Honesty is always the best policy

By Mindy Fleming

The first step toward greatness is to be honest, says the proverb.
Honesty is not only the first step toward greatness, it is great-ness itself.
It is with honesty, with one example, compared to wealth. Those that have the thing care less about the credit of it than those who do not have it. Honesty is the best policy. No human has ever been known to honor a lie. There is a chemistry in an honest heart which transmutes other things to its own quality according to the book "The Royal Path of Life."

The truth of the phrase "Honesty is the best policy" is upheld by the daily experience of life.
A person should not be honest just to get the positive response, but because he individual feels better for being honest. In the long run, character is better than capital.
The comfort of a clear conscience, a pure mind, rectitude within and without is one of the many rewards of a priceless action.
The possession of the principal of honesty is a matter known to most intimately to the person. The extent and strength of one's own honesty until the temptation has been overcome.
It is a belief that the human desire to eradicate the impression is fatal to many a young man.

Students need more activities to keep them on campus more

By John Colby

When I got to class, sometimes I feel like the school does not care very much about the students. Some of the buildings are falling apart; two of them are not even being used. When I walk into Cunnigham Hall, I see paint chipping away; it is not just Cunningham, I see the same thing in most of the class rooms.
Kaiser Hall and Commons Hall are shut down because of the conditions they are in. Some how the school needs to get more money and renovate the buildings.
That would open up more rooms for students to single room dorms and maybe more computer rooms or places to hang out.
The school needs to have more activities besides clubs. Maybe the campus should have a barbeque for students, after all it looks like spring. When the school does sponsor activities, there is not enough publicity or enough notice of the event.
Maybe there should be dances or more barbecues where students can just socialize.
In the evening, there is not enough things to do. The pool room closes at four; dinner is not even served until four-thirty.
The only place to go after school hours is the library and that gets dull after a while. The school needs to push the state for more funding for student activities or cut programs that no one really cares about.

Fans deserve pat on back for support

When the Lady Norse basketball team played in the Region B Tournament last weekend in Shawnee, more than 50 loyal sup-porters along with the Lady Norse basketball team, made the 175 mile trip.
All three games these fans were not only very vocal, but they showed how knowledgeable they were by giving opposing play-ers a round of applause when they made a good play.
This type of sportspersonship and support is just what our athletic program needs if it is to survive.
The Lady Norse travel to Salina, Kan., next week to compete in the National Junior College Athletic Association National Tournament. Even if you can't make the trip to Salina, take a moment out of your day to wish coach B. J. Smith and his 12 team members good luck.

Just because you're not there physically, doesn't mean you can't lend support just by saying Good Luck.

This college recognizes its responsibility to educate the college community about drug, alcohol, and tobacco abuse.

In meeting this particular responsibility, the college provides not only educational opportunities but also assistance through support services.

Disciplinary actions will be taken against any student found to be possessing, using or distributing drugs or alcohol on the college property or as part of any college activity.

The policy concerning penalties of on-campus use of alcohol, drugs, and tobacco may be found in the Student Handbook.

Students are reminded that local, state, and federal laws provide for a variety of legal sanctions and penalties for the unlawful possession or distribution of illegal drugs or alcohol. These sanctions include, but are not limited to, incarceration and monetary fines.

The consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages and any drug possession which is prohibited be state statute on the campus, in the college housing, or at any event sponsored by or for any student organization or group.

Misconduct in connection with drinking or unauthorized will result in disciplinary action for the student involved.

Smoking is strictly prohibited in the Library, classrooms, and other places where signs are posted.

There are many health risks associated with drug, alcohol and tobacco use. Some of the many risks are listed below:

• Alcohol may produce lack of coordination, confusion, disorientation, sleepiness, anemia, coma, and finally death.

• Even in small amounts alcohol is especially dangerous when combined with tranquilizers, muscle relaxants, sleeping pills, or narcotics.

• Alcohol should not be consumed when taking certain medications. Each individual should check the medication bottle prior to taking or drinking alcohol.

• Students who are in a crisis situation, need personal counseling, or who need information about drug or alcohol related problems may require help by contacting a professional counselor in the counselors office on first floor of Dyer Hall.

Coming within one shot of advancing to the semifinals of the Region II Tournament, the Golden Norsemen lost a 70-69 decision to Centrue State College in a quarterfinal game last week at the Noble Complex on the campus of Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee.

Junior guard Jamar Love got off a shot at the buzzer, but it hit the rim as the Norsemen concluded the season with a 16-14 overall record.

Centrue State lost to eventual Region II champion Northern Oklahoma, 68-66, in a semifinal game. The Northern Mustangs defeated Bacone 59-53 to win the region title.

The Cowboys had wrestled the lead from the Norsemen as freshman guard Junior Blount scored on a short jump shot with just four seconds left in the game.

“Our kids gave everything they had. We couldn’t have played any harder. It was just one of those things where they were fortunate enough to make the shot when they needed it,” said Golden Norse head coach Lonnie Spencer.

When Sherr (Robinson) fouled out with two minutes left and Jamar Love got injured, we wanted to get the ball to either Bryant (Mitchell) or Mike (Van Woedemberg),” said Spencer.

But Comets doubled down on Mike on the outside and Blount couldn’t get open in the middle, so Jamar was left with the shot. We had to take what they gave us and the shot just didn’t go down,” Spencer said.

“You’ve got to give NEO a lot of credit. They did everything they could do to win the game,” said Comets head coach Bill Muse.

During the last 11 minutes of the opening half, the Cowboys built a 10-point lead at 21-11 on six points by Blount, five points by Jamar Amos and four points each by Brandon Terry and Andy Valentine.

Back-to-back 3-point field goals by Van Woedemberg along with baskets by Bruce Jolly, Antonio Anderson and Robinson rallied the Norsemen to a 25-21 lead with 6.99 left until halftime.

Comets received field goals by Amos, Kirby Oliver, Valentine, Mario Davis and Blount to grab a 31-20 lead at halftime.

The two teams battled to a 53-51 draw in the first 10 minutes of the second half.

A 3-point field goal by Jamar Love and baskets by Van Woedemberg and Mitchell propelled the Norsemen to a 65-55 advantage with 8:29 left in the game.

Field goals by Blount, Terry Large, Oliver and Davis along with single free throws by Valentine and Oliver put the Cowboys ahead by a 66-65 score with 53 seconds remaining on the clock.

Two free throw by Mitchell with 13 seconds left gave the Norsemen a one-point lead and sent the game for the frantic finish.

Robinson led the Golden Norsemen with 21 total points while Mitchell contributed 20 points.

The Golden Norsemen connected on 25 of 60, including 7 of 19 from 3-point range, for 41 per cent from the field. The Norse hit 12 of 19 for 63 per cent at the free throw line.

Blount paced the Cowboys with 19 total points while Amos and Valentine added 12 points each.

Centrue State sank 26 of 53, including only 2 of 14 from 3-point area, for 47 per cent from the field. The Cowboys hit 16 of 23 for 70 per cent from the free throw line.

Literally speaking, it was a remarkable game,” said Muse.
