Campus hosts boys

Oklahoma's 1986 American Legion Boys State will be held here May 31 through June 5. Drawing onto 400 outstanding youth from across the state, Boys State provides numerous opportunities for leadership development through participation in classes and working in group situations.

Three officials from Oklahoma City met with campus, presented on Thursday in Franklin Hall. Details are as follows:

The schedule time is as follows:

In the words of one historian:

"People should get excited for this work, and they should have a feeling of unity among their team," said Franklin.

"Students, at least during this week, must believe their team is the most awesome on campus and will never be put down. I know the way," Franklin concluded.

Camp "Shakes Up" athletes

Tickets are $5 in advance, or $7 at the door. Billed as "Shakes Up '86," the concert series will appear in 30 cities across the United States and Canada, including Nashville, Houston, Seattle, Vancouver, and Edmonton.

A "special" designed, multi-color set has been created for the tour, which showcases the latest in sound, lighting, and special effects. According to Terry Boyd, director California/Christian.
Liya could spell disaster

The United States is in the midst of what could possibly be a major war of the world. War should be seen as a last resort. But there seems to be little or no other solution. Libya and the U.S. have been in good standing with each other for a long time. The big issue lingering over having a war in the Soviet Union is supposedly allied with Libya. So, if war were to break out then there is a possibility of it becoming a world war.

This would mean men 18 and over would be drafted. War could change the rest of life on earth. It could even prevent all life, if the nuclear bombs were to be set off.

However, there is the possibility that the Soviet Union is against Libya and could, possibly, side with the U.S. in a war against Libya. If this was to be the case, then the nations of the U.S. and the Soviet Union could improve drastically. It could mean the end of the world peace, after a war with Libya.

There is a very difficult decision to be dealt with, and how it will be dealt with is entirely up to one single man.

Many feel that war would only harm the world. But, some believe that war would help the foreign relations, with the Soviet Union.

Looking at the situation from a religious standpoint, there would be no war. There are only two World Wars, according to the bible. Therefore, this would not happen, because of the possibility of a World War.

Semester end causes class problem

Have you noticed that the classes are getting smaller each day? This could be because students keep thinking that the school year is almost over.

There are less and less people in class, now that the semester is almost over. Perhaps this is because students think about leaving school and starting summer off. Or, it could be that everyone thinks that they have a good enough grade that they do not need to attend class anymore.

Many teachers infer an attendance policy. So, it would seem that if a student wants to get a good grade out of the class he should attend classes as often as he meets, to assure his grade will not be affected by the lack of attendance.

Rhino records, who have brought us such classics as "Spanish Train," have recently released a compilation of garage-rock songs, and "Clean," is a collection of garage-rock songs as done by other artists. This new release is a record of what Dr. J. P. J. B. B. T. D. T. B. H. has deemed to be the most influential tracks of all time.

This set is arranged chronologically from 1940 through the present. The first 7" 45 (and below) contains such classics as "Lonesome Town," by John Coltrane, "Clean," by Jack Johnson, and "Wipe The Tears Away," by George Harrison. The last 10" 45 (and above) contains such tracks as "Two-Tone," by John Coltrane, "Clean," by Jack Johnson, and "Wipe The Tears Away," by George Harrison. The set reflects the pre-war and the post war feel that was nurtured in America. It was an exciting, yet, pure, blues. But, it was fun, and when the next decade arrived, the attitude changed.

The 2013 set shows an interest in science fiction, and the anxieties that were brought out by the cold war. Such songs as "One of Those Days," by Jack Robinson, "Purple People Eater," by Shadoe Stevens, "The sound of silence," by Lou Reed, and "The Sound of Silence," by Lou Reed, shows a return to the pre-war era. The 1970's set shows the movement into a drug era. Such songs as "The is the Way," by Randy Newman, "The sound of metal," by Richard O'Brien, "The Rocky Horror Picture Show," and "Kung Fu" by Bruce Lee are some of the hits in this era. Also included is the classic "Funk Horns," by Barren and Bury.

Rho's 1967's volume contains such rhythms as "Dancing With The Devil," by Bob and Doug McKenzie, "The sound of silence," by Lou Reed, and "The sound of silence," by Lou Reed. The trend has now come the full circle, and it is a return to the simplicity of the 60's.

Development coed partakes in abuse prevention week

The third week of April, 14-18, has been designated Child Abuse Prevention Week and child development major Francie Howerton will present a seminar on the subject the 12th at 12:30 in room 119 of Administration Hall. Howerton, a Wyandotte freshman, became interested in the subject when her nephew was removed from his home because of child abuse. Several research papers and a speech accompanying a slide show on a vocational training center are two examples of the time and energy Howerton has involved in this project.

"I had originally planned to become a social worker, but I changed my mind when I discovered the depth of involvement they have with the children and their families. I will probably go into day care where my research and information is still necessary," said Howerton.

The purpose of the seminar that will be presented on the fifteenth is to increase awareness of and prevention of child abuse.

It's hard to report suspected child abuse when it's a friend, but it is definitely better to be wrong about abuse than to fail to report a case of a child who is truly in need of help.

Though Chico Daily News does not have a lot of available services, they will take anonymous calls and investigate them. Since 1981, suspected reports of child abuse have doubled to 20,000 and valid reports have doubled to 7,800.

Child abuse is classified as either physical, negligent or sexual abuse. Neglect is the most common because parents have not been taught to care for their children and an increasing number of these parents are single parents.

The seminar is also mentioned by a worker who works with the family. Social services attempts to help the family in the Miami area due to the BFG closing.

More information on abuse is available to students through the library, county services, or the child abuse hot line 1-800-322-3511.

Melton declares retirement

After 39 years of service, L. M. Melton, machine shop technology instructor, is retiring at the end of the spring semester.

"I've taught both high school and college students over the past thirty years. I feel it's time to move on to something else," stated Melton.

Melton, who possesses a bachelor of science degree from Southeastern State University and a master's degree from Oklahoma State University, has held numerous jobs throughout the years.

"I've worked for saw mills and on construction jobs. I was also in the army engineers for two years," Melton noted.

Before coming here in 1967, Melton taught automotive technology at his high school for eleven years.

Though he has worked closely with both high school and college age students, Melton doesn't prefer one level of teaching over the other.

"There are favorable aspects involved with teaching in high school and at the college level as well. "High school students seem to be more enthusiastic and genuinely excited about their work. However, college students are usually more mature and easier to deal with," commented Melton.

For eleven years, Melton was in charge of automotive mechanics at the college; the past eight he has taught machine shop technology.

"I have enjoyed teaching in both areas, and since they are closely related the change from one to the other wasn't drastic." Melton plans to stay busy after his retirement.

"There are enough tools to be done at home to keep me busy for around a year, then perhaps I'll go back into industry."

In his spare time Melton likes to grow plants, experiment with mechanical concepts and work in his metal and wood workshop.

"I have enjoyed teaching. It's a good feeling to know that you are helping a student to be successful," concluded Melton.
