Everyone is invited to join the Native American Student Association at the Spring Pow-wow scheduled for Saturday, April 1. The pow-wow will be located at the north end of the Robertson Field. If it rains, the event will move to the intramural gym. Serving as the host singer for the long-song event is Sunny Waters. Brian Guzman will serve as head dancer and Terri Gonzales will serve as head lady dancer. Guzman is a student at University High School and Gonzales is a student at Miami High School. The arena director will be Ed Ramos. The event will run from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

College establishes enrollment procedures at local high schools

By Cake Dobis

With the spring semester ending and high school students graduating, many students will have an opportunity to enroll without having to come to campus. This is the second year for enrollment changes from the college to the different high schools in Oklahoma, Craig and Delaware Counties. The schools in which enrollment is taking place include: Aiken, Bluejacket, Commerce, Fitchard, Grove, Jay, Miami, Quapaw, Vinita, Welch and Wilson.

NEO wants to make the enrollment process easier for the students. "By taking the enrollment to the students, it makes it easier because their transcripts and ACT scores are already there. We can admit them right at the school," said admissions and enrollment director Dave Parkinson said.

The College Placement Test (CPT) can be given to the students while enrolling them at the high school. "The CPT can be given to the student at the high school and not have to come to campus," said Parkinson.

When at the high schools, the students need to bring their own computer and print out the students' schedules for their right there. Advisers are sent to the schools to enroll students at different departments. One might wonder why a student would want to enroll without visiting first to make sure he or she is enrolled in the right classes. "Those are sent to the schools to enroll students at different departments. One might wonder why a student would want to enroll without visiting first to make sure he or she is enrolled in the right classes. "Those students are from surrounding local high schools, 55 percent have already been enrolled, whether it was for a competition, or sporting event or a campus tour," Parkinson said. The enrollment process is not taken out of the region for the simple reason that the student might not be available for the CPT at the local college. "We don't want to take the enrollment process at the high school and not have the option of the local college," Parkinson said.

In the other hand, looking into the future there are hopes of expanding the enrollment process. "I think that we could eventually go to the high school in the future," Parkinson said.

Another idea would be to send representatives of the local college to the local high schools to set up a schedule. "Every school would want a representative to come to the local high school," Parkinson said. Parkinson is also looking into enrolling local high school students in the local college. "We have some ideas for the local high schools," Parkinson said. Parkinson is also looking into enrolling local high school students in the local college. "I don't know if it will work but I can see it possibly happening in the future," Parkinson said.

According to Parkinson, the college has had a down year in enrollment. "We are not the only college in Oklahoma with a higher enrollment," Parkinson said.

The college is still working to improve its enrollment process. "There are usually at least 15 students who do not stay on campus during the summer and it just isn't feasible in some cases to have them live in the dorms," Parkinson said.

Cost for the apartments will be $300 per person and $500 for a room for 2 semester units in the apartment. Included in the cost is cable and telephone hook-ups.

"Students interested in enrolling in the summer transfer to the fall semester," Parkinson said. "They'll want to stay on campus for a couple of years, they'll want to stay on campus for a couple of years," Parkinson said.
Local health department trying to stop spread of Hepatitis A

By Color Dukes

Editor's note: The following article was written by Susan Hylton and appeared in the March 21 issue of the Minn. News Register.

Due to an epidemic proportion of hepatitis A cases in Ottawa County, local health department workers have introduced a new active survey with local hospitals and health care providers to pinpoint those at risk.

"We're trying to stop it," said Karen Williams, county nurse, of the 42 cases that have been reported in the county since January. The state has 400 cases of hepatitis A during an average year, but 995 cases in 1994.

The survey allows quicker access to the number of cases reported and especially the suspected cases that are still pending. Health officials determine who the potentially infected persons have come in contact with, so they may receive a one-time shot of immune globulin which will help prevent them from getting hepatitis A if given within two weeks of exposure.

"It's 95 to 98 percent effective," said Anita Deshpande, epidemiologist with the Ottawa County Department of Health, who was in Miami last week to assist the Ottawa County Health Department and hospitals.

"It is an illness that is transmitted by a fecal-oral route," she said, unlike other types of hepatitis that are spread through blood and body secretions and not from people that are carriers of the disease that aren't sick.

"This is not a true with hepatitis A. When you have it, you can spread it for a certain period of time (up to a three months) and you're still contagious," she said.

The hallmark symptoms of hepatitis A include a flu-like illness fever, nausea, vomiting, dark urine, light-colored stool, and jaundice (yellowing of the skin). A person with these symptoms should contact a physician immediately, although the symptoms in children are usually not very pronounced.

Unfortunately, since hepatitis A is a viral illness, no antibiotic can be taken to ward off the disease. However, once a person has it, he or she will never come again, she said.

"It's basically something that you have to get over," Deshpande said.

Since hepatitis A affects the liver, it is especially serious for those who already have a history of liver disease.

Lady Norse lose in tourney finals

Before steady rains washed out home games with Crowder College on Wednesday, the Lady Norse were looking forward to facing the Lady Riders after suffering a 7-6 loss in the Missouri IHL Saturday in the final of the Crowder Tournament at Burlington.

Coach Eric Iversen's Lady Norse entered 3-2 on the season and 5-0 in the Bi-State Conference.

Weather permitting the Lady Norse were scheduled to travel to Kansas City, Kan. Monday for a 2 p.m. double-header before returning home Tuesday for a 2 p.m. double-header with Carl Albert.

The Lady Norse are scheduled to visit Wilburton on Thursday for a 2 p.m. double-header with Eastern.

Crowder 7, Lady Norse 6

In four innings of the game, the Norse scored 8 runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to erase a 6-2 deficit. Masyn Bent scored to score Carli Ratliff with the winning run.

Data Carlsen led NEO with a double and single while Smith added two singles.

Lady Norse 8-Northeast Texas 7

A three-run triple by Sherry McCraine carried the Lady Norse to a win in the semifinals of the Crowder Tournament.

McCraine also added an RBI single in the first run of the final inning.

Lady Norse 5-Johnson County 1

Stacy Veale started her hit in seven innings to lead NEO to a 5-1 win in the quarterfinals.

Lady Norse 6-Carl Albert 0

During pool play in the Crowder Tournament last Friday, freshman Diana Hubbard tossed a no-hitter as NEO defeated the Oklahoman.

Hubbard struck out nine of 11 batters she faced.

Lady Norse 5-Johnson County 0

Veale threw one-hitter as the Lady Norse held home twice to gain the shrunken pool play.

Lady Norse 3-Barton County 1

Concluding pool play the Lady Norse received a two-run double by Lady Langford to provide the margin of victory.

Lady Norse 9, St. Gregory's 3

Langford paced the Lady Norse to a double-header sweep of the Lady Crusaders with two singles in each game.

SACRIFICED BUNT

Sophomore leadoff hitter Mandy Edging lay down a perfect bunt that scored two runs. Not only did she move the base runner from first to second, but she also got a base hit on the play.

Edging converted a steal after scoring at second base as a freshman, has collected 21 hits in 62 at bats for a .339 average through 19 games for the Lady Norse. She has also recorded 39 put outs too far.

Golden Norse drop a double-header

Faced pitching the Golden Norse three games in the past week, coach Rick Brolsma's team enters the final month of the regular season.

Aftermath of Mozokian on Thursday for a Bi-State Conference double-header with Crowder College; the Golden Norse were scheduled to host the Norsemen in a 1 p.m. double-header. Newly appointed marketing director of the NCAA and former Norsemen coach Paul Thomas.

The Norse returns home next Thursday to entertain St. Gregory's College in a 1 p.m. double-header.

Following the two losses against Wilburton last Saturday the Golden Norse moved 6-7 on the season and 1-6 in the Bi-State Conference.

Eastern 20-18, Norse 5-8

Traveling to Wilburton last weekend the Norsemen were held to five runs on five hits in a 20-5 loss in the first game.

Eastern scored eight runs in the third inning and eight runs in the fourth to gain the win. NEO scored all five runs in the top of the fifth inning.

Against Eastern in the second game the Norsemen built an 8-4 lead going into the seventh inning only to fall victims of a grand slam tofavby Steve Walker in a 10-8 loss.

Zach Duffield led the Norse with a double and two singles while Todd Kemmer added a home run.

Norse 5-South Valley, Ill. 3

Vestavia centerfielder Eric Schneider made a perfect throw home to nullify the third run scored by South Valley.

South Valley 3-South Valley, Ill. 1

Freshtman leftfielder Cash Christian allowed one run on six hits in seven innings for an 8-1 win over South Valley last Thursday.

South Valley paced the Norse attack with a 4-for-4 performance.

Chromosome improved to 2-1 on the year with five strike outs and four walks.

Des Moines, Iowa 8-Norse 8

After building an 8-6 lead through seven innings, the Golden Norse picking staff surrendered 12 runs in the final two innings as Des Moines (Iowa) Area Community College earned an 18-8 win last Wednesday at the Norseman Field.

Their home run each by Pat Carlin and Shain Leitner provided Des Moines with scoring punch.

We Sweethart paced NEO with three singles while Jason Knoled added a double and single and Gary Stamm two singles.

Norse 7-South Valley, Ill. 3

Scoring four runs in the ninth inning the Golden Norse gained a 7-3 win over South Valley last Tuesday.
