Regents propose new minimum

Members of the State Regents for Higher Education discussed a proposal last Sunday that would require college students participating in any extracurricular activities, including athletics, to maintain a minimum 2.0 grade point average.

"We have to be on top of this," said Dr. James Reese, president of the University of Oklahoma. "We don't want this to interfere with our academic mission."

Some athletes have tried to get around this new requirement, but the University of Oklahoma has made it clear that they will continue to enforce the new rule.

"We don't want to be seen as a school that condones cheating," said Dr. Reese. "We want our students to be the best they can be, both academically and athletically."

The new rule has been met with mixed reactions from the student body. Some are happy to see the changes, while others are concerned about losing their eligibility to participate in extracurricular activities.

"I think it's a great move," said one student. "It will help us focus on our studies and succeed academically."

"I'm not sure how it will affect me," said another. "I'm not sure how I'll be able to balance my studies and my athletic commitments."

The new rule is expected to go into effect next semester. Students will be required to maintain a 2.0 GPA in order to participate in extracurricular activities.

Dr. Reese also announced that he will be creating a new position to oversee the enforcement of this new rule. The position will be filled by someone who has a strong background in both academics and athletics.

"We need someone who can understand both worlds," said Dr. Reese. "They'll be able to help our students navigate the challenges that come with being a student athlete."

The new rule is expected to have a significant impact on the University of Oklahoma's athletic programs. However, Dr. Reese is confident that the university will be able to adapt and succeed.

"We're committed to excellence in both academics and athletics," said Dr. Reese. "We believe that our students can achieve great things in both areas."

The new rule is expected to go into effect next semester. Students will be required to maintain a 2.0 GPA in order to participate in extracurricular activities.

Dr. Reese also spoke about the importance of leadership in both the academic and athletic communities. He encouraged students to take on leadership roles and make a positive impact on their peers.

"Leadership is key," said Dr. Reese. "We need leaders who can inspire and motivate others."

The University of Oklahoma is committed to providing opportunities for students to become leaders in their communities.

Reese assumes vice president duties

James Reese, interim dean of student affairs, has been named vice president for student affairs by the Board of Trustees.

Reese, a 38-year-old former student of the university, has been a member of the University of Oklahoma's faculty since 1978.

Reese's primary duties will be to oversee the operations of the university's student affairs division, which includes student life, residence life, and campus safety.

Reese's appointment comes as the university faces a number of challenges, including increased enrollment and a tightening budget.

"I'm excited to take on this role," said Reese. "I'm committed to ensuring that our students have a positive experience here at the University of Oklahoma."

Reese's appointment was announced at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees on December 5.

Innocent date could become abusive trap

According to psychologists Mark Barlow Ph.D. at U.C., most of the violent behavior on campus is caused by such "messages" that are taught to our students. While the examples above are specific to one violent behavior, the same behavior is often taught to men and women in a variety of situations.

Brushing off a message as "normal" teaches students that they can do anything they want, as long as they use the least amount of force. The next step is to increase their force until they either get a positive reaction or get arrested. The next step after getting arrested is to increase their force even more until they either get a positive reaction or get brought back to the hospital.

If we don't drastically change our society and the laws that govern it, I fear we will only see more violence on our campuses. It is time to take a stand and stop the violence before it gets worse.

Editorial

Emotional abuse usually takes the form of criticism. Not the constructive kind either. It may also involve frequent verbal attacks that tear down your self-esteem and make you feel worthless. Anyone who makes you feel worthless is not worth wasting any of your time on. If the guy/girl you are dating is abusing you emotionally, chances are he could start to abuse you physically down the road.

If you feel powerless against his actions or feel he is getting away with his behavior, don't tolerate it. Tell someone. Be assertive. If you feel like you can handle it, you should be able to tell someone.

Class time becomes a premium

There is nothing as annoying as sitting in class trying to get something from a lecture, and hardly hearing the instructor. But what if one student would like to hear the information presented in class?

Dr. Crouch assumes reins from Carter

By Donald Bader

Editorial Staff

Dr. Crouch was appointed as college president in July 1989 after serving as vice president for five years. He was selected by the Board of Trustees, which reviewed candidates from throughout the country.

Dr. Crouch began teaching at Thiel College in Pennsylvania in 1969, where he taught history and political science. He later moved to Miami University in Ohio, where he served as a professor and dean for 12 years. In 1991, he was named dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Crouch earned his bachelor's degree in history from Ohio State University in 1973, and his master's and doctoral degrees in political science from the University of Michigan in 1975 and 1980, respectively.

He has served on several boards and committees, including the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, the American College Testing Program, and the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Crouch is married to Mary Crouch and has two children, John and Jane.

Dr. Crouch is known for his commitment to the education of students, and for his ability to lead a large and diverse institution.

He has received numerous awards and recognitions for his work, including the Distinguished Alumnus Award from Miami University in 1995, and the Distinguished Service Award from the University of Michigan in 2000.

The Lady Norse were defeated by the University of Oklahoma at Norman in the final game of the tournament.

Track program stands alone in state

Northeastern A&M has long been the only junior college in Oklahoma with a football team, and now it's the only school with a track program.

Eastern Oklahoma State College, which won the national championship in 1961, announced plans to shut down both programs at the end of the current school year earlier this month.

The decision came as a result of a policy review that is performed periodically and the decision was made after the spending of the dollars spent against the benefits to the campus as a whole, Eastern public relations information director Hank Money said.

The move will make qualifying for the national outdoor track and field championships much more difficult, according to NEO coach Chuck Leon.

The past, NEO did not make it to nationals, but this year, they did not make it to nationals due to the decision of the school.

Norse return home after long trip
during spring break games

By Erule Morgan

After gaining an 11-7 victory in the first game, the Golden Norsemen fell victim to a five run in the seventh inning of a 6-3 loss to Tarasuka Junior College last Saturday in Tarasuka, Texas.

Returning from a two-game road trip with Allen County and Murray State the Norse will host Eastern Oklahoma College in 1 p.m. double-header Saturday. The Norsemen return to the road for a four game road trip next week.

THE WIND-UP

Sophomore right-hander Randall Parks of Roosevelt got set to deliver a pitch against Labette Community College. Parks leads the Norse pitching staff with a 5.0 record.

Day and Gaudy created the opportunity for Shiny to pick up his second win with a double to right-center.

Shiny then scored off of a single to left-center by Berhardt. After Steve Rinehart singled, Charlie Dawson singled scoring Berhardt.

Tarasuka narrowed the gap by picking up four runs in the bottom of the fourth. Two runs singles by Gary Daniels and Doug Smith highlighted the rally.

After walks by Jamesville, John Simon and Henderson loaded the bases. Shiny was hit by a pitch by Steve Thompsons to score Jamesville in the top of the seventh inning.

Singley's double by Scott Latell, Tim Davis and Smith gave Tarasuka a run in the bottom of the seventh.

Sophomore Randall Parks earned his fourth victory in relief help from Heath Pay and Berhardt.

Against Tarasuka in the second game the Norsemen rallied on the first three innings before building a 5-1 lead through seven innings.

Two errors gave Tarasuka the opportunity to go ahead of the Norse in the bottom of the seventh.

Singley reached on a throwing error by Shiny to start the inning. Frank Johnson followed with a double to score Latell.

Davis singled and Gary Daniels walked to fill the bases.

Doug Marr hit a double-play ground ball to Day at shortstop which was thrown to centerfield as all three baserunners scored and Marr wound up at second. Doug Smith's single to right scored Marr for the winning run.

San Jacinto 13-2, Norse 3-5

Freshman right-hander Eugene Atwood pitched a six-inning shutout as the Golden Norse gained a double-header split with San Jacinto Junior College, March 22, losing the first game 13-3 before winning the second 5-2.

Norse 5-7, Lee College 5-6

Snapping a four-game losing streak, Norse swept a double-header over Lee Junior College in Baytown, Texas, March 21.

Sophomore right-hander Gary Haupt tossed a three-hitter as the Golden Norse defeated Lee 7-0 in the first game.

Blinn College 5-7, Norse 6-5

Lightning continued to strike the Golden Norse baseball team as Blinn Junior College swept a double header 7-6 and 7-5 in Brenham, Texas, March 20.

Pamola 6-5, Norse 5-2

Unable to take advantage of numerous scoring opportunities the Golden Norse dropped a double header 6-5 and 5-2 to Panola Junior College, March 19, in Carthage, Texas.

Rose State 10-8, Norse 6-9

Scoring seven runs in the first three innings of the second game, Norse held off a late rally by A state Junior College to gain a 8-9 victory after suffering the first loss of the spring break trip in Midwest City.

"We just couldn't catch a break. We were behind by two runs. Everyone was afraid to jump, afraid to take advantage of our mistakes and score some runs. You're just not going through spells like this and hope they don't last too long."
