By Clark Sherman

With a halting, offensive attack and a tenacious defense, the number one ranked Golden Norsemen of NEO blasted second ranked Topeka (Kansas) in 49-27 at the annual Coca Cola Mid-America Bowl. The Norsemen captured their eighth National Junior College Athletics Association championship.

The Norsemen, under direction of Mike Linda, finished the season 11-0, while the Rangers of Northeast Kansas dropped to 8-3.

"It's a great way for the players to go off with a bang," said Linda. "We worked hard to achieve this goal and they did it."-Vanguard's anonymous writer

"Our offense was in fine form, and we widened the gap," said Linda. "Our defense held strong and we dominated the game."-Vanguard's anonymous writer

The Norsemen scored touchdowns in the first, second, and third quarters to pull away from the Rangers. The Norsemen led 28-7 at halftime, and finished the game with a 49-27 win.

Holiday retains special feeling

December 25 is a special day for many people. Presents are being distributed to one another, Christmas trees are being decorated and lights are lighting up neighborhoods.

This holiday is not only for that purpose, only Christmas is a sentimental occasion for many religious people.

God picked a virgin by the name of Mary to have his Son who would later die on the cross to save us for our sins.

Editorial

He was born in a manger not much better than ours and was buried in a cave. Lord of lords, King of kings.

The three wise men brought him presents of great tidings. The true meaning of Christmas is not waiting for that thing for yourself. It is giving.

Open this holiday, particularly, there will be some lonely, hungry people who would probably be delighted to hear from you. You can do wonders for those especially if no one else is thinking of them.

A gift will save a child from tears when they look under their trees Christmas morning and say the gifts are already full.

This year we call it the Children's Gift Giving Day. It is an exciting thing for someone this holiday.

We are not so old as the spirit of the Christian spirit to stop touching our gifts. When we are praying on Christmas let us remember those who do not have families to feed or clothes to wear. Give gifts that will help others as well.

Butler issues holiday wish to students

Dear Editor:

Well, it's that time of year to be good to those who are less fortunate. Northeastern A&M College, and our wonderful students, look forward to a great spring semester.

First of all, I would like to ask about our football team and our latest national title. It's a little bit of a mystery to me. We won't know for sure until the game is over. But, I'm sure we'll have a great season no matter what.

Sincerely,

John R. Butler, president

The name change is part of the Organization sets recycling can project

Phi Theta Kappa has started a recycling project to help refurbish the Cofman Theater at Miami.

The recycling boxes have been placed in specific locations around the campus.

"We feel this would be a very good way to help support the community," according to Wartman.

Larry Walls, president Phi Theta Kappa.

There has been a problem with the paper being placed in the recycling box rather then aluminum cans," said Walls.

We have picked up the recycling boxes two or three times and have collected 25 to 50 pounds of cans," said Walls.

Phi Theta Kappa has also sent out letters to the parents of every student who lives in the dorm.

"We sent these letters out to the parents to let them know how the program is going along and to encourage them to continue," said Walls.

New emphasis on the college is in recycling in the residence halls and the student government association is planning to introduce a recycling program in the residence halls.

John opportunities in hotels, restaurants, fast food establishments, department stores, nursing homes, specialty shops, interior decoration, the operation of one’s own business will happen to students completing the program.

The courses taken will transfer to major universities to continue work toward an advanced degree.

Editor's Note: This is the final installment of a series of articles discussing the history of the Bill of Rights, which celebrates 200 years of existence as the Constitution of the United States. The Second Amendment to the Bill of Rights states: "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." In 1791, some of America found that the Constitution would create a strong government that would then become a tyranny. That is the reason why this amendment was included in the Bill of Rights. The state militias are at this time seen as a way of protecting the rights of the American people. This amendment does not mean that everyone can own any weapon that they may choose. The courts have interpreted this amendment to limit the government's right to regulate state militias. As a result of these court decisions, the federal government may regulate, or prohibit, the ownership of weapons. This amendment is still a matter of the time the founders had for political and military power. The importance they had in the state's army instead of being a standing professional army. The First Amendment says that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances. HIGH-TECH DOESN'T GET MUCH HIGHER THAN THIS.

Today's Army is high-tech all the way, from the ground up. It is the second tier of systems you can actually learn to operate or repair the equipment that "speaks" to these satellites.

High-tech communications is just one of many advanced fields available for Army training. There are also skills in areas like arm, support, and avionics. Using equipment that utilizes lasers, computers, radar, or sophisticated electronics.

The future belongs to people with high-tech knowledge. And the Army's a great place to get it. To see what you qualify for, contact your local Army Recruiter.

Judging team finishes second

The livestock judging team finished second in the fall semester with a second-place team finish in Kansas City, Mo., and a first place showing in Louisville, Ky.

Second place in the American Royal Contest in Kansas City was a high finish but not enough according to judging coach Jary Douglas.

"As the American Royal we had trouble where each individual made some type of mental mistake in a class that ran enough points to place first," he said.

Only two judges placed in the top 10 in individual standings.

Locust Grove sophomore Clay Naff, placed fourth high individual.

Garfield Griswold, a Miami sophomore, placed first in the beef category for him and in a high overall standing.

The team as a whole placed second in cattle, and reasons while finishing seventh in sheep.

"After the Kansas City showing I took the team back to Texas but we're finding that our attempts to get our priorities back in the right order," Douglas said.

In Louisville, the judges set new contest records.

At the North American International Livestock Exposition, Griswold set a contest record by scoring 394 points out of a possible 400 in the beef judging.

The previous record had stood since 1987. Griswold finished the day with a high overall individual score and first place finish in cattle and reasons.

For the first time standing Griswold received a $1,000 scholarship from Mr. Tims Ready, contest sponsor.

"It will be that Griswold's high score will never be beaten," Douglas commented.

The team broke a previous record in most points scored in the contest, which was set by Denver'sNNC group in 1982.

El Paso, Ill. sophomore, Danna Maloney, finished third high as individual with a second-place finish in reasons, third in cattle, and fourth in sheep.

Sophomore Jannie Holloway of Jay, placed sixth overall with a ninth place showing in reasons and sixth in sheep.

The team placed fifth in sheep, cattle, and reasons plus a fourth place standing in hog.

"Both contests were excellent and we should have won the first as well as the second," Douglas said.

"This makes two nationally sanctioned contests we have placed first plus one second place finish.

"I hate to see a very good team fall to this year and our kids are getting more and more published as we compete in different contests," Douglas said.

According to Douglas, NADA's contest competition for the National FFA/4H Community College in California.

The judges begin their spring season in January with the Arizona National in Phoenix.

Wrestlers conclude fall part of slate

Concluding the wrestling action for the semester, two members of the NEO wrestling squad placed in the ninth annual Hayes Open Sunday in Hoyne, Kan. NEO will take a three week break for Christmas before resuming action Jan. 3-4 with the Golden Norse Open.

Hoyne Open
Sophomore Jimmy Foster of Broken Arrow placed third in the 185 pound division. Foster gained a 3-0 decision over Jon Faulkner of the University of Nebraska-Kearney in the consolation finals.

All American Freshman Harris of Lawton was pinned at 5:45 in the finals of the 142 pound class. Harris finished second after being pinned by Alan Fried of the Alabama State University.

"This tournament was a very good test for us," said NEO coach Alan Lachter. "Even though we didn't do well as a team, this was a good competition as we'll see all year.

An example of the competition came at 187 when freshman Ryan Crawford lost in the second round to the two-time defending NCAA national champion, "Not only did the guy have a lot more experience than Ryan, but he was 27 years old," Lachter said.

NEO 22-Lubbock 16
Against the fourth ranked Cardinals, it was difficult in determining which match had the greatest impact in the contest.

At 197, where Ryan Crawford got a pin to give the Norse the lead for good.

At 187, where Travis King held on for a 6-6, drawing Neo's lead to 29-16.

At heavyweight, where Mickey Carlstrom defeated Eastern New Mexico's Samuel Mack 10-0 to put the wraps on a 27-6 victory.

"I'm not sure what he had to do in order to win." Lachter said. "He did a superb job all day. He was a little bit tired at the end, but he did it.

NEO's other points came from Don Lee at 125, who drew with Brian McState 5-5, and James Harris, who defeated a 9-0 victory over Ken Arnold at 142. Leon Collins, who faced Tim Miller at 175 points, scored a draw, and Reese Ritter, who topped Ryan Karafa 9-6 in their 100 match.

St. Louis Open
Three members of the Norse wrestling team placed in the St. Louis Open tournament held Nov. 16 at Mamaroneck Community College in St. Louis.

All American Freshman Harris, a sophomore from Lawton, won the 142 pound weight class, drawing in a 1-10 victory over Tim Knapp of Eastern Illinois University in the consolation finals.

Harris and Ryan Crawford, who placed third in the 187 pound weight class, at 187 points, tied with a 9-9 over Tim van Amstel of the University of Michigan and 9-9 in the consolation finals.

Foster had to wrestle teammate Dick Lee, a sophomore from Missouri, in order to advance to the consolation finals.

Foster had a lot of experience because he competed in three dual matches and before the St. Louis tournament, so I'd like to see everyone up wrestling 30 matches over the weekend," Lachter said.

"It will be good for us to have a break because we've got some guys that need to get down in weight," said Lachter.

Balanced scoring lifts Norse past Red Devil's

By Jennifer Brule

Mezen Riding School in a week layoff the Golden Norsemen earned an 86-85 victory over Allen County Community College, Monday night in the Red Devil Fieldhouse.

The win improved the Norse to 12-0 in the season while Allen County fell to 17-7. The win completed a two-game sweep of the series after NJO defeated the Red Devils 99-67 in Miami earlier this season.

Coach Lonnie Spencer's Norsemen devoted the full period to fighting off a team from Coffeyville. The Norsemen led Independence, Kan., before the three-week Christmas break.

Four NJO players scored in double figures during the game. Jamiel Foster, of Coffeyville, was the leading scorer with 21 points. Both Kevin Johnson and Robert Hayes added 11 each and freshman center Avelo Lohn contributed 12.

NJO took a 10-point lead over Allen County with a 3-point basket by Foster and a free throw by Sam Brown. It built the Red Devils' lead four times to be 30, but once they did they managed to get to 20 points to take their only lead of the game at 9-8.

Foster led a six and a five throw after being fouled and Johnson completed one point to add 12 to the score and end the game.

NJO started the Red Devils 21-4, 11 over the next eight minutes, but the Norsemen built 16-13, 9-19 with only 2:29 left before the intermission. Foster led the rally with seven points, while Lohn added four and Roberts contributed two baskets of his own.

Lumberjacks led two of the first five points of the second half before they fell in front by 10-9. Foster, Sam Brown, and Foster combined for 10 points to narrow the differences to 21-20 at 11:00 left on the second half.

Both Jonny Johnson and Robert Hayes scored 10 points each, with Johnson adding 10 in the four-point spread to score 20 of the Norsemen's outputs.

Ladies subdue Allen County

By Clark Sherman

The top-ranked and undefeated Lady Norse earned a 76-68 victory over the Allen County Community College Red Devils, Monday night in Independence, Kan.

The Lady Norse defeated Allen County, 70-68, earlier this season in Independence.

The Norsemen raced to Coffeyville tonight for a 6 p.m. match with Coffeyville Community College.

Coach Randy Gipson's Lady Norse conclude the fall portion of the schedule Saturday by traveling to Seminole to compete with Seminole Junior College.

Early baskets by Lewis Harpur and Shannah Parley and a 3-point basket from Sam Brown helped the Norsemen help the Lady Norse jump to a 10-4 lead over Allen County. But their shooting went cold, and the Lady Norse were down 10-4 and 39-37, with only 2:29 left.

Foster took the rally with seven points, while Lohn added four and Roberts contributed two baskets of his own.
