Regent speaks at dinner

Dr. John Montgomery, chairman of the Board of Regents for Oklahoma State University and the A&M College, was the guest speaker for the annual Town and Gown dinner, Thursday, Aug. 29. Scheduled for the Bruce G. Carter Student Union Ballroom at 7:30 p.m., the dinner recognized some people who have supported the college through the years and introduced new faculty and staff to Miami residents.

Currently in veterinary medical practice at Ponca, Montgomery has been elected three times to the Board of Regents. He is a native of Muskogee, Okla. and graduated from Prairie View A&M College with a B.S. in Agriculture prior to completing work at Tuskegee Veterinary School in 1950. Interested in all facets of agriculture, Montgomery taught vocational agriculture in Osage County, Texas, prior to military service during World War II as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers. He received the 1965 Alumnae Merit Award from Tuskegee Institute, recognizing his numerous contributions to the field.

Dr. Montgomery holds membership in Alpha Phi Alpha, Alpha Kappa Mu, Delta Kappa Chi, Oklahoma Veterinary Medical Association, Pinus Chapter of the Society for Range Management, and Mt. Calvary Baptist Church in Ponca.

He is also on the National Advisory Committee for eradication of hog cholera. Previous membership has included membership on the First National Bank Board of Directors.

Class officer elections scheduled for next week

Students interested in filing for class officer may do so Monday through Friday, Aug. 26-30 in room 206 in the Library Administration Building. Officers up for election are: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and two Student Senate Representatives. In order to qualify, students must be full-time and sophomores must have a 2.75 grade point average as of last semester. Campaign signs and posters may be posted on the halls and bulletin boards, but not on trees. Speeches will be given Wednesday Sept. 4, at 12:30 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Election will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Thursday Sept. 5 in the Student Union.

Edens supervises Norse Wind staff

Lea Edens, a freshman from Sand Springs, Oklahoma, was appointed Norse Wind staff writer for the fall semester. She is a journalism major at the University of Oklahoma and has worked on the student newspaper for two years.

Emergency loans now in effect

Emergency student loans will be available in the Dean of Instruction's Office Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for students wishing to take out an emergency loan of $40 or less. A student identification card is required to apply and loans must be repaid within three weeks with an interest charge of 50 cents on $10-$20 or 25 cents on any loan under $10. A penalty of 50 cents will be charged for each week the loan is late.

The loans come from a memorial fund established by the Estate of Bill Goodwin and his wife. Bill Goodwin was a member of the first student body and a member of the Student Senate. Goodwin was responsible for making the trip to Tuskegee Institute in 1931.

Don Dyer Student Loan Fund was established by student faculty and friends in memory of Don Dyer, Housing Director for 22 years. The fund was established by students and faculty in memory of John Thinnick, mathematics instructor for 17 years.

Dr. H.W. Windleke Student Loan Fund was established by Dr. H.W. Windleke, family and friends in memory of Ed Lowery, mathematics instructor.

Challenges await incoming students

As each of us impact on this collegiate journey, we are faced with old and new challenges. These challenges begin as we pack our clothes. And continue, as we attempt to stuff and cram our every possession into those tiny dorm rooms shared by three.

Next, goodbyes are never easy, whether it is to Mom, Dad and little sister or to that someone special. We are left with a sort of empty feeling, much like the loneliness of our first day of kindergarten.

Yet, we are thrilled with the thoughts of freedom at last. No longer are we under Dad’s thumb, but with that added freedom comes added responsibility.

We never realized tooth paste and shampoo cost so much.

The food is always a challenge. We can never choose between corn dogs or meat loaf—yummy! But, the BIGGEST challenge facing students at NEO is the terrible enrollment lines and the office personnel.

All kidding aside, students need to challenge themselves and be involved. Whether one is a Nurse Star, a Golden Norseman or a member of the Norse Wind newspaper staff, getting involved is the key. Students can’t help getting involved in the Golden Norseman’s scholastic news, the football guys really make an otherwise mundane dinner exciting.

But, these energetic and crazy-muscle-bound football players cannot seem to be found when it’s time to lug at least 20 pounds of books from the bookstore all the way to Dobson Hall—IN THE RAIN.

Presidential greeting

Dear NEO Student:

Welcome to the Number One Junior College in America! You have made a wise decision to begin your 1985-1986 year of study here at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College.

Our theme this year is “I Make a Difference,” and we hope you realize how much this applies to you, both as an individual student and as a part of the College. In the classrooms, you will be the determining factor in how much you learn which will “make a difference” in your future employment and contribution to society.

Your special talents will make a big difference for organizations on campus, so join in whether it is the Alpine Society or the student body or any of the clubs in between. You will also find opportunities to participate in intramural sports which can give you a chance to stay in shape physically and to enjoy both teamwork and competition. We have taken a step to enhance your enjoyment of intramurals as John Winars has been appointed to direct these campus programs.

New faculty and staff have been hired; many of the other teachers have been studying this summer to be better prepared to “make a difference” in your total educational experience.

But the bottom line will be for you to see, “I Make a Difference” at NEO, in the classroom, in the dormitory, on the athletic field.

Sincerely,

Bobby R. Wright
President

SECOND EDITION

A Weekly Washington Report from
U.S. CONGRESSMAN MIKE SYMAR

ENERGY SECURITY CRITICAL to U.S.

In the 1970s, while the threat of the Middle East oil embargo were still fresh, the United States proposed that the world's major industrialized, oil-consuming nations create an organization that could cope with any future energy crisis. The International Emergency Agency (IEA) was created to help such nations and the organization has been a success.

The IEA, headquartered in Paris, France, was formed to coordinate the response of the U.S. and the other 20 member countries to an oil crisis. The IEA would have a strategy to keep oil prices from skyrocketing and to keep the industrial economies of the 21 nations going. If a supply disruption was severe enough, the IEA—whose member countries would act as a whole—could release its oil reserves to keep the world from lowering its reserves.

Although the oil supply situation looks right now, a number of experts believe the world's oil market will be tight in the next few years. They say the U.S. and its allies will depend more and more on oil imports from the Middle East and North Africa. Even now, U.S. consumption, figures are going up. If these experts are correct, I believe the U.S. and its IEA allies by the early 1980s could be as vulnerable to a supply crisis as they were in the 1970s.

Because this Nation's energy security is so critical and because many are concerned about the energy crisis, the Government Operations Subcommittee that I chair has conducted an on-going review of the IEA, the United States' participation in the IEA and U.S. emergency preparedness since I took over the subcommittee three years ago.

I also met recently with IEA officials to obtain first-hand information on their strategies for dealing with any future crisis and to discuss the emergency preparedness that the IEA will conduct this fall. Our government will participate in that test and our subcommittee will review the test to determine if there were any problems. Stars drill team initiation highlights opening week

Andrea Connolly

Yellow bars and sunshine were marching around campus this week as part of the Norse Stars initiation.

The initiation is to help make the new girls feel welcome and let the students on campus know who the new Norse Stars are," said Nancy Bishop, Norse Star Director.

Try-outs were held Wednesday, Aug. 28, at which the girls had to perform a high kick routine and a jazz routine where they were taught at a parison clinic the 20th and 21st.

The girls judged in the following categories: personality, arm motion, makeup, rhythm, kicks, and appearance. The girls receiving the highest points become Norse Stars.

OFFICERS

Officers are Captain Michelle Crawford, Devery Ogburn, and Karen Billings and Drum majors, Jamie Clark and Stephanie Hayes all of Broken Arrow.

Norse Stars for the 1985-86 year are seniors Lorrie Trout, Sheryl Brown, Lisa Vort and Tracy Roberts all of Miami, Dana Bell and Denise Neil of Broken Arrow; Tina Bell, Fairind; Shannon Ketterer, Vora, Michael Brown, Broken Arrow; and Gina Chappel of Claremore.

Freshmen members are Tony Deady, Tiffany Walker, Amy Newman, Kandi Puryear, Jenn Edwards and Cathy Smith all of Miami; Christie Anderson, Kathy Kondik, Vicki Sanders, Dorey Willis, and April Holiday of Broken Arrow; and Evie Johnson, Michelle Brown, and Tina Hame.

Whether you prefer mood, braut, or red hair, the spirited squad of the Norse Stars led by Michelle Crawford, has personality to choose from this year.

Crawford is a sophomore from Dewey, majoring in business. She enjoys dancing, as you can tell, she also likes to play basketball, collect teddy bears and cheer the Norsemen on to victory.

In order to receive the title of captain, Michelle was required to write an essay about why she wanted to be an officer of the Norse Stars, she had to make a dance routine for the spring clinic, and she has to maintain a 2.0 grade point average.

During practice Michelle appears to have total control of the squad and even better than that, she has gained the girls’ respect. Michelle said, "You have to be their friend as well as their leader in order to have any type of cooperation."

Her advice to underclassmen and fellow students is, get involved in everything possible and meet all the people you can.

That Army math. But the after high school, college or university, you could walk away with $21,000 without even going to college. Courtesy of the New GI Bill – a new Army college fund. (At least that’s what the Army says."

That other $21,000 you can get two years of ROTC, maybe in marketing or ROTC and the third year level with an associate degree in ROTC. And you get your first year's worth of tuition when you remain in college. It's really a $20,000 a month in ROTC.

Quality and your first year’s worth of tuition, with a non-commissioned position. And that because you're out of school doesn't mean you stop learning. All it means is that you can pay for your own textbooks.

And that goes for you, too, because you get soldier's monthly travel allowance. And a chance to make new friends.

Not to mention a solid start for college. Plus the chance to become an Army office. Contact your local Army Recruiter today.

ARMY: BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Newcomers add strength to faculty

Joining the fall 1985 year are 11 newcomers, according to Dr. Bobby W. Wright, dean of arts.

Added to the counseling center are three specialists, including PhD graduate Adolfo V. Holguin who will be interim coordinator of counseling. He attended Utah State University after SDSU and then earned the PhD degree at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. He is completing a graduate degree in psychology and counseling this summer at Pittsburg State University.

Moving into a full-time position with the Miami college is Randy Gibson, who had spent last year working as an assistant basketball coach.

Also entering two new positions are Michelle Economou and Deirdre Ziegler, who have been brought in from outside the college.

New faculty

Quarterback quandary continues

JULIE HILL

Although paper is perhaps the oldest form of communication, the reality of the situation finds youth and impressionable minds at several positions at the start of season.

Breaking a string of fine straight-out season honours, the Norse finished with a 6-6 record last season. Under the seven-year reign of Coach Al Hilles, the Golden Norsemen have captured one state championship while posting a 27-5-1 record.

"Going into the season our main problem will be the number of experienced seniors we have coming back," said Wolfe. "We had 34 seniors last season and expect quite a few of them to make a strong contribution to this year's team."

With all that we had last year, the Norsemen did a lot of substitutions which allowed most of the reserves to get a lot of experience. "Even though we have gotten a few players coming back, we're going to have a couple of different positions that freshmen are going to have to step into and do the job right off," Wolfe said.

For the first time in quite some years, Wolfe may have to rely on some seniors from last year's team. "We've got a couple of kickers and returners that should have a lot of experience, but we're not that deep if we were to operate our offense," said Wolfe.

The Norsemen will have to rely on a number of players from last year's team to lead the offense. "We've had a lot of experience at the running backs, but we're not sure what we'll do at the quarterback position," Wolfe said.

"If we do have some problems, the only way we will solve them is by playing as many games as we can, and we will have to have some of our reserve players step up to the plate," Wolfe added.

While the Norsemen may have some problems at the quarterback position, Wolfe is confident that the team will be able to get the job done.

Eddings

Smith has been around in a game as a freshman starting 2 of 4 games for 90 yards and one touchdown. Smith also gained three yards rushing.

Wolfe would like to see Eddings in the starting position because he has been exposed to our system. He will do his best to make the most of his opportunities.

Freshman quarterback candidate Joe Jones from Tuba, Mont known to the Norsemen. "All of these freshmen have good size and speed to play in our offense," Wolfe said. "They are ready for competition for the starting spot," Wolfe added.

"We really don't have a lot of experience in our offense," Wolfe said. "But we have some of the best we've had for three years."

Returning at the halfback position is the Norseman's Leading rusher Marcie Ross. While seeing action in only seven games, Ross gained 472 yards on 91 carries and scored seven touchdowns. Ross also caught three passes for 31 yards.

Also returning at halfback is veteran Curtis Warren. Last season Warren gained 1,014 yards and 14 touchdowns in 11 games. "We're looking for about 500 yards and five touchdowns this season," Wolfe said.

Transfer Luther Dehmon would be the Norse running game. Dehmon, 5-10, 190 was listed at #15 by the University of Tennessee. Dehmon running for a starting spot included Kendall Peason and Elgin Jackson.

Although the Norse lost returning halfback Harold Merriweather and Wade Walker, three sophomores along with a third-year of freshmen could provide the running game with speed and ability.

"Our reserves are an important part of our offensive scheme and we should be relying on them to open up our offense," Wolfe said.

Returning varsity returner Steve Davis and returning Mike Arene, Ricky Bailey, Nathaniel Lewis and Tony Minniss are expected to do their best to secure the return spot.

"We lost both ends last year," Wolfe said. "Mike Davis and Tony Minniss are ready for the return spot."

"If there is strength in numbers, then the Norse offense line should be one of the strongest in the squad. Four sophomores that had extensive playing time as freshmen return with several quality freshman prospects. "We have seen our line come together and we are ready to go," Wolfe said.

Returning at the running back position are senior Ron Hendricks and Terry Sanders. Both players return with several quality freshman prospects. "We have our line in place and we are ready to go," Wolfe said.

Texas teams bolster grid schedule

Sara Beall

With an eye on eventually gaining admittance into the Texas Junior College Conference, the Golden Normans will face five of the seven present conference members during the 1983 football season, according to Dr. Boyd Converse.

"We're playing five of the seven Texas Junior colleges along with Ellsworth and Western and we are all potential players in junior college football," Dr. Converse added.

Following the conclusion of the 1984 season, Dr. Converse and Dr. Bob Stickens, NED president, made a presentation to the newly resurrected Texas Junior College Conference concerning admission into the league. Because the seven schools had changed scholarship limitations and agreed on minimum requirements, the conference voted not to allow the Normans admission into the league. "The conference members have all been very positive and said that they would look at the situation again after next year. All indications are that we will be able to participate in the 1985 season," said Dr. Converse.

"We are able to schedule all of the schools except El Paso and Ranger, so this will be a good indication as to the level of competition the conference can expect."

Opening the season with a three-game home stand, the Golden Normans will entertain North Texas State University Junior Varsity at Llano, Texas at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17. North Texas has not appeared on the Golden Norman schedule since 1980 and holds a 2-0 record in a series which started in 1978. Following a 1-4 loss in 1984, the Normans will face the Llano State University Junior Varsity at Llano, Texas, on Sept. 21, at Robertson Field in Llano, Texas. The Llano game will mark the first meeting between the two teams in the long history of both schools.

Last season, Ellsworth finished with an 8-3 record and placed 10th nationally. The Panthers absorbed a 63-14 shutout loss to the Normans and will maintain NED, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. game. NED holds a 6-0 edge in the series which started in 1963.

Concluding the three-game home stand, the Golden Normans travel to El Paso, Texas, Oct. 19, to face Kilgore College at 3:30 p.m. Kilgore has not appeared on the regular season schedule since 1980 but the two teams met in 1980 and 1982 in the annual bowl game in Garland, Texas. NED holds a 5-2-2 edge in the series that started in 1951.

Return to the home page for the season finale, the golden Norman will face San Antonio, Texas, in a 2 p.m. Road Day Contest. The Roaders finished last year fourth in passing offense after posting a 10-11 win over the Normans.

"This schedule has got to be the most demanding one that I've found in my eight years here," said head coach Gene Wolfe. "When you take into consideration the level of competition and the amount of travel we'll have, we have a real tough challenge," concluded Wolfe.

Intramural Sports Offered

Intramural Sports will be offered in the Intramural Athletic program, now directed by John Winters. Of course, sports such as tennis, softball, volleyball, basketball, and football will be offered but there will also be new competitions in volleyball, softball and basketball.

Be sure to check your handbook for detailed scheduling and for any questions you might have, contact Winters at Russell Hall.
