tutoring is offered in Shirley Hall Monday through Thursday in the afternoon.

"If there was a demand, we would offer tutoring on Friday afternoon also," said Rice. The tutoring is done by a capable student.

Tutoring is also offered in the Library Administration.

Twirler stars as halftime entertainment at games

During the halftime shows, one of the main things that is noticeable is the twirling baton in the air, never missing a beat, spinning as it comes down, provoking the question in one's mind: "How do they do that?"

For Amanda Hendricks, NOSW's student for the past two years, the trick to "twirling" has been a combination of years of hard work, discipline, and constant practice.

Hendricks was raised in California, Okla., just outside of McAlester. "Your typical small town," she says. She learned to "Twirl" in the fifth grade and has been competing ever since. Combining her twirling practice with her classes can sometimes prove to be difficult, but it's a pretty good trade-off, she adds.

"It's a pretty fun thing to have this responsibility," Twirling the baton has been a pretty much a natural part of her life, since her mother is a teacher of the baton. "She has been practicing with the baton since she was about three or four years old. We kept the practice up throughout her elementary, high and high school years, and then came to the college on a full-ride scholarship.

As with any talent, there is always the need to practice and develop it. Along the line, Hendricks has been fortunate to have some great teachers, but one thing remains constant. "They have had some of the expected ups and downs along the way, but they have always managed to "twirl through it," she says.

Hendricks plans to go to Oklahoma State University or somewhere in Arkansas.

Dorm 'pop' likes sleep

A 1984 graduate of End High School, Writers earned his Bachelor's degree from Phillips University and his MEd from Colorado State University. Writers served as head basketball coach, assistant football coach, and chairman of the health and physical education department at Pioneer High School.

Writers' favorite hobby is official, a 55-year baseball official, and major college hockey official.

"The intramural sports program provides a sport for everyone on campus. We want to provide useful, positive activities for the students," says Writers. "Our main goal is to increase faculty involvement, and increase student participation."

"We have a discipline system for missed scheduled activities," says Writers.

"NOSW has more activities per student than any other college, junior or senior, in the state," says Writers. "And that includes high school."
Machine shop places students

Small plants need help

Dr. Bobby Woods

In a day when "high technology" seems to be the answer to everyone's prayers, some of the so-called "dirty technology" are still useful tools.

Welding, machine shop, woodworking and the like are called "dirty" not because they are messy or anything to that effect, but simply because the work means getting one's hands and clothing covered with some paint or dirt.

But, there is still a demand for workers who are not afraid to get a little dirty, while performing a vital job.

That's the message coming back to the college from some of their former students.

One former student is McCarter's fourth Imperial "Berry" receiver. Two former students are doing jobs that are most needed by today's industries.

Emphasizing the need for a basic understanding of the industrial processes, plant supervisors, L. C. Melton, states, "We need to hire skilled people. The tendency of cost-conscious employers to hire the lowest skilled is not going to work for us."

"We are looking for people who know about books, how to read, how to write, how to talk, and have some understanding of industrial processes."

Printing program expands

"Don't just go to the printing plant for a little help," says Webb.

"We need people who know how to do the job."
Showdown set with Wranglers

Sean Beils

The 6-2-1 Wranglers and 7-0-1 Norsemen will face off in a 7:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon contest at the Coliseum.

The Norse hold a decisive 6-2-1 record in the series back to 1946. The teams have played four games since 1975. The Norse won their last meeting with a 21-10 victory. The Norse were 24-0 in 1976, 26-0 in 1978, and 48-0 in 1980.

The Norseman continued their complete domination with 26-7 wins in 1981 and 24-0 victory in 1989. In 1981, the Norse pulled off a 14-7 win before drawing Crow 29-20 in 1983. The Norse finished the season with a 13-0-1 record after losing to Crow 25-11 a season ago.

The Norsemen outscored the Wranglers 48-44 despite 42 total yards passing by Crow in the 1983 contest. The Norsemen had a 1-11 decision over the Norse by kicking two field goals in the fourth quarter. The Norsemen were 13-0-1 and three interceptions.

Freshman Mike Hargis will start at quarterback for the Norse. Hargis has passed 21 of 32 passes for 320 yards with three touchdowns and three interceptions.

Leading the Norse early game, Crow Cobell has rushed for 933 yards on 136 carries for five touchdowns. Cobell has scored 13 touchdowns, while playing fullback.

Quarterback Mike Hargis left a pass over the on-rushing Norseman defense for right end Kenneth Hicks (85) for a 12-yard completion in a 20-10 victory against Norsemen two weeks ago at Crowman, Texas.

Grapplers place in tourney

Jamie Katoapis

Four college wrestlers placed during the Latest Tournaments. Tournament held last Saturday.

"I was happy with our performance," said Golden Norse on Saturday. "We did a lot of wrestling and we are starting to get better." The Norsemen were one of only three junior colleges entered in the tournament. The teams included the University of Minnesota, Central Missouri State University and Southwestern Minnesota State University.

University of Oklahoma entered four wrestlers and two of those reached the finals, according to Atlantic. Tony Packham of Minnesota scored a decision over Crawford while Parks was defeated by Scott Bond of CMU in consolation finals. Missouri's Kurt Lapp clipped Gons 7-3 to decide third place. Gons lost only two matches in the tournament, both against Minnesota.

Roan was fourth after dropping a 1-0 handwritten to Joel Anderson of Iowa Lakes Community College. Norseman wrestler Jim Gill won four matches but was defeated twice by Missouri grapplers. He was eliminated when Chuck Zipper, a former Norseman wrestler but now a starter at Mid, scored 1-0 victories.

"We're going to be a little green this year, but I find we'll still be strong in most weight," said Judkins. "Our goal this season is to win the West Regional again. However, we bog our success from last year as it will be a slow developing program for us," Judkins said.

The Norse will compete in the St. Louis Open, hosted by Farm Park Community College on Nov. 22-23.

Linebacker Rice shows initiative

J.R. Stanton

Strong initiative and great speed are the key factors that make freshman, Mark Rice an outstanding linebacker.

"My responsibilities as a strong linebacker are to cover passes and to stop the run," Rice said. "I line up on the outside and this year, I am the leader of the defense, taking over the reigns from Mike Hargis. I have the most experience on the defense, which includes my four years here.

"I believe that I can do anything that is asked of me on the field. I am a very hard worker and I am always willing to help my teammates. I am also very good at blocking and tackling, which are two important skills for a linebacker," said Rice.

"I am very excited to be a part of this team," said Rice. "I am looking forward to playing against some of the best teams in the country. I know that we will have a great season and I am very proud to be a part of this team."
Norse drop opener

J.B. Sexton

Washing a non-conference loss evaporate over the final eight minutes, the Golden Norsemen dropped the season opener, 26-20, Monday night to the Coffeyville Red Ravens in Coffeyville.

"This was a difficult game for us as we had Coffeyville's hopes to us. They did a good job of blocking and we just made some mistakes at critical times," said Coffeyville's head coach, Mike Sallis. "We didn't change the ball, but we just made some mistakes at critical times."

After building a 6-32 lead with 8:39 left in the game, the Norsemen were only held to a 6-34 on these four turnovers by Maurice Cunningham.

Field goals by Todd Spear and Charles Hunter increased the Norsemen score to 35-55 with 6:25 showing on the clock.

One again, the Red Ravens relied on field goals by Greg Young and Tom Twins along with two field goals by Lee America, for the Norsemen's 5-36 decision with 5:20 left.

We had two big breaks that disappeared because of our own mistakes. We held both teams on three and one in the second half and got away from us," Sallis said.

"You can't take anything away from Coffeyville. They hit the critical shots when they had to, and we didn't," Norseman's head coach, Ron Taylor, said. "We just concentrated on getting more shots than they did more than we did."

The Norsemen's head coach, Ron Taylor, said, "We just concentrated on getting more shots than they did more than we did."

For Coffeyville, the Norsemen's head coach, Ron Taylor, said, "We just concentrated on getting more shots than they did more than we did."

Women thump Red Ravens

With five players scoring in double figures, the Lady Norse won the season opener, 84-59, Monday night to Coffeyville Community College.

Coach Brian Akey's Lady Norse will travel to Lansing, Kansas, for a game with Northern Junior College.

The Lady Norse are 2-2 this season.

Gray nets honor

Norse freshman Alana Gray finished sixth in the National Junior College Athletic Association national cross country championships on Saturday at the Lake of the Ozarks. This match marks the first time a Norseman cross country runner has achieved honor.

Katherie Williams of Rich's (Dakota College) turned in a fine time of 18:31. Phoenix, Ariz., and the only runner from the program, was second with a time of 18:35. Williams helped Rich's claim the title with a total of 50 points, followed by Stillman of Indian Junior College of Lawrence, Kan., with 185 points, and Barton County (Kan.) Community College with 55 points.

"All of the times were well below what our best performances have been," said cross country coach Rod Kramer, noting that the men were entered in rain with temperatures ranging from 40 to 45 degrees.

Gray is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Mel Gray of Pryor, Okla. Kramer, who is the region's most successful coach, noted that the team is making a comeback from last year's season.

"She's had a real fine season," said Kramer, noting that Gray will compete in the National Cross Country Championships slated for Dec. 1 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PRESSURE

Coffeyville coach Tom Hamlin (2-2) applied defensive pressure to Malone-Campbell (2-2) of the Vesey Reserve in a 59-loss to the Golden Norse.
