Campus observes Alcohol Awareness Week

By Jacquie Griffith Managing Editor

Passing the Equivalence Ap- praisal Test (E.A.T.) is a key measure of how much students know about alcohol consumption. Campaigns around the nation are preparing for the fourth annual National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week designated for Oct. 16-22. Numerous campaigns are making ready to test young people on their knowledge of alcohol.

To pass the E.A.T., you must know this simple but crucial formula: the most common servings of beer, wine, and distilled spirits. If young people can answer correctly, they are not likely to drink and drive.

One American dies in an alcohol-related traffic accident every 35 minutes. It is estimated that an extra mile or two per hour is the risk they take in doing so. In one minute, a driver’s reaction time is 50 percent slower than sober people.

The purpose of the test is to make young people aware of the dangers of driving drunk and to show them the consequences of drinking and driving.

The test will be administered in dorm rooms, housing units, on the main campus, and on the student union and in the city of Northboro.

If you plan to attend the test, please bring a pen and paper to take the test. No alcohol will be served, and no alcohol will be consumed at the event. Students who are under the age of 21 or those who are not 21 and drinking alcohol are not permitted to enter.

Students enjoy short fall break

Observance of the one-day fall break started today on campus.

Regularly scheduled classes will resume Monday. All of the college’s offices will be closed today along with the library and the main office.

Individual offices of the deans will resume normal operation on Monday.

SURROUNDED

Brian Haas, director, seated, is enveloped by the cast of 'The Foreigner.' Cast members include from left, Troy A. Santors, sophomore from South Berwick, Jay Ngonga, freshman from Jenks, Michael Barnes, sophomore from Sperry, Charlene Antonson-Wilson, freshman from Jenks, Scott Shuman, from fresh aten from Oil City, and Bill Jopek, Mo. Tere Mocha, freshman from Jenks, Kevin Bishop, freshman, Jenks, and Jeannine Hovey, from fresh aten from Oil City, and Bill Jopek, Mo. Tere Mocha, freshman from Jenks, Kevin Bishop, freshman, Jenks, and Jeannine Hovey, from fresh aten from Oil City.
Responses

Editor's Note: The response section is not to be mistaken as an opinion poll or any other instrument used to reflect a general consensus of the student body or faculty.

"Are you planning on participating in the homecoming activities? Why or why not?"

Chelsie Beach
Freshman, Violin
"No, I'm not. I'm from out of state."

Jo Jo Vance
Freshman, Volleyball
"A friend of mine is in the pages this year and I think he's a big deal."

Janet Drummond
Sophomore, Jay
"Yes. My roommate is in the pages and my boyfriend graduated from here and is coming back."

Bernard Benson
Freshman, Tulsa
"Maybe. It's my first year here, and I might go to see what it's like."

Awareness of alcohol next week

Campuses everywhere are preparing to find out just how responsible college students are about drinking.

Our campus is taking part in this attempt by participating in the National College Alcohol Awareness Week (Oct. 20-25). The program is designed to test college students on their knowledge of alcohol consumption. We would all be surprised to find out how much we really don't know.

Most of us have much more knowledge of college to experiment with alcohol than we did in high school.

We had always heard about the college parties and all the fun, and we knew then that alcohol was a big part of that "fun."

It's not a rare experience to have your buddies convince you into having just one beer. Only too often does that one beer turn into two, and then three.

If we make the choice to drink, we need to keep the facts that the myths about alcohol.

Student safety important

Strolling around the campus at night seems to be a big attraction. But it's important to remember just how safe it really is.

Our campus is not very large, but it is dark.

A simple walk from one end to the other could prove to be a life threatening experience if we are not careful. The first solution that comes to mind is the installation of more lighting around the campus.

This would contribute greatly to our safety, and make the environment more welcoming.

Since we are not provided with such a facility, we must compensate for it. It is not a difficult task to inform someone where you are going, if you are feeling uncomfortable.

It is vitaly important to be cautious and suspicious of anyone who might seem to pose a threat to your safety.

We were all taught as early as kindergarten not to talk to strangers, not to put your safety in the hands of someone you are not familiar with, and to run from any seemingly approaching danger.

These general rules of safety do not need to be re-learned, but they do need to be taken into serious consideration.

The older we get, the easier it is for us to deny the fact that bad things can happen to us as well as to people we know. Some of us have experienced unfortunate tragedies that have taught us to be more careful where our safety is concerned.

It's too bad that we have to be so fearful of the real world, and to realize that bad things can happen to us as well as to those we are close to.

Take the necessary precautions now—before it's too late. Again we speak of the added responsibility of college life. That's all it takes. Being responsible enough to consider all possibilities.
Instructor builds sport airplane

By Tracey Bowland

Giana: Professional pilot and science instructor Robert Anderson has been building his own planes for over 10 years. He belongs to the Experimental Aircraft Association, and teaches ground school during the summer at Finishing State University in Finisher.

Along with teaching general physical science, Anderson also teaches philosophy and social science. Anderson has three planes of his own. One of the planes he currently flies was built by his students during a summer aviation class at Finishing State University.

"I build sport planes," said Anderson. "They are more maneuverable. I usually do not go any farther than 50 miles out from where I started."

It's really nice up there, you can see the color changes all around the country side." Anderson began to build model airplanes when he was a child. He built a hang glider about 10 years ago, and has been building planes ever since.

"My father was a pioneer aviator during the "balloon" era. He was a test glider," said Anderson.

Robert Anderson poses with a modified sport plane that is housed in a hanger at the Miami Municipal Airport. The plane was constructed six months ago from a modified airplane part that Anderson has built.

SPORT PLANE

Robert Anderson poses with a modified sport plane that is housed in a hanger at the Miami Municipal Airport. The plane was constructed six months ago from a modified airplane part that Anderson has built.

Travelling provides solid teaching base

By Tracey Bowland

Byron Williams

English major Robert Boyce has traveled to places most of us would love to visit. He has been a tourist in many of the world's major cities and has a wealth of knowledge about the history and culture of these places.

He has not only been to many places around the U.S. but to foreign lands as far away as England, France, Ireland, Scotland, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, and Japan. He traveled between these different places and used the experience to gain a better understanding of the world around him.

"I want to be able to travel more," said Boyce. "I want to see more of the world and learn about different cultures that are not the same as mine."

Boyce believes that traveling provides a solid teaching base for students. He believes that by traveling, students can gain a better understanding of the world and the people who live in it.

Mother and son pursue fashion career

By Dana Morrison

Byron Williams

"I'm glad we decided to pursue fashion careers," said Eddie. "We both have a passion for fashion and we enjoy working together."

Eddie and his mother, Darla, are both first semester freshmen majoring in fashion merchandising. They are both active in the University style at the University of Miami and substitute teachers at Miami Beauty College.

"I want to be a fashion designer," said Darla. "I want to see my designs on the runway and in stores around the world."

Both Eddie and Darla have a passion for fashion and enjoy working together. They look forward to pursuing their fashion careers.

Ander's Shoe Store

We have a wide selection of:

Converse

Fila

Naturalizer

Vaens

Come see us at: 27 South Main

Miami Photo Lab

One Hour Color Film Processing

35 mm-100-126-Disc

We will be taking portraits on Homecoming, Saturday, Oct. 24, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in front of the Carter Student Union.

180 North Main (Next to McDonald's)
TALENTED MUSICIANS
Golden Norse Jazz Band members for 1977-78 are, from left to right, front row: Karen Anderson, Grew; Shari Howard, Grove; Vicki Rigby, Quapper; DeMaris Gaines, Miami; director Steve Witter and Andrea Baker; middle row: Diana Woods, Betsy; Diana Doyle, Indie; Chris Barnett, Hililade; Pat Andrews, Betsy; Ken Kinder, Quapper; Tim Monaco, Betsy; back row: J.D. Mundi, Bartolome; Eric Palencher, Bartolle; Mitch Benes, Alton; Mike Gomis, Miami; Rod Cross, Grove; Mike North, Quapper; James Hill, Broken Arrow; David Ferris, Tulsa; David Harris, Quapper; Gary Elston, Quapper, and Alan Montgomery, Miami.

Clubs, events, etc.
Campus after dark

Editor's Note: This column is to inform the students of club's meetings, events and anything that is happening on the campus during the week.

Sunday: Club Norse Campus Ministry will have dinner followed by a program for students at 5:30 p.m. located across from the Library's Administration building.

Choir and the Ministersingers will have a workshop in the Bruce G. Carter Student Union at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday: Club Norse Campus Ministry will host their weekly meeting at 6:30 p.m. in Cunningham Hall, room 558.

New season set for networks

The new season has filled the networks with hope, excitement and anticipation.

The three major networks have outlined all of their new shows for the 1977-78 season. Each has a new show titled "A Different World." The series is about Denise, the foster child, and her life at college. This series has the humor to market it as a hit series as "Cosby." The major factor is a "Different World." The series can be seen on the "Cosby Show" from the NBC network. The star is Greg Evigan and Paul Reiser, who both play fathers in a smart-aleck mold. This show has the heart-warming appeal to make it a success. The show will be taken to the next level with new episodes. Another exciting new series is ABC's "Soap оперы." The show will feature the talented and funny Darby Coleman. He plays a sports writer as a major metropolis city. Coleman is a charismatic writer who has some of the most beautiful stories in the world. NBC has another strong show in "The Blue Planet." The star is Greg Evigan and Paul Reiser, who both play fathers in a smart-aleck mold. The show has the heart-warming appeal to make it a success. The show will feature the talented and funny Darby Coleman. He plays a sports writer as a major metropolis city. Coleman is a charismatic writer who has some of the most beautiful stories in the world.

Sarah Cruce: "Dolly" could be a big bust.

On the serious side, CBS has released a new show titled "The Last Man Standing." This series has a striking resemblance to the movie "The Last Man." The series features the training of a platoon of soldiers during the war. The show is considered a serious drama. The show is in the same time frame as the "Cosby Show," which could make the show a hit. The show has a strong appeal to make it a success. The show has a strong appeal to make it a success. The show features the training of a platoon of soldiers during the war. The show is in the same time frame as the "Cosby Show," which could make the show a hit. The show has a strong appeal to make it a success.

Crossword Companion

ACROSS
1. Place of entertainment (4)
2. Odalisque (4)
3. Sub (4)
4. Job (4)
5. Kneel (4)
6. Chief (4)
7. Age (4)
8. Volunteer (4)
9. Tunk out (4)
10. Adder (4)
11. Spank (4)
12. Slump (4)
13. The inner C (4)

DOWN
1. Speak dollar (3)
2. Toward which the Mint stands (8)
3. Blem (p.) (5)
4. Cat (5)
5. One who network (5)
6. Spiff (5)
7. A follower, a .pl. (7)
8. Heart's name (8)
9. Spread (8)
10. Halt (8)
11. Spout (8)
12. Shower (8)
13. Dose below water (8)
14. Story (8)
15. Square (8)
16. Drop (8)
17. Drop (8)
18. Drop (8)
In a last ditch effort to defend their league championship, the Golden Norseman battled the Southwestern Ohio State University junior varsity at Nippert Stadium in Uxbridge, Thursday afternoon. Approximately 50 teams from around the area had all volunteered to play the Norsemen for various reasons.

"I've called 50 schools, conservatively, to try and schedule a game," said athletic coordinator Dr. Boyd Converse. "No one will pay us. If the Norsemen are unable to play in two weeks, speculate that the Golden Norse would drop from their ninth position in the weekly National Junior College Athletic Association football poll out of the top ten."

A last ditch effort to defend their league championship, the Golden Norseman battled the Southwestern Ohio State University junior varsity at Nippert Stadium in Uxbridge, Thursday afternoon. Approximately 50 teams from around the area had volunteered to play the Norsemen for various reasons.

"I've called 50 schools, conservatively, to try and schedule a game," said athletic coordinator Dr. Boyd Converse. "No one will pay us. If the Norsemen are unable to play in two weeks, speculate that the Golden Norse would drop from their ninth position in the weekly National Junior College Athletic Association football poll out of the top ten."

"I've called 50 schools, conservatively, to try and schedule a game," said athletic coordinator Dr. Boyd Converse. "No one will pay us. If the Norsemen are unable to play in two weeks, speculate that the Golden Norse would drop from their ninth position in the weekly National Junior College Athletic Association football poll out of the top ten."

"I've called 50 schools, conservatively, to try and schedule a game," said athletic coordinator Dr. Boyd Converse. "No one will pay us. If the Norsemen are unable to play in two weeks, speculate that the Golden Norse would drop from their ninth position in the weekly National Junior College Athletic Association football poll out of the top ten."
Wide receiver besieged by injuries

By Dale Watkins

Phillip Collins and Dennis Rehm have something in common. They both grew up in "Little Big Man." Rehm had the benefit of being a star on the football field, but Collins, who attended Tubal Washington High School, has not had quite the same success.

Collins said he plans to attend Western State University in Colorado this fall, where he will major in Communications. He hopes to one day make it to the NFL, but for now he is focusing on his studies and enjoying his time at college.

Rodeo team members place at Western State

Competing against 22 colleges and universities, the rodeo team placed second in the NIRA sanctioned Western Oklahoma Junior College rodeo, last weekend, in Altus.

Approximately 200 contestants participated in the three-day rodeo sanctioned by the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association. The top three winners in each event received prizes as well as a cash prize.

"It was a great show, and we had a lot of fun," said coach Larry Swan.

"The team members are always looking for ways to improve," said coach Larry Swan. "We are constantly working on our skills, and we are always striving to be the best."
The Norsewind – the NEO A&M College Newspaper

Digital copies of The Norsewind, Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College’s student newspaper, are available in .pdf format on the NEO website for non-commercial purposes only. Scans were created using the best available editions through the assistance of the Oklahoma Higher Education Historical Society from microfilmed images. Where stains, color-fading, contributed marks or ripped pages were visible on the original, they also appear in the digital copy. NEO newspaper editions that do not appear on the website are not part of the collection at present. If you would like to donate a missing, damaged or incomplete copy of The Norsewind, please contact the NEO Library.