Regents approve Equine Center

The Regents have authorized the construction of a new Equine Center.

College administration officials have received approval from the Board of Regents for Oklahoma State University and the A&M-College.

Construction of the Equine Center will begin on the Multi-Purpose Arena project.

The college received the go ahead recently at the monthly meetings in Stillwater.

The approval is to begin advertising for bids at a later date.

In 1986 the idea for the arena project began.

Since then, much of the time has been spent getting together a financial package to fund the construction.

"I apologize for the length of time it has taken to put all of this together," said Dr. Brogan, college president.

"Although the process has taken longer than we had anticipated, we have worked hard to make sure this project is successful," said Dr. Brogan.

The money from the state has been used for the horse barn, the arena itself and the surrounding community.

"I feel that we have worked hard to make it a success," said Dr. Brogan.

The project will be completed and the horse barn will be open to the public by the end of the year."
Celebrity brings attention to infectious AIDS disease

Magic Johnson, one of the greatest basketball players of all time, and announced late last Thursday that he has tested positive for the HIV virus which can lead to the development of AIDS. This news cut deep into many of our hearts. Of all the people in the entire world, we never expected Magic Johnson to contract the AIDS virus.

Editorial

Many people are still in the dark about AIDS and they feel that AIDS can only happen to homosexuals, homosexuals, bookers or dirty poor people. But now we all know differently. In my opinion, I feel that this happened for a reason. I am not saying that I am glad it happened to Magic, but I feel that this will make more people aware of this rapidly growing problem.

Most everyone in the world knows Magic Johnson. He has come to serve as a role model for young people. Now since he has contracted this virus, he will speak out on the subject and try to make young people know that they should practice safe sex.

Unprotected sex is very unsafe and so many people are so naive and think that nothing will ever happen to them. But, in reality, every single day there is something serious that comes from unprotected sex, such as herpes, AIDS, and unwanted pregnancies.

You may think every time you have sex with someone unprotected and nothing happens that you are getting away with something. You are not! And in time you will see that.

Whenever you are involved in any sexual contact please use some sort of protection. You are not doing any favors for anyone but yourself.

Magic had a lot of courage to bring his personal problem out in front of the public. I hope that in some way it has helped or in the near future will help someone avoid the same severe fate.

AIDS is deadly. It has no prejudice. It does not care about your color, age, weight or height. So please, be careful and remember, that safe sex can last a lifetime.

Use the vote correctly

The public has got the idea that Congress is self-perpetuating, and the American people want changes. Both Congress members are not interested in the people's votes. Congress members also know that re-election is in 1988 and as such, they do not care about the people's votes. Congress members believe that their power is above the law and that they can do whatever they want without any consequences.

Congress members are not interested in the people's votes because they believe that their power is above the law and that they can do whatever they want without any consequences.

The people of the United States have lost faith in Congress and the government as a whole. There is a need for changes and reforms so that the government can be held accountable and responsive to the people's needs.

Program develops nannies for nation-wide employment

By Rachel George
Nannie Editor

Nannies have been well known in England much longer than the have been in America," said Dr. Maurice Edwards, head of the college child development program. This is the second year for the nannie program.

"The term nanny is used professionally to designate between babysitter and nurse," said Dr. Edwards.

"Nanny's have full responsibility for raising a child. Within the one year program the students have to know everything about the physical, emotional, intellectual, social growth, and development of the child," Dr. Edwards said.

"They also have to be aware of how the child grows, and what to do if the child is not meeting normal growth expectations," said Dr. Edwards.

Nannies have been employed to assist in the care for the children of wealthy families for many years. The student will be certified through the American Council of Nanny School after they complete the program.

"They must take a test to get certification," said Dr. Edwards.

"Nannies also have the responsibility of picking up the children's toys, books, clothing, and cooking for the child," Dr. Edwards said.

"Not everyone can be a nanny. Someone must want to live well. They must want to relocate and leave families and boyfriends behind," said Dr. Edwards.

"Nannies do not always have to be a woman. Men can also become nannies," said Dr. Edwards.

There is no cut-off for a student to become a nanny. Some families prefer spiritually types, and some prefer younger nannies. Three girls are making an average of $25,000 a week for a live-in job. A girl that is married, and lives away from home might not earn as much," said Dr. Edwards.

Although a nanny may stay with her employer, she needs some time off as well. "They have very good working conditions. They get to live in nice homes in wealthy neighborhoods. Most of their nights are free, and they usually get weekends off," Dr. Edwards said.

Nannies are needed throughout the United States. They are needed on both coasts. There is hardly a problem in finding a good nanny job. There are a lot of ads in papers for nannies. "It is a growing need for nannies," said Dr. Edwards.

Everyone of the girls last year is working in a wealthy situation," said Dr. Edwards.

Gail Lin is working in Greenwich, Conn., Barbra is working in Fort Worth, Tex., Kristin Kramer is working in Kansas City, Mo., Missy Jones is working in Tulsa, and Sherry Wenzel is working in San Antonio, Texas.

"Kristin loves her work. She makes great money, and her employers just redecorated the entire basement for her to live in," Dr. Edwards said.

These girls are all products of the first nannie program last year. This program includes some of the courses in the child development, such as infant and toddler care, nutrition, children's literature, humanities, and swimming.

Applicants need to have an ACT score of 12 or higher. "They must have letters of reference and an interview after filling out the applications." Financial aid is available for the program, and coursework is taken full college credit and may be transferred elsewhere later.

"We are going to be having a book fair on Dec. 5 from noon to 5 p.m. to raise money for the nannie program," said Dr. Edwards.

Language development special part of course

"English as a Second Language" is for international students who need beginning English or continued study of the English language," said Betty Coecky, Spanish and French instructor.

Some students who enter the program have no English background. Some students have had English for a few years. The length of the program depends on the need of the student. "Some come working towards a certificate program. It is a four year program two years and cannot be transferred.

Only English as a second language would apply towards an associate degree," Coecky said.

"The students also work in the reading lab where they are introduced to some of the books and activities. The number of students varies," said Coecky.

This year there was a demonstration from Nicaragua. The program is on a four day curriculum, or a digital curriculum, or a digital curriculum.

This is also through the Agency for International Development, Coecky said.

"These two students are learning English. They have no background in all this," Coecky said.

Participating in the program are Jose Bautista and Jesus Rosario Ponce. They are on a program to perfect printing skills," said Coecky.

"They are already printing in stencils in their home country and have already had a lot of printing skills," Coecky said.

"They were working on a cooperative. They were taught to print and they also instructed others in their own country," Coecky said.

Some of the computer printers instruction are in English. The English language will help them understand and teach students more effectively," said Coecky.

"We have another student named L-J Bautista. She is from Korea, and she is attending public school in Miami. She wants to learn her English skills," Coecky said.

"I think that the program has been very effective, and in advancing the level of achievement," Coecky said.

Sophomore tackle Eric Young scored two touchdowns as NEO finished the regular season with a 31-7 win over the University of Tulsa junior varsity.

Mike Loyd, Norsemen finished the regular season with an 8-4 record and ranked number-one in the nation by the National Junior College Athletics Association.

"We needed a good win at this point in the season and the University of Tulsa's junior varsity gave it to us," said Loyd. Following the release of the final regular season poll Tuesday the Golden Norse received a spot in the seventh annual Mid-America Bowl scheduled for Dec. 7 at Tulsa Union-Tuttle Stadium.

NEO's opponent likely will be either Northwest Mississippi of Seneca or Navarro, Tex. Northwest Mississippi is ranked second, and will get the bid if they post a win Saturday against Mississippi Delta.

If Northeast Missouri loses Saturday, Navarro will probably get the bowl bid.

Young put the Norse on the scoreboard first with a 1-yard touchdown run. Whitting's extra point put NEO ahead 7-0 with 6:30 left in the first quarter.

After a stalled Gales drive, NEO went 44 yards on nine plays to setup a 22-yard field goal by Whitting. In the second quarter, Billy Williams beat the Gale defenders for a 54-yard touchdown reception from Scott Cribbs.

Cribbs accounted for all of NEO's passing yardage. Cribbs, with 899 yards, needs 146 yards to break the NEO all-time single-season passing yardage record.

Jackie Howard currently holds the mark with 844 yards set in 1999.

The Norse defense dominated and always limited the Gale offense to 180 yards rushing and 78 passing.

Junior linebacker Danny Ledbetter had seven solo tackles and 1 assist with one sack.

Brian Hamilton also made six tackles and six assists with two pass deflections.

"Our offense did a good job of taking control and moving people off the ball. Our only problem was that we incurred 185 yards in penalties. We know that we can't make these kinds of mistakes and win a national championship," said Loyd.

The run finished a short play 56-yard drive.

Whitting's extra point put NEO at 31-7.

Whitting's point-after with 2:37 left in the third quarter, NEO school record for the most points in a single season by a player. Whitting's 67 points erased the old record off 66 by Fawty's Mark Ritchey set in 1992.
